

A JAIL SENTENCE

For Man Who Admitted Having Stolen Two Lanterns

John Couture appeared before Judge Bradley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with illegally removing baggage from the house of Maxime Charland, while the latter had a lien on it for non-payment of board and room. Couture entered a plea of not guilty and after the testimony had been given the court found the defendant not guilty and ordered his discharge.

Charland testified that Couture owed him $4 for one week's board. He was unable to state, however, whether or not Couture had clothes other than those which he wore.

Couture said that he kept one suit of clothes in the back shop where he worked and the only other clothing he had was the suit he wore.

He said that he works for a Mr. Mailleux who keeps a bake shop and that Charland owed Mailleux money and the latter had made an arrangement whereby he was to pay his board to Mr. Mailleux until the above mentioned bill had been settled.

The fact that there was nothing to show that the defendant had removed any baggage left nothing for the court to do but to discharge the man.

Larceny Case
Victor Michel pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with the larceny of $10 in money from Calista Provencher of Tewksbury. Inasmuch as one of the witnesses for the government was not present the case was continued till tomorrow.

Stole Lanterns
John McLaughlin pleaded guilty to the larceny of two lanterns, the property of Royal W. Dix. He pleaded to be fined instead of sentenced to jail, stating that he had a family dependent upon him and would be able to pay the fine Wednesday. The court, however, learned that the lanterns had been placed near a sawmill and a vehicle, and that McLaughlin took them, leaving the place unprotected. He was sentenced to two months in jail.

Present at a Game
Matthew Freley, a young man, who pleaded guilty to being present at a game on the Lord's day, was fined $5.

Couple Arrested
While the police were searching for liquor in a house in Tyler street Saturday night, Daniel W. Ryan and Catherine McDermott were arrested under circumstances that warranted their arrest. The man was fined $15 and the woman $20.

Drunken Offenders
Joseph M. Akorley, who was before the court Saturday morning, was in court again this morning. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail and appealed. Frank R. McNeill, who belongs in Greenville, Vt., called at the police station Saturday night and said that he wanted to be locked up as he was drunk and would like to sober off. This morning in court he pleaded to be allowed to go home and he would shake the dust of Lowell from his shoes. He was fined $6 and not having the necessary amount will spend the next 20 days in jail.

Dennis Kelly, who has no home, has been drinking heavily of late, and Saturday he raised ructions in the house in North Chelmsford where he boards. Officer Vinal was called in and sent him to the police station. He was sentenced to three months in jail.

REV. FR. CAMPEAU, O.M.I.

Passed Away Last Night in a Montreal Hospital

THE LATE REV. JOSEPH CAMPEAU, O. M. I.

Had Been Ill for Several Months — He Accomplished Great Work as Superior of St. Joseph's Parish

A telegram was received in this city last night, announcing the death of Rev. Joseph Campeau, O. M. I., the beloved superior of St. Joseph's parish and pastor of St. Jean Baptiste church, at the Hotel Dieu, Montreal, last evening.

For over a year he had been in poor health, but worked indefatigably until six weeks ago, when he was forced by illness to give up his duties. He went to the springs at St. Clements, Mich., in the hope of regaining his health, but after a short time there was advised by the physicians to return to Montreal and seek the advice of specialists. At Montreal he entered the hospital known as Hotel Dieu, where he died, a victim of Bright's disease. He bore his illness uncomplainingly and realizing the inevitable result he was thoroughly resigned. The remains will arrive in Lowell tomorrow evening and the funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The death of Fr. Campeau is a distinct loss to the community in which he had labored unflinchingly since coming here in 1901. Under his wise administration the large French parish had made wonderful progress, and he was indeed a worthy successor of the late Fr. Garin.

Rev. Joseph Campeau was born in the little town of Neaudreuil, P. Q., in the diocese of Valleyfield, in Nov. 1865, and hence was not quite 44 years of age. His father was a farmer and the family was humble but honest and highly respected. He received his early education at the little college of St. Therese in the town of that name and then entered the Oblate novitiate at Lacine, where he remained one year, after which he went to the Scholasticate of the Order at Ottawa and there pursued his theological studies. He remained five years at Ottawa. In 1886 he took his perpetual vows as a member of the Oblate order and in 1890 was ordained a priest at Ottawa. Immediately after his ordination Fr. Campeau was assigned to Winnipeg, where he remained three years, engaged in missionary work among the whites of that territory. In 1893 he came to Lowell and was appointed pastor of the novitiate in Tewksbury, but was shortly afterward appointed master of novices at the novitiate. It was during his time at Tewksbury that the old novitiate was burned down and he had a great part of the work of directing the construction of the present novitiate. He remained at Tewksbury until the death of the late Fr. Gagnon, O. M. I., in 1901, when he was appointed director of St. Jean Baptiste church to succeed Fr. Gagnon. In 1907 he was appointed superior of St. Joseph's parish, which practically includes the entire French-Catholic community and retained the directorship of St. Jean Baptiste church and this position he held until his death.

Many monuments to the fidelity and perseverance of the French Catholics of Lowell have been erected during the administration of Fr. Campeau. The new parish of St. Mary's of South Lowell and Notre Dame de Lourdes, in connection with which parochial schools have been established and the new and beautiful orphanage in Pawtucket street which has no equal in all New England. Fr. Campeau was instrumental in bringing all of these into existence and he worked early and late, regardless of self in his effort to uplift and promote both the spiritual and temporal interest of his flock. Aside from being a man of rare executive ability and of sound business judgment he was a good and devoted priest. When not engaged with the temporal affairs of his parish he was to be found within the church or in the little chapel of the rectory of the orphanage in prayer. He was amiable at all times and under all circumstances, a thorough gentleman, kind, sympathetic and of most charitable instincts. He was the friend of the poor and the oppressed of spirit but was extremely modest, and hence many a charitable act of his doing went unrecorded in this world.

THAT BEAM HOUSE

Is Likely to Bother the Board of Health

Just as soon as the American Hide and Leather company has perfected its plans for a new beam house the plans will be submitted to the board of health and a hearing on the question of location will be held. It will be remembered that Fourth Vice President C. P. Hall appeared before the board of health on Friday of last week and the board members are disposed to think Mr. Hall was very fair in the matter. He admitted that the old beam house in Howe street had been a menace to public health, but allowed that a new beam house with modern appliances for the elimination of obnoxious odors could be located in the southerly part of Perry street without giving offense.

Persons owning property and living in Perry street or vicinity do not care to take it for granted that a modern beam house would not be offensive and dangerous, and they call attention to the fact that the expert whom the American Hide and Leather company had in testifying in its behalf at a comparatively recent hearing declared that the beam houses in W. Perry street smelled stronger than did the old Perry street beam house, yet he said that the Woburn houses were fitted with modern appliances for the elimination of odors.

The people in Perry street and others believe that some such place as South Lowell would be the proper location for a beam house, and whatever happens it is up to the board of health to locate and so arranged as not to occasion any fraction of the nuisance occasioned by the old beam house in Howe street.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON

Reached New York With Challenge for America's Cup

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—"I have come over this time red hot with another challenge for the New York Yacht club and will do my best to arrange matters with the club so that I can have another chance to lift the American's cup."

So spoke Sir Thomas Lipton today while the big White Star steamship Cedric which brought him from Europe was warping into dock. The Irish yachtsman was accompanied by Colonel Duncan, F. D. Neill and he will be in New York for several days.

Sir Thomas beamed upon the host of reporters that pressed him for his plans to bring about another contest for the historic cup.

"At the present moment I do not care to talk until I have seen the yacht club committee who will have this matter in charge," was all that Sir Thomas would say.

It is believed that Sir Thomas has brought with him a challenge for the cup which he will present to the New York Yacht club if his mission is successful in securing a modification of the racing conditions which cover contests for the America cup. Sir Thomas desires the club to change the present rule so that he can bring over Shamrock IV, built under the rules which will permit the construction of a substantial racing craft. The present rule governing America's cup races provides only for a given water line length and under this condition the racing machine was developed.

Sir Thomas expects to meet members of the New York Yacht club within a day or so.

A BIG LIFEBOAT

Sent for First Time This Year to Aid Schooner

CHATHAM, Oct. 25.—The big power lifeboat of the Monomoy point lifesaving station and one of the few lifeboats of that type in the service was launched today for the first time this year to go to the assistance of a three-masted lumber-laden schooner in distress in Pollock Rip slue.

The schooner was discovered at dawn with distress signals flying but the sea was too rough to permit the launching of the small station boat.

The Monomoy Point's lifeboat was installed about two years ago and went out once last year. She is 34 feet long with a 25 horse power engine. Her model is that of the English type with a high bow, turtle-backed and a cockpit for the engine and crew.

The big boat is housed in a small shed at Luard point, about four miles from the end of Monomoy Point, but well up from the water, so that she can only go overboard at high tide. Fortunately such conditions prevailed within an hour after the schooner had been sighted today.

Acting Keeper Eldridge mustered his crew and shortly after 8 a. m. the boat was run down the ways and a start was made for the outside.

The sea on this point for the past twenty-four hours had been becoming more and more turbulent and at dawn today the big combers were rushing on the back side of the cape in long lines of six-foot billows. No ordinary boat could have withstood such a sea and the lifesavers realized at once that the little surf boat of the station would be hurried ashore in short order.

The schooner could just be seen at anchor about a mile north of Pollock Rip, lightship with the colors in the rigging Union down. Every few minutes she would roll up on top of a big wave and then it could be seen that she had deckload of lumber on board.

It is some months since there has been a vessel in distress on the shoals to such strong conditions.

But the Monomoy point crew with perfect confidence in their new boat started up the engine and were soon scurrying down the calmer waters on the inside of the point and preparing for the ducking which they knew awaited them on the other side.

REVENUE CUTTER ACUSHNET WOODS HOLE, Oct. 25.—The revenue cutter Acushnet, received orders from Boston this forenoon despatching the cutter to the assistance of the lumber-laden schooner in distress. The Acushnet will probably reach the schooner about 12.30 p. m.

A LIVELY WEEK TWO PAINTINGS

N. Y. Mayorality Candidates Kept Busy

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—New York's stirring municipal campaign entered today the definitely prophetic stage and already the managers of the various canvasses for mayorality honors are making predictions in figures.

Starting with the prediction of Republican County Chairman Parsons that Otto T. Bannard, the republican fusion candidate for mayor will be elected by a plurality of at least 12,000, the mathematical pluralities will be forthcoming for both William A. Gaynor, the democratic candidate and William R. Hearst, candidate of the civic alliance.

The confidence thus manifested, however, will not result in any cessation of hard work by any of the parties.

Indeed, this, practically the last week of the campaign, will witness activity almost unprecedented in the history of New York's municipal campaigns, fast and furious as some of them have been.

The candidates for mayor themselves will take the leading parts in the wind-up of the battle. Mr. Gaynor during the next six days is scheduled to make no fewer than seventeen speeches while some fourteen speaking dates have been arranged for Mr. Hearst. Mr. Bannard, however, probably will be the busiest of the trio. His program calls for eight or ten speeches each evening of the week.

Discussion of the charges in a recent magazine article that Bannard has been protecting a wholesale "white slave" traffic with headquarters in this city is expected to play a considerable part in the closing canvass while the former lines of assault upon and defense of that organization's relations to city government will naturally be featured up to the bitter end.

The women's suffrage question has been worked into the campaign although in a way likely to result more in the making of propaganda for the suffragist cause than to work to the advantage of any particular candidate.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant English suffragette, speaks here tonight.

CAVALIER'S HAIR

Mrs. Lina Cavalieri, the grand opera soprano, whom some people call the most famous beauty in the world, has a long article in the New York Sunday American January 17, 1908, in which she says: "With a lifeless condition of the hair I have always found two corresponding conditions of the scalp. The scalp is hot and dry. Also the brushing reveals dandruff—light, fine and profuse. It is a condition that must be removed. First, to remove the dandruff, for the dandruff must be removed. Hair cannot thrive when that fine, light powder lies upon the scalp, obstructing its pores. To rid one's self of it, the hair must be washed, not once, but often. I resolve upon washing it every day for a week."

Here Cavalieri shows she has learned what most women never learn. She washes her hair and scalp often, while women generally do not do so more than once a month. There is just one way to have beautiful hair, and that is to have a healthy scalp, and there is just one way to have a healthy scalp, and that is to keep it clean, soft and supple. Common soaps and shampoos won't do, because they contain too much alkali, and make the hair harsh and dry, and the scalp hot and scaly. Tonics and renewers and invigorators won't do either, because they do not cleanse. Dr. J. H. H. Wash, the popular new scientific preparation, is the best thing in the world for cleansing the hair and scalp.

ANNIVERSARY SALE

SHOWING WONDERFUL GROWTH OF NELSON'S STORE

They are observing their anniversary this week, celebrating the end of their second year of business in Lowell. The growth of this great business has been rapid. Without doubt it has been the most wonderful case of business growth in Lowell's mercantile history.

Starting with a five and ten cent department on the main floor, also using the basement for five and ten cent goods and kitchen furnishings, new departments have been added and the business has so increased until the whole of the immense Colonial building is now used by Nelson. The daylight basement we find devoted to groceries, kitchen goods, crockery, hardware, toys, etc. The main floor is still used as a five and ten cent department. There is an up-to-date fur department also on this floor.

On the second floor is the new dry goods department and it is proving very popular. Only four prices are shown viz: 25c, 45c, 75c, and 95c. It is surprising how many hundreds of articles are shown at these prices. The millinery is found in the second floor annex.

The third floor is crowded with popular priced furniture at cash prices. This new department quickly found favor with the public. It is one of the best appearing floors in the building. The furniture is clean and shining, making a fine appearance. The china and picture departments also occupy a part of this floor.

The 4th floor is used for rugs, draperies, oil cloths and linoleums. Everything in these lines is carried, such as lace curtains, portieres and drapery materials. This makes one of the most attractive floors to visit as it is light and airy. Every visitor is pleased with the floor as it is spacious, comfortable and exceedingly well stocked with goods. Wall papers have just been added to this stock. To celebrate this marvelous growth, Nelson's is offering great bargains from all their departments, making it a veritable anniversary sale.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 25.—An explosion of dynamite wrecked a branch exchange building under construction for the Central Union Telephone company early today. The police say that the explosion was caused by striking employees of the contractors. The loss is $4000. About the same time another explosion destroyed the contractors stable.

The proposed hearing is the result of representations having been made to the board by manufacturers and dealers concerning the applications of the two terms mentioned. Information is desired upon these two points.

PURE FOOD STANDARDS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—To obtain the views of manufacturers and dealers in this and foreign countries regarding the use of the terms "cocoa" and "chocolate" as defined by a circular issued by the department of agriculture entitled "Standards of Purity for Food Products," a hearing will be held at the subject by the board of food and drug inspection here on November 23 next. The proposed hearing is the result of representations having been made to the board by manufacturers and dealers concerning the applications of the two terms mentioned. Information is desired upon these two points.

Don't Be Deceived

On the size and Price of Ranges

Every day we have people who want to exchange their old number "8" range, because they find it too small. And when we call at their house, we find that their range is only a number 7 with an 8 top. Or in other words an 8-18. Eight inch covers with an eighteen inch oven. Now a range like that is worth only one dollar more than a regular number 7. We don't keep that kind of a range in stock. But we can get it for you. But we won't deceive you by leading you to think you are buying a number eight. Every foundry makes five or more grades or sizes of ranges to suit all size kitchens and needs and pocketbooks.

THE IRISH LEAGUE

Ready for Tomorrow Night's Event

The United Irish league held a business meeting in A. O. H. hall last evening and completed arrangements for the big meeting in Associate hall tomorrow evening, when Hon. T. P. O'Connor, M. P., Captain Edward O'Meara Condon and John O'Callaghan, the latter of Boston, will deliver addresses on the Irish cause and the bright prospect of winning home rule in the coming general election.

President Rourke urges every member present to work for the success of the meeting, as the people of Lowell, he said, may never again have an opportunity to hear the great "Tay Pay," the man whose literary work charms every class of people in London. Capt. Condon, the man who offered his life for the old land in Fenian days, and who gave forth the prayer, "God Save Ireland," the dying cry of Allen, Larkin and O'Brien, as they mounted the scaffold, stands on a par with Robert Emmet of imperishable glory in the annals of Ireland.

Rev. Dr. Flynn, O. M. L., made a brief address congratulating the league and the Irish people of Lowell upon the opportunity to hear such distinguished workers for the cause of liberty and humanity. Mr. O'Connor, he said, had endeared himself to the people of England as well as his fellow countrymen.

James McCready gave sketches of the Fenian days in Ireland and told of the bravery of Captain Condon as a young man, richly endowed by Nature and full of patriotic life.

Sub-committees were appointed to carry out the various details of the meeting. The reception committee is as follows: Humphrey O'Sullivan, Patrick Conlon, Rev. John P. O'Brien, J. Gilbride, Edward Cawley, Rev. John F. Flynn, O. M. L., E. J. Gallagher and Michael Rourke.

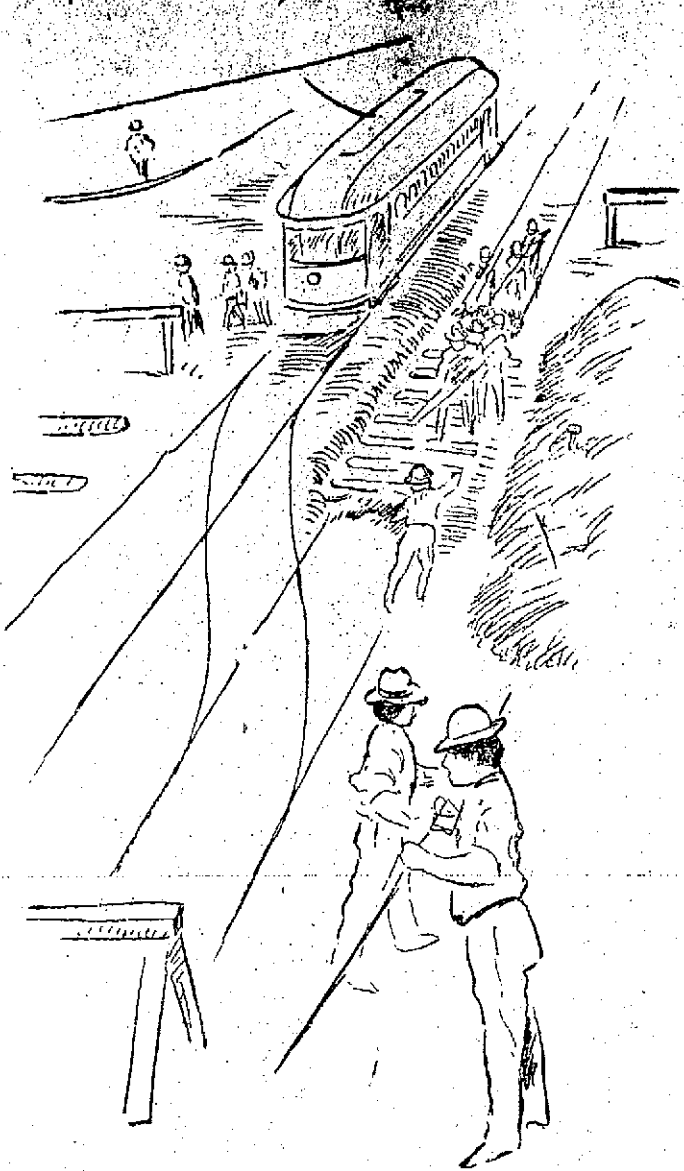

So far as now known Messrs. O'Connor, Condon and O'Callaghan will arrive in Lowell on the 6 o'clock train from Boston, tomorrow afternoon. Tickets for the meeting are for sale at Carter & Sherburne's, Merrimack square.

RACCONIGI, Oct. 25.—Precautionary measures for the safety of Emperor Nicholas will be doubled as he makes the journey homeward, though no real fear of an attack upon the party exists. M. Jawlowsky, the Russian foreign minister, accompanied by Foreign Minister Tittoni, visited the mayor of Racconigi this morning and expressing the satisfaction which he felt over the reception to the emperor asked the mayor to communicate his expression to the people.

BEFORE Y. M. C. A. E. H. CHOQUETTE

Dr. Lyman B. Sperry at Hathaway Theatre

Dr. Lyman B. Sperry lectured at Hathaway's theatre yesterday afternoon. He spoke on "Male and Female, or the Significance of Sex." The meeting was well attended by members and friends of the Young Men's Christian association.

Dr. Sperry talked for more than an hour and there was not a moment that he did not have the undivided attention of his audience. Dr. Sperry said he liked Lowell for many reasons, but especially because he served during the war under the late General Butler. There were brief remarks by Dr. Yarnold, the secretary, and S. H. Thompson, one of the active members of the association.

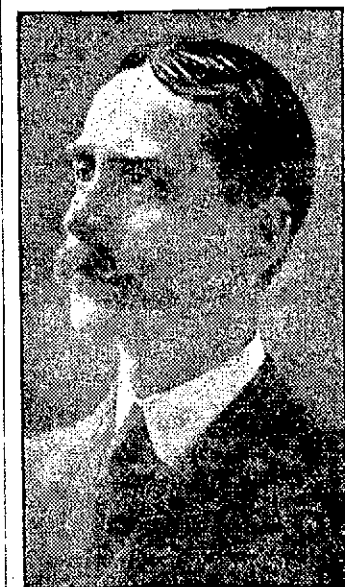

There was music by the association orchestra and Signor Omeria Castellucci of the Banda Roma of Boston, assisted by his brother, contributed to the musical program.

Dr. Sperry will speak tonight at the Y. M. C. A. building. He will talk on Hawaii, Australia and New Zealand.

Leaves Lowell to Reside in New Bedford

Elzear H. Choquette, for many years one of Lowell's best known business men, has purchased the Polsson Clothing Co. in Williams street, New Bedford, and will reside there henceforth. Mr. Choquette left yesterday, and his family will follow as soon as he has had time to select a suitable home.

ELZEAR H. CHOQUETTE.

Mr. Choquette severed his connection with Macartney's Apparel Shop Saturday night, and as he was leaving he was presented a beautiful memento by his fellow employees.

Mr. Choquette had been connected with the store, under its old name of Lowell One Price Clothing Co., for over thirty years. He entered the employ of the firm in 1877, became manager in 1887, and in 1903, part owner with Mr. Knowlton. A few months ago Messrs. Choquette and Knowlton sold out to Mr. Macartney, who gave the store its new name. Mr. Choquette remained as manager.

Mr. Choquette was one of Lowell's leading French-American citizens, and was prominent in all circles. He was for three years a member of the board of charities, giving the city as efficient and conscientious service as it ever received. He was identified as a leader with every large movement or organization tending to the progress of the French-American people, and in 1906 was chairman of the memorable St. John's day celebration of that year. He was the founder and first president of the French-American Federation which grew out of the co-operation of all the French-American societies in this city. He was one of the founders of L'Association Catholique, in whose progress he always took the liveliest interest, and also of the French-American Democratic club of Massachusetts, of which he was the first president; also a trustee of the French-American orphanage and a member of all the leading French-American benevolent and social organizations of the city.

A BIG BALLOON

Mr. Flagg in the Boston Landed Safely

J. Walter Flagg of Worcester, a member of the Worcester Aero club and of the Aero club of New England, who made an ascension in the balloon "Boston" from the yard of the Lowell Gas Light company in School street on Saturday afternoon, landed safely in Andover, near the Reading line, at 4:27 o'clock, after having been in the air an hour.

The landing was an easy and safe one, the big gas bag dropping into a large field.

The air was unusually clear and the clouds fairly high, and Mr. Flagg had an excellent view of the country from Manchester, N. H., to the sea. He expected to make a landing in or near Newburyport, but did not realize until after he had risen to some height that the balloon was traveling in a southeasterly direction. Mr. Charles J. Gidden and Victor Melson, the latter of Fitchburg, who had charge of the filling of the balloon, followed the balloon in an automobile, but did not arrive at the landing place until about 20 minutes after Mr. Flagg had reached the ground. When Mr. Gidden arrived, Mr. Flagg, with the assistance of a number of the Andover students, was at work packing the gas bag.

One of the interesting features in connection with the ascension was the supper which followed the landing. Mrs. A. T. Holt and her sister, both ladies being about 50 years of age, they had read a great deal about balloons, but never before had a chance to see one close to.

Mrs. Holt was one of the first to greet Mr. Flagg and she immediately invited him to supper, informing him that it would be a regular New England baked bean supper.

There will be three ascensions this week, providing the weather conditions are satisfactory. Jay P. Benton will go up on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, shortly after 3 o'clock. This will make nine ascensions for him. On Saturday, with Mr. Flagg, he will make his tenth ascension.

A GREAT VICTORY

Lowell High Defeated the Boston English High Eleven

Ralph Canney, the speedy and heady fullback of the Lowell high school football team, after a series of brilliant rushes, scored a touchdown on the Boston English high school team at Spalding park, Saturday afternoon, and subsequently kicked the goal which resulted in Lowell defeating the visitors by a score of 6 to 0. While the playing of the Lowell team during the present season has placed it in the same class as the teams of Greater Boston, Saturday's victory put it in an enviable position, and the local enthusiasts now feel confident that when Lowell and Lawrence meet in the biggest struggle of the season the latter team will meet with defeat.

The attendance at the game was large owing to the fact that the weather was excellent, more so for the spectators than for the players. A large attendance and enthusiastic rooting for the home team has always been productive of good playing by Lowell, and from now on if the followers of the game will turn out in large numbers and give their encouragement, the players will do the rest.

Very little open work was displayed by Lowell. The visitors did not put up as good a game as was expected, and but for numerous fumbles by Lowell the score would have been much larger.

In the first half Canney kicked off to Boston, the ball going to English's five yard line. Two line plunges netted nothing and Boston was forced to punt. On the first play Donovan gained off 15 yards through tackle. Lowell was penalized five yards for off-side work and Canney made up the distance. English High held forward-downs, and again attempted to plunge through the line. There was nothing doing, and when the ball went around the end on the next play goal tackling by McMahon and Flanders forced English to punt once more.

McMahon caught the punt, but was downed in his tracks. English was penalized five yards for off-side play, and then started the line bucking which brought Canney into prominence.

Canney found the weak points in the opposing team and used unerring judgment throughout. The first play netted the team 20 yards, Canney making a pretty line buck through an opening made by Captain Blower, and on the next play gained 10 yards. Two more plays brought the ball to within striking distance of Boston's goal. Canney walked through the line for touchdowns, after having made seven wonderful gains in succession for a distance of nearly half the field.

Canney kicked the goal and the score was Lowell 6, Boston English 0.

On the kickoff the ball went out of bounds, and Canney kicked again to Duany who ran the ball back 15 yards. English tried the tackle again but was forced to punt after the second down, Canney bringing it back about two yards. Donovan again made a gain of 15 yards, but Lowell was penalized five yards for off-side play on the next attempt to rush the ball. Lowell attempted an onside kick, but the ball fell into the hands of the Boston men and the half ended with the latter in possession of the ball in the center of the field.

Second Half
Canney kicked to English's 15 yard line, Pierce running it back 10 yards. English tried a forward pass for the first time, but it was blocked by Canney, and an English man recovered it. Lowell was penalized 15 yards for holding. English tried a forward pass, but it failed, the ball striking the ground, this meaning a 15 yard loss for English High. Gargan and McMahon started an end run, and the Boston men jumped again. Gargan blocked the punt, but the ball fell into a Boston man's arms, and it was first down for the latter team.

At this point English showed a burst of speed and circled left and right ends for 15 yards apiece. Gargan forced the runner out of bounds on the next play and when English tried a forward pass, Gargan caught the ball.

Canney made five yards, Gargan made the distance, and then Canney went through the line for another 20 yard run. He fumbled the ball, but recovered it. Lowell was penalized because Donovan stepped over a man on the ground, and the referee thought he was hurdlng.

Connell took the opposing team unaware, and Canney punted far over the head of the English quarterback, English getting the ball on his one-yard line.

The visitors punted to Redmond, who fumbled, and a blue man fell on the ball. English gained 10 yards on a forward pass, Canney nailing the runner. The team then lost on the next play and was forced to punt. Donovan caught the ball, fumbled it, and recovered. Leggett went in at Redmond's place, and Canney took McMahon's position at end.

After Canney had punted, and Lowell recovered the ball, it was found that Referee Lupin had blown his whistle because he saw an English High man coming onto the field to take someone's place. The ball was brought back, and although Boston should have been penalized for having 12 men on the field, the play was started from the same place.

Canney punted again, and English was held for downs. Canney made 15 yards on a forward pass and Donovan tumbled the next pass. Bartlett kicked to English, and the game ended with the ball in the possession of English High in their own territory.

The lineup and summary were as follows:

TEXTILE SCHOOL WON
The Lowell Textile school football eleven defeated the Technology Sophomores by a score of 15 to 0, Saturday afternoon at the school campus in Moody street. The game was fast from start to finish and Textile demonstrated the fact that the hard practice indulged in during the week prior to the game resulted in a great improvement in the playing.

The visitors were much heavier than the local team, but the latter showed more speed and better team play.

kickoff, and by straight football carried the leather into Tech's territory. An occasional end run confused their opponents, and in eight minutes after play was started Lowell had scored its first touchdown. From then until the close of the half the ball went up and down the field, with Lowell having a slight advantage.

It was in the second half that Textile outclassed its opponents. After securing the ball on downs the winners worked up the field, slowly but surely, and soon scored their 2d touchdown. On the kickoff for a better position for a goal the ball was dropped. Technology's line showed some strength at this period of the game, and Lowell was obliged to punt twice, but the visitors in turn found Lowell's line too strong to penetrate and punted. Plunge after plunge through center or between the tackles and guards brought the ball close to the goal posts and on a tackle over play Middleton was pushed over for a third touchdown, the last one of the game. Jefferson failed to kick a goal.

From then up to the time the timer's whistle denoted the close of play, both teams played about evenly. The summary:

THE Y. M. C. I. GAME

The local Y. M. C. I. team went to Haverhill Saturday and played their second game in the Massachusetts State league which resulted in a tie. Score Lowell 0, Haverhill 0.

The game was well played and hard fought to the very last minute of play. The final whistle found the ball on Haverhill's five yard line, but Lowell lost the ball on a fumble and Haverhill then punted to the center of the field where the teams were lined up at the finish. Both teams showed much better form than in last week's game, Lowell being strengthened by O'Connor at full back and Johnson, the former Revere High captain, at left tackle while Bourke proved a good addition to the line at right guard. Haverhill showed fine team work as a result of hard practice and made many gains throughout the Lowell line. The Lowell boys made a fine impression with the Haverhill crowd by their clean, open playing. Long runs by Cameron, Favette and others were the features of the game while Shonts, Smith and Tuccaloe showed up brilliantly in the Haverhill lineup. The lineup:

Football Notes

Manager Ed Noonan of the North Ends is out with blood in his eye about the treatment he alleges his team received from the Collinsville team at the game between the two teams last Saturday afternoon in Collinsville.

After arranging the game as he thought with the official manager of the team, he embarked for the burch on Saturday afternoon. Upon arriving at the field in which the game was to be played he found quite a few followers of the team there, but no members of the playing staff. After a few moments of considerable anxiety as to whether or not the game would be played, the expected manager and his mates put in an appearance and the game was started. From the first look of the whistle there was nothing to it but the North Ends and before the first half was over, the boys from the city had pushed the pigskin across the line of their adversaries for a touchdown. When the ball was returned to playing space the manager of the Collinsville team, after having a few moments of consultation with his players, gave the signal and the entire team withdrew from the field, claiming that the Lowell boys were too heavy.

Manager Noonan, however, claims that instead of the Collinsville team being lighter, it was just the opposite, and he issues a deft to the management of the Collinsville team, either to prove that his team is the lighter, or play another game.

The second game in the series of three to be played by the North Ends and the Sanctuary Choir team will be played within the next two weeks.

The first game of the series, which was played one week ago last Saturday, was reckoned to be one of the fastest ever played on the Common, and that is saying a great deal, as in the days when the Silent club was in its glory some of the hardest fought games ever played were tussled for on the same ground.

BALLOON ASCENSION

From the Yard of the Lowell Gas Light Co.

The first of a series of balloon ascensions under the auspices of the Aero club of New England took place Saturday when J. Walter Flagg of Worcester who is qualifying as an aerial pilot, made an ascension from the yard of the Lowell Gas Light company in School street in the balloon "Boston". The ascension, which was under the direction of Charles J. Glidden, assisted by Victor Moisan of Fitchburg, was one of the most successful ever held in this city. The balloon used was the one which was used by Mr. Glidden when he made an ascent from this city a year ago and also the same one used when he went up during the carnival week.

It is necessary for aeronauts in order to qualify as pilots to make ten ascensions, two of which must be alone. The ascension made by Mr. Flagg was the ninth. He will make one more next week and then he will be given a certificate qualifying him as a pilot.

The balloon was filled about three o'clock, but it was 3:27 when the last bag of sand, necessary to give the balloon its buoyancy, was thrown out. The ascent was easy and graceful, the balloon going straight upward. The wing was traveling at a rate of about 20 miles an hour and the course taken was almost directly east, bearing slightly to the south.

As soon as the balloon reached the wind current it rose rapidly and also traveled rapidly with the wind. As soon as Mr. Flagg had waved the red flag, signifying that everything was all right and he had dropped his three trial ropes Mr. Glidden, accompanied by Mr. Moisan and a representative of The Sun started to follow the balloon which landed in Andover.

At the time of going to press the balloon was in Tewksbury and traveling towards Andover.

HUDSON BRIDGE

About to Bar Lowell Electric Car

It has been definitely reported among railroad men that notice may be received at any time to run more Boston & Northern cars over Hudson bridge. This supposed to mean that cars from Lowell will stop in Hudson, and that passengers and probably crews walk across. For some time, Manchester cars have stopped in Hudson and passengers came in with the crews on a Boston & Northern car running for the purpose. Under the new ruling Manchester passengers will also have to walk the 290 yards of bridge. Last winter Hudson installed a wind fender at the east end and tried to have the legislature compel Nashua to have a wind fender on the west end of the bridge. The walk is as cold on a windy day in winter as Dr. Cook ever took. There is an agitation for a new bridge, the present one having been declared unsafe for heavy cars.

A NEW RECORD

Was Made by Coast Defense Guns

WASHINGTON, Oct. 26.—A new record has been established by the new coast defense guns at Fort Hancock, N. J., a report of which has just reached the war department. With 10 inch disappearing rifles the battery there fired four shots a minute at a target 30 feet high and 60 feet long which was being towed by a tug and every shot told. Four shots fired in one minute all struck within a space on the material target exactly 21 feet by 53 feet. This record has never before been approached by the coast artillery.

No heavy gun battery above six inch in calibre has attained the speed in firing or the hits per minute made in this practice. The distance at which the record was made was more than 7000 yards or about four miles. The eighteen company coast artillery corps is credited with this new mark in gunnery. The company is ordinarily stationed at Fort Schuyler, N. Y., and at the time of the shooting was under command of Captain Charles L. Fisher.

WHITE GIRL IS BRIDE OF CHINESE AMAN

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Yee Fat Wah, a prosperous young Chinese merchant, and Miss Mabel Williams, 21 years old, who has lived at 2 Union park street, South End, were married Saturday night.

Last night in their apartments on the top floor of 10 Oxford place, the couple entertained their friends in a most stylish style. The white wives of Chinatown and their husbands shuffled through the rooms and welcomed to the colony the young bride, who is a pretty blonde girl from New York.

A joss, the particular shining god of the house of Yee, was surrounded by burning tapers and roasted meats and were spread on the tables in front of him.

Mrs. Wah was born in New York city, the daughter of Frank W. and Hattie King Williams of Orange, N. J., both of whom are dead. Her husband was born in San Francisco 25 years ago. His parents are well-to-do in Hong Kong.

KING AND EMPEROR

Visited the Medieval Castle at Pollenzo

RACCONIGI, Oct. 25.—King Victor Emmanuel and his royal guest, the Emperor of Russia, spent most of Sunday together. The emperor, after his long journey and the triumphs of Saturday, retired early Saturday night, so that he might be on hand at a seasonable hour for a pheasant shoot, which had been arranged for Sunday morning. But fog caused a postponement of this sport until this afternoon. Instead of shooting, the king and the emperor took a motor trip, entirely unaccompanied, to the medieval castle at Pollenzo, seventeen miles distant, entering it through the ancient drawbridge guarded by towers.

In the meantime, Queen Helena, to whom the emperor presented his congratulations on the 15th anniversary of her marriage, attended mass at the chapel, which was celebrated by an archpriest, who wore a cope made out of her wedding dress of silver scales.

In the afternoon the two sovereigns joined the shooting party, which was accompanied by several hundred beaters. Pheasants and hares were abundant and the bag was excellent.

A state dinner in the evening was the principal event of the day. Besides the sovereigns, the guests included the Duke of the Abruzzi, the Duchess of Genoa, Princess Letia, Prince Udine, the members of the Italian cabinet and other high Italian and Russian officials. King Victor Emmanuel, in toasting the emperor, extended his heartiest greetings to the Russian sovereign, saying that his visit confirmed the close friendship and harmony uniting the houses of the two countries. His majesty recalled the fine work of the Russian sailors at the time of the earthquake in southern Italy, which could not but contribute to a warmer friendship between the two peoples. He thanked the emperor for his visit and expressed great regret at the absence of the emperor, for whose good health he offered a fervid wish. He ended by drinking to the imperial family and the greatness and prosperity of Russia.

Emperor Nicholas, in reply, said that he was touched by the cordiality of his reception. In his visiting the beautiful country he had realized a wish dear to his heart, and he only regretted that the condition of his health had prevented the emperor from coming with him. The manner in which he had been received in Italy, he said, was characteristic of the Italian people, whose interests are in common with those of Russia, while the participation of Russia in the worldwide sympathy for Italy in her recent misfortune, and the Russians had done, were eloquent proofs of the ever growing regard between the two nations.

The emperor expressed confidence that the Italian and Russian governments would labor efficaciously to cultivate this sympathetic bond, which would not only lead to an agreement in their reciprocal interests, but also to their general peace. He said that it was especially agreeable to him to be in Italy on the anniversary of the wedding of the Italian sovereigns, and he ended by toasting the Italian royal family and the greatness of the beautiful country whose hospitality he enjoyed.

During the dinner the band played Russian and Italian airs, and after this the king and emperor were present at a concert conducted by Mascagni.

U. S. STEEL CO. TO HELP POOR

To Buy Up Breweries Teeth to be Filled for is Report 10 Cents

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—The United States Steel Corporation has decided to make an effort to control the drink habit of 25,000 persons in Fayette county, Pa., interested in the manufacture of coke, and will invest $10,000,000 in the project to obtain possession of the nine breweries now running in the county.

While the effort being made to merge these breweries is being conducted in the name of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company, it is understood that the Steel Corporation is back of the whole move and will try to regulate the drinking of the foreigner, it being figured that at least 3 per cent. better returns can be gleaned on the millions invested there by regulating the drink of the coke worker, permitting him to drink, but stipulating where and when he shall drink.

The sale of beer by the keg or by the barrel to the coke worker is what the corporation objects to, and this it will try to remedy.

For more than a year figures have been gathered on drinking among the coke workers, and it is found that for 72 hours after each pay day the coke workers do not run more than two-thirds capacity, and there is scarcely a day when hundreds of tons of coke are not ruined by inability to get proper men to care for it in the ovens.

YOUR BACKACHE WILL YIELD

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rockland, Maine.—"I was troubled for a long time with pains in my back and side, and was miserable in every way. I doctored until I was discouraged, and thought I should never get well. I read a testimonial about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and thought I would try it. After taking three bottles I was cured, and never felt so well in all my life. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all my friends."—Mrs. Will Younce, 6 Columbia Avenue, Rockland, Me.

Backache is a symptom of female weakness or derangement. If you have backache, do not neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so safely and surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Cure the cause of these distressing aches and pains and you will become well and strong.

The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has restored health to thousands of women.

We never publish a testimonial without the special permission of the writer, and then only when we are sure it is genuine. Such testimony should create confidence in all suffering women.

T. P. O'CONNOR

Met Archbishop O'Connell Yesterday

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Hon. T. P. O'Connor, M. P., the Irish envoy who is in Boston in the interest of the United Irish league to raise funds to support the Irish parliamentary movement, was kept on the jump yesterday. He also saw some of the wonderful changes in local scenery that have taken place since his first visit to Boston 29 years ago.

Shortly after breakfast at Hotel Lenox he was visited by leaders in the movement, including the national president, Mr. J. Ryan of Philadelphia, Mr. J. Jordan, M. P. Curran, M. P. Crehan, Matthew J. Crehan, Dr. T. J. Dillon and Capt. E. O. Condon. The party attended high mass at the cathedral.

As the party approached the cathedral, driving away, but the priest returned, having recognized Mr. O'Connor in the crowd, and he went to the rectory, where a greeting was extended to both Mr. O'Connor and Pres. Ryan of the U. I. L.

The archbishop made a brief address in which he declared his entire support of Ireland and the Irish parliamentary movement. In fact, he said it had his full and cordial support.

He regretted very much his inability to attend the meeting at Tremont temple tonight, owing to a previous engagement, and intimated that he would remember the cause in a substantial way. Those present were deeply touched by the warmth of the archbishop's expression of good feeling and said it acquired much for the success of the movement in this city and tonight's meeting.

Father Never Had Seen the Boy

DARBY, Pa., Oct. 22.—Through marked resemblance in feature and mannerisms two men, who had never seen each other before, learned that they are father and son. An affectionate greeting at a hotel in Darby followed the chance meeting.

Both men were in the cafe when they were struck by the similarity in their appearance.

"Where are you from?" said the older man, who is 50 years old.

"Roanoke, Virginia," said the other, who is 25 years old.

"Hi, I left there 25 years ago," said the older man. "What is your name?"

"Daniel Roberts."

"Why, that's my name, also. Who was your mother?"

The latter told him, and the older man clasped him by the hand, saying he was his father. He left Roanoke before the boy was born, he said, and after writing home heard his wife was dead. He remained north, never thinking that a son was born.

PROMINENT MEN

To Make Trip on the Mississippi

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 25.—Governors, senators, congressmen and foreign diplomats arrived yesterday and last night to board steamboats to make the trip on the Mississippi river to New Orleans to attend the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways association's convention. The arrivals are guests of the Business Men's league of St. Louis. The first boats to depart for New Orleans, where the convention will open on Oct. 30, were four torpedo boats which have been here since Oct. 1. They got away early yesterday and will await the fleet carrying the deep waterway delegates at Memphis.

The Oleander, the government light house tender on which President Taft will travel, was made a floating White House yesterday. Everything the president will need after he embarks this evening for a four and a half days' trip was placed on board yesterday.

To avoid any possible friction, W. K. Kavanaugh, president of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways association, announced last night that the steamer St. Paul, carrying the governors, will have the place of honor next to the Oleander from St. Louis to Helena, Ark., while the Quincy, carrying senators and congressmen, will take the St. Paul's place in the column.

On the congressional boat a legislative hall was installed so that Speaker Cannon can hold mock sessions of congress. Speaker Cannon arrived at East St. Louis last night. He will remain there until he crosses the river with President Taft today. He and Vice President Sherman, who will arrive today, will be the guests of honor at the exercises dedicatory of the new federal building in East St. Louis.

Among the surprises arranged for the waterway delegates on the trip will be a daily paper printed on one of the newspaper boats. A fast launch will be used by the reporters in gathering the news from the fleet of 23 boats.

MRS. PANKHURST

Given Great Reception in New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A reception very like that given a distinguished general as he takes a moment's respite in a prolonged campaign, was given Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the little field marshal of the militant suffragettes of England at the headquarters of the national and state women's suffrage associations on Fifth avenue yesterday. Five hundred women and a sprinkling of men crowded the rooms, shook hands with her and heard her speak briefly in response to America's welcome afterward. She was introduced individually to all by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Association of Women Suffragists assisted by Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont and other leaders of the movement in America.

"Our English motto," said Mrs. Pankhurst, "is deeds not words. We are doers—I am a doer rather than a talker."

Mrs. Pankhurst denied a statement attributed to her that "American women are not ready for the franchise."

"I never said nor thought such a thing," she said, "and I am frank to say that I believe of all women, except the English and New Zealanders, American women are best prepared for suffrage. In fact American women are just as fit to vote as American men."

Mrs. Pankhurst will speak tonight at Carnegie hall on "Militant Suffragette Methods."

RUFUS PECKHAM

Associate Justice of Court is Dead

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Rufus W. Peckham, associate justice of the United States supreme court, died at 8:15 last night at Coolmore, his summer home at Allamont, Albany county. Death was due to a complication of diseases, heart trouble, Bright's disease and hardening of the arteries contributing. Justice Peckham had been in ill health for some time, but his condition was not considered serious until recently. After adjournment of the May term of the court he came on from Washington with Mrs. Peckham to spend the summer at Allamont, expecting to return for the beginning of the October term. A few days ago his condition became critical.

Justice Peckham was born in Albany Nov. 5, 1835. At the completion of his education at the Albany academy and Philadelphia, he studied law in the office of his father, who had as his law partner at the time Lyman Tremaine, attorney general of the state. On the elevation of his father to the supreme court bench of New York state in 1859, the same year Justice Peckham was admitted to the bar, he formed a partnership with his father's former partner, under the firm name of Tremaine & Peckham, which continued until the death of Mr. Tremaine, in 1875.

Justice Peckham had been district attorney of Albany county, corporation counsel for Albany, justice of the supreme court of the state and, to which he was elected in 1888. In December, 1888, while still a judge of the court of appeals he was appointed by the late President Cleveland as an assistant justice of the supreme court of the United States.

Justice Peckham was married in 1856 to Harriette M. Arnold, daughter of H. H. Arnold, who was a well-known New York merchant and president of the Mercantile bank of New York. Two sons, Rufus W. Jr. and Henry A., died some years ago. Justice Peckham is survived by a widow and three grandchildren, two sons and a daughter of Henry A. Peckham.

Justice Peckham's father was a distinguished jurist and had been district attorney of Albany county, justice of the supreme court of New York, and was an associate judge of the court of appeals of New York, when he met death in the shipwreck of the Ville Du Havre, Nov. 23, 1873.

FIVE MENTIONED

TO SUCCEED THE LATE JUSTICE PECKHAM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—While none of the officials now here would discuss last night the possible successors of Justice Peckham, each declaring that it would be a violation of the proprieties, the names of Frederick N. Judson of St. Louis, ex-Secretary of War Luke E. Wright, the present secretary, J. M. Dickinson, Henry M. Hoyt, counselor for the state department, and solicitor general in the Roosevelt administration, and Solicitor General Bowers, have been prominently mentioned.

Mr. Judson is known to command the respect and true friendship of President Taft. He was appointed by President Roosevelt to investigate the question of rebates on the Atchafalaya and Santa Fe railroad, with the present governor of Ohio, Judson Harmon. The findings and recommendations of the two investigators did not meet with the complete approval of President Roosevelt and the two men resigned.

Shortly before the opening of the campaign last year, Mr. Judson wrote a magazine article explaining and applauding Mr. Taft's decisions in labor cases during the time the president was on the bench. Mr. Judson is a democrat.

Counselor Hoyt, ex-Secretary Wright, Secretary Dickinson and Solicitor General Bowers have been mentioned whenever the report has arisen concerning the probable retirement of certain of the justices who are entitled to honorable withdrawal from active duty.

Three of the men owe their entrance into public life to President Taft, while he has frequently voiced his admiration of Mr. Hoyt's legal acumen. Although there is no rule to govern the appointment, the vacancy on the bench

REVOLUTIONISTS

Said to Have Won Decisive Victory

BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, Oct. 25.—By wireless telegraph via Colon.—The tug Blanca, which has arrived here from Greytown, brings news of the first important battle of the revolution. General Chamorro's forces fought an engagement on Friday with 1000 of President Zelaya's troops, at a point below Boca San Carlos, on the San Juan river. The revolutionists won a decisive victory, one hundred of the government troops being killed and 500 wounded. General Chamorro's losses were slight. The insurgents captured two Krupp siege guns and four hundred rifles.

This defeat for President Zelaya will doubtless have a deterrent effect on recruiting for the government army at Managua, and is likely also to bring additional reinforcements to the standards of the insurgents.

The steamer Yula, belonging to the Emery Co., also has reached here with the details of the capture of the revolutionists of Cape Gracias Dios. This port was easily taken, not more than five or six men being killed and a small number wounded. This gives the revolutionists control of the entire Atlantic coast.

INDIFFERENT CITIZENS TO BLAME

With the approach of the municipal primaries and in view of the number of candidates, good, bad and indifferent, for the mayoralty and other offices, it may be well even at this early day to warn the voters that, unless they get out to the primaries they may not have an opportunity of voting for the men they want on election day.

One of the most pernicious things that we have to deal with in municipal politics is not graft or dishonesty, or political chicanery, but downright indifference on the part of those citizens who consider themselves the very conservators of all that is good and honest.

They actually consider themselves too good to attend the primaries. They think it is sufficient for them to cast their votes on election day. This is one of the years in which if they fail to attend the primaries they may as well stay at home on election day.

Some people say that there are too many candidates in the field, that things will be completely spoiled. It is true there is a great superfluity of candidates, but it is the duty of the voter to inquire into the character and the capability of each and every one of these candidates and to use good judgment in picking out the man who is best qualified and most likely to give a good business administration of our affairs at city hall.

It is time that citizens should exercise their judgment and not be swayed by political shysters who are probably paid for going about to laud one candidate and to decry the other candidates.

There is a good deal of house to house canvassing in this campaign for the mayoralty. The candidates are buttonholing the voters and getting them to make promises of support at the primaries. In this way voters may be imposed upon by making early promises and finding out later that they are pledged to support the wrong man.

If the voters would only turn out in full numbers at the primaries and exercise their best judgment in the selection of a candidate for every office to be filled, then we should have satisfactory results. We have full confidence in the ability and the honesty of the people if they only turn out at the primaries to register their votes according to their conviction of right and duty.

The great trouble is that not more than half the voters take an active interest in the primaries. The cause is evidently indifference on the part of a large portion of the most intelligent citizens. These are the men to be blamed for the nomination of weak candidates. The men who are buttonholing on the street, or who are promised jobs if they support this or that candidate, are the men who make the nominations, and the other citizens who consider themselves models of patriotism and integrity by their indifference make such a state of affairs possible. The question comes, will they stick to the old habit this year, or will they come out to the primaries and at least exercise their judgment in the selection of candidates for the offices of mayor, alderman, purchasing agent and other officials?

There seems to be greater need of vigilance this year than ever before. Our municipal politics need complete renovation, as it were. The citizens are responsible for every official elected. Unless they exercise vigilance and use their votes and their influence in the primaries in the interest of the right men they are likely to regret their negligence for the next year.

THE MOTOR TO SUPERSEDE THE FIRE HORSE.

The fire departments of the country are in a state of transition from the use of horse power to that of motor power for drawing the engines and trucks. There can be no doubt whatever that the fire automobile is very much more efficient than the old style engine drawn by two or three horses. The horses must be fed and men must be employed to take care of them continually.

When taken out in response to an alarm the horses cannot make nearly as good speed as would the fire auto. When this is considered in its relation to the importance of getting to the fire in the shortest possible time, the advantage of the fire auto will be apparent. Firemen and insurance men who have had experience in such matters will testify that even five minutes may give a fire such headway that it will develop into a conflagration in spite of all the subsequent efforts of the fire department. That shows the inestimable value of speed in getting to a fire, and it argues most forcibly in favor of the gradual change of the present apparatus for motor engines, hose and other wagons. Thus it appears that the fire auto has an advantage over the fire machines drawn by horses, not only in the increased speed but in the great prevention of loss that such speed can accomplish.

It is, therefore, a wise policy to have fire motor machines supplant the horse power apparatus as soon as possible or as soon as the city can afford the expense. With a sufficient number of motor engines and other motor apparatus there would be not only an increase in speed and a diminution of loss from fire but a great reduction in the expense of the department. Fewer stations would be needed and fewer men to take care of them. The fire autos are fifty per cent. more efficient than the horse apparatus and twenty-five per cent. less expensive. Under such conditions it is plainly the duty of the fire department to make the change as soon as practicable, so that we may have a fire department that will reach the scene of the fire in the shortest possible time and that will be conducted on the most economic lines which forbid the maintenance of horses except in rare cases. The time to make the change is at hand and we can safely act upon the experience of other cities that have fully tested the merits and the expense of both systems. Every new fire auto added to the equipment of the fire department would be a step towards economy and greater efficiency, the two chief considerations in every up-to-date fire department.

PEOPLE'S NOTE

Thomas Jefferson made his first appearance in vaudeville at the Majestic Theatre in Chicago recently in a condensed version of "Rip Van Winkle."

The chief rabbi of the German Jews at Constantinople, Samuel Salant, died recently at the age of 85. He had been blind since 1885, but his activity had not been diminished.

Charles L. Mitchell, who for forty-four years has been in the United States government's service, employed in the auditor's department at the Boston Custom House, has retired from service. The retirement was entirely voluntary on the part of Mr. Mitchell, who has now reached the age of four score years. He is a Civil War veteran, earning honors in the Rebellion in the Fifty-fifth Massachusetts Volunteers in which he enlisted. In the battle of Honey Hill a cannon ball so crushed Mr. Mitchell's foot as to make amputation necessary. Mr. Mitchell and his wife live in Sherwood street, Dorchester.

Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, well past 80 years of age, president of the Grand Trunk railway system, is to resign, and it is expected that G. M. Hays, formerly identified with railroads in the United States, will succeed him. Mr. Hays was made manager of the Grand Trunk when its future seemed doubtful. He conceived the idea of extending it to the Pacific coast at Prince Rupert and Vancouver, and his persistence has resulted in such construction. He became vice president of the Grand Trunk system and president of the Grand Trunk Pacific, as the coast extension is known.

"This story from Gallata," says the Paris Matin, "sounds like an echo from the Dark Ages." At Leskowozze, a village near Hasiutai, a peasant committed suicide by hanging. This occurred while the district was suffering because of severe drought, and the relief fund, which had been organized, was withheld, the peasants' wrath, because of the suicide. In the presence of the village government the citizens resolved to exhume the body and to drown it and by that means bring about the much desired rain. The grave was then uncovered and flooded. Higher authorities, however, informed of the heathenish procedure, with the result that three-quarters of the village population will now have to answer to charges founded on the desecration of the grave.

There is now a school for waiters at the University of Chicago. Forty young men who combine a deep knowledge of psychology and ethics with a gift for breaking dishes and spilling soup on professors were being taught the gentle art of serving food in an ultra-cultured manner at Hutchinson Hall, the university commons. The laboratory method has been chosen to start the new college. Actual experience three times a day will fit the Midway youths for any agency that may arise after the completion of their education. Thomas L. Barrell, manager of the commons, is dean of the latest university department. Barrell's venture was launched not without considerable time and pains, and a booklet containing elaborate instructions for the perfect waiter, even down to the left-over butter, has been issued.

EDUCATION

If you keep your eyes wide open, as you wander on through life, You learn a little something every day. If you're fortunately married to the right kind of a wife, You learn a little something every day. If a dear friend borrows money and doesn't pay it back, If the horse you didn't bet on is a winner on the track, If you try to get rich quickly, and you haven't got the knack, You learn a little something every day. If you trust the casual stranger, and tell him all you know, You learn a little something every day. If you think because you hear things that they surely must be so, You learn a little something every day. If you try to tell a story with no thought of being brief, If you're sure your friends will help you, if you chance to come to grief, If you think they all will rush to be the first to bring relief, You learn a little something every day. If you're just a bit conceited and you think that you are it, You learn a little something every day. If you try to be a leader, and you don't know when to quit, You learn a little something every day. In short, your bumps may teach you, and they will, if you are wise. And, if you'll pay attention when friendly folks advise, Or just try introspection, and learn to use your eyes, You'll learn a little something every day.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE The dramatic intensity of the third act of "The House of a Thousand Candles" is almost without parallel in modern plays. Its tempestuous scenes occurring in the midst of hurricane winds and the wildest of hurricanes, a climax that simply means curtain call after curtain call. "The House of a Thousand Candles" which will be given at the Opera House this evening is a drama that unfolds a story of rare stage characters in equally rare surroundings. There is a stamp of novelty on each scene and incident. Its weirdness simply compels attention, while its mystery lightened by laughter is of that kind that has served to carry the production to the topmost wave of success. Its presentation will be marked with every care to detail as each of the four acts will be mounted with the same care and industry. William Webb and Horstense Clement is said to be fully capable of handling the exacting scenes in a most satisfactory manner.

"THE WHITE SQUAW" D. M. Clarke, in writing "The White Squaw," which will be presented at the Opera House on Friday and Saturday, has endeavored to give the public something new and worth while. The interest starts at the beginning and does not drop until the end. The comedy is woven through the play and is a part of the plot of horror may just to fill in. Don't miss the chance of having a real hearty laugh, and just a little tear by way of variation.

"ST. ELMO" Nearly everyone has read "St. Elmo." Mrs. Augustus V. Hildreth's delightful novel, and beginning with Monday, Nov. 1st, two performances at the Opera House will be given Vaughan Glaser's production of this famous and very successful work. Nothing has been left undone to make this one of the real attractions of the season, which, together for opportunity for scenic display and histrionic ability, both of which opportunities have been taken to the utmost advantage of, the probabilities are that "St. Elmo" will win new laurels here.

HATHAWAY THEATRE Miss Beatrice Ingram and an excellent company will appear at the Hathaway Theatre at Hildreth's theatre, this week. The vitally interesting one-act play called "The Duchess" is the offering of Miss Ingram and her associates, and it tells the engaging story of a girl cashier in a big department store who is given a sum of money with which to pay a bill. As the place is closed, she carries the money home, and the next morning receives a letter stating that she has been left a million dollars. Her rejoicing is interrupted by the appearance of the store detective, who demands that she go to headquarters and account for the money given to her, part of which she has spent. She tells him that she is an heiress, but collapses in dismay when he informs her that it was only an April fool joke. But everything ends well, even after that.

Burt Sheppard, an Australian cowboy and whip manipulator, is scheduled to give one of his hair raising exhibitions. Picking hairpins from a woman's hair and snuffing out candles are two of his feats. Gieger and Walters, Italian musicians, present the life of a street organ grinder and his wife. Mr. Gieger is an excellent violinist. The Fortune brothers, comedy acrobats, are good athletes. Swan and O'Day are a gifted pair of blackface comedians. One of the team is a remarkable road dancer. Moore and Young, a duo of magnetic males, sing and dance agreeably. Miss Helen Plummer, who headed a stock company at Lakeview a year ago, will appear in the bright playlet, "The Old and the Young." The motion pictures are all new.

STAR THEATRE

Vaudeville of unusual excellence was presented today at the Star theatre in conjunction with the big regular show. The admission of five cents, which includes a seat, still prevails at the theatre. Pictures are changed every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. New vaudeville any songs are the offerings every Thursday.

THEATRE VOYONS

There is perhaps no more popular type of picture shown the motion picture patrons than those dealing with western life, and the most attractive features are the sensational chases and riding of the cowboy and Indian actors. In "The Cowboy Millionaire," to be shown today at the Theatre Voyons this style of picture is shown at its best. There are other pictures on the bill, all good, and the usual new illustrated songs are well sung.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

When competition becomes strong then the man who spends the money gets the benefit. This is true of theatres as well as other lines of business, and the show that defies all competition is to be found at the Academy of Music. Handling the vaudeville for the first three days are "Beautin and Tison" in the musical farinard. Kipp and Kipp present a comedy juggling act that is very amusing. New illustrated songs, Travelletto, and three reels of the latest moving pictures complete the program.

CREW RESCUED

Capt. Was Three Times Washed From Wreck

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—After having spent the entire night clinging to the bottom of the overturned schooner Scarborough, Capt. William H. Reynolds and the two members of his crew were brought into this port today on board the steamer Admiral Dewey, from Port Antonio. Captain Reynolds three times during the night was washed from the wreck of his vessel, and it was only with the greatest difficulty that his companions succeeded in getting him back to her. When he was rescued yesterday morning he was badly bruised and almost dead from cold. He is now under the care of a physician aboard the Dewey. The Scarborough was bound from Philadelphia, Pa., for Philadelphia, Pa., on Monday, Oct. 20, and was wrecked on the main boom of the Scarborough broke and the vessel's head was thrown to the heavy seas. She rapidly tilted and afterward turned turtle. Considerable difficulty was experienced by the crew in launching a boat for the rescue of the imperilled men.

OF PAWTUCKETVILLE CHURCH YESTERDAY

Interesting Program Carried Out Last Night by Efficient Committee Assisted by Pastor

The Pawtucket Congregational church was the scene of an anniversary service last night. It was about a quarter of a century ago that the Christian Endeavor society of the church was founded and the meeting last night was a very pleasant one.

The chapel was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and chrysanthemums.

The services opened with singing by the congregation of Endeavor hymns and there was an anthem by the choir. Mrs. C. G. Coburn read a paper giving the history of the society. A paper written by Mrs. Charles

Miles and read by Mr. Miles described the progress of the society during the pastorate of the Rev. Dr. Leland, Rev. W. G. Poor and Rev. E. R. Smith, and Secretary William Kinghorn told in an interesting manner of the activities of the present society.

A tribute to the members of the society who have passed into the higher life was read by Mr. Henry Newhall. One of the interesting features of the program was a letter from "Patner" Clark, the founder of the C. E. society, full of congratulations for the past and encouragement for the future. There were letters from Rev. Mr. Wilcox and others who had been identified in the work, and remarks from the past presidents who were present. Rev. F. G. Alger told of the work of the Junior C. E. and spoke of its great importance to the church. President Spooner of the local C. E. union also spoke briefly.

To lend variety to the music, Miss Belle Hutchinson sang a solo, and Miss Florence Sturtevant and Miss Helen Bellamy a duet.

The committees in charge were as follows: Program, James Grunt, Mrs. C. G. Coburn and the pastor; music, S. R. Fleet, Misses Helen Bellamy, Florence Sturtevant and Cora Bartlett; invitation, Misses Louisa Blanchard, Elsie Cameron, Ida Cummings, Helen Mansfield; decorations, Miss Horstense Taylor, Cora Cummings, Elsie Cameron, Ida Silcox, Helen River, Messrs. J. R. V. Coburn, George Axon, usters, Walter Mills, George Dennis, Charles Miles and Leander Conley.

19 BOYS ESCAPED FROM STATE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

SHUJEX, Oct. 25.—Nineteen inmates of the state industrial school for boys, which was opened here a few weeks ago, yesterday afternoon left the place and ran away.

Five of the boys came back early in the evening, but the balance are still at large, and it is believed by Supt. Taylor that they have jumped a freight and are on their way west.

The Gardner and Fitchburg police have been notified, and teachers from the school have gone to those towns in order to identify the boys should they appear.

When the school opened it had about 75 boys. The school was planned to care for boys too bad to be sent to the Lyman school, and yet whom it was not considered advisable to send to the Concord reformatory.

GRAND OPERA SUCCESS IN THE UNITED STATES

The New French and Italian Schools Have Supplanted the Classical Favorites—Growth of the Art In This Country.

1820. After a few fluctuating seasons another place was selected, the Richmond Hill theater, in 1832. The house had been transformed from a private residence that had been occupied by Aaron Burr. The seasons under Manager Du Pont failed, but notwithstanding, he persuaded a number of rich men to erect the Italian Opera House, specially constructed with a view of presenting opera of the Italian school. The house was at the corner of Church and Leonard streets. It cost $175,000 and was opened in November, 1833. It ruined two managers, and for some time after the failures Italian opera seemed doomed in this country.

There was a caterer in 1844 named Palmio. He had made a fortune feeding New Yorkers. His place is still remembered by octogenarians. It stood on the corner of Broadway and Duane street. He built an opera house in Chambers street, in the same block as the new hall of records. It was the first theater in the United States that had a tier of private boxes. Its capacity was 800. Opera failed in this house, and the man who put up the building died an object of charity.

Still the public cried for opera. In 1847 the Astor Place Opera House was opened. It was built by 150 New Yorkers, and opera was produced there for five years. The house held 1,800 people. The management had spirited rivalry from the Castle Garden in Battery park and from Niblo's Garden. On one occasion while the Astor Place was closed its rivals got possession of it and utilized it for a dog show. The scheme worked. It killed the house for opera.

So it was a dog show that led to the building of the Academy of Music, in 1853. The first performance was in October, 1853. Mapleson was yet hanging on to the old Academy and the original great war of managers occurred while Abbey and Mapleson were rival managers. Mapleson had Patti and Ger-star, and Abbey had Christine Nilsson. As showing how the demand for grand opera was increasing in New York and in the country it is only necessary to state that the cost of the new home, the Metropolitan, including the real estate, was $1,732,978. Nevertheless, at the close of the first season the loss was $600,000. A loss in business in grand opera does not within itself mean that the public has failed to patronize. Bad management shatters the most liberal patronage.

In spite of the fact that Abbey lost, he did much to fortify grand opera in the United States. Out of twenty-four promised operas for the season he gave nineteen in New York city, and, besides, he gave outside of the city fifty-eight performances in Brooklyn, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, Cincinnati, St. Louis, Washington and Baltimore.

put it on its feet for a short season. The story of grand opera at the Metropolitan since Abbey's time need not be repeated here. It includes the names of Damrosch, Seidl, Grau, Conried and—now, Dippel.

It was at the Metropolitan, too, that Savage went, in 1900, with his English opera which he organized in Boston. He made the arrangement with Grau, and the season lasted from Oct. 1 to Dec. 15.

It is already stated elsewhere in this article that patronage of grand opera does not imply a fortune to the management. It is recalled that under the directorate of Maurice Grau, who was considered in his time a master in managerial work, he got from the public $1,500,000 for one of his most successful seasons, but his profit was only $75,000. Put his management and that of those who followed in his steps showed that grand opera was no longer a venture in this country.

Hammerstein's Entry. Twenty-five years ago it would have been madness for any one to predict that the time would come in the present generation when grand opera in New York city would demand another house commensurate in magnificence and in the scope of productions with and other towns in which he has built opera houses and where he has given grand opera successfully. If grand opera had not expanded in the country, it is a question in the minds of many whether there would have been two great opera houses in New York city.

While grand opera has expanded gradually in the United States, its most recent success is due to the new school. The manager who produces an old time classical opera now does so more for the purpose of exploiting the voice of some particular star than because of any demand on the part of the public to hear the opera. Even Wagner is no longer rated as modern.

It does not detract from the glory of grand opera that pleased the fathers to say that the new school has met with the requirements of this commercial age and contributed to the encouragement of present day managers.

In French opera the great nights are those in which are heard such productions as "Pelléas et Mélisande," by Debussy; "Louise," by Charpentier; "Thais" and "Herodode," by Massenet; and "Samson et Delila," by Saint-Saëns.

In Italian opera among the productions that draw critical and appreciative audiences and add to the success of the management by subscriptions and box office receipts are "Cavalleria Rusticana," by Mascagni, and "La Bohème," by Puccini, and "Madame Butterfly," by Puccini.

Even American opera is lately making its way toward popular appreciation, as has been shown by recent productions. FRANK H. BROOKS.

The Manhattan cost $2,000,000. It opened in December, 1906. It was intimated in some quarters that the erection of the Manhattan Opera House was the outcome of prejudice and some petty spite. The success of the Manhattan since it opened is an answer to that statement. Prejudice and spite are short lived. If it were otherwise there would have been no occasion for Hammerstein to go to other cities, as he has to Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago

Porto Rico's New Governor

Colonel George R. Colton, Business Man, Soldier and Former Official In the Philippines, Takes Charge Nov. 1.

PORTO RICO will soon have another American governor, Colonel George R. Colton. He will succeed Governor Regis H. Post, recently resigned on account of the ill health of Mrs. Post, Nov. 1.

Colonel Colton's appointment was made by the president while the latter was at Beverly, Mass., and is the president's first Porto Rican selection.

The appointee is of New England parentage, but he is credited to the District of Columbia. He was a business man at the national capital when he was selected by President Roosevelt for the office of chief collector of Santo Domingo customs. In that capacity he familiarized himself with conditions, and this incidentally led him to know something of conditions in Porto Rico. He understands and speaks Spanish and knows the character of the people whose affairs he is shortly to administer. One of the things which specially commended Colonel Colton to the president was his revision of the cumbersome Spanish regulations in regard to port affairs at the time when Mr. Taft was governor of the Philippines.

When matters in Santo Domingo were properly adjusted and running smoothly, Colonel Colton was sent to the Philippines on the recommendation of Secretary Taft as insular collector. He gave general supervision to the fiscal affairs of the islands and drafted the Philippine tariff bill which was passed by the senate and approved on the same day as the Payne bill. He is also responsible for the government inspection and guaranteeing of Philippine cigars.

Colonel Colton has had an interesting as well as a busy life. After leaving college he went to Texas and remained there for awhile, looking over the state and taking a vacation at the same time. He acquired a fondness for western life, and a part of his vacation money went for the purchase of a cowboy's outfit, and he joined a "drive" of cattle bound for New Mexico and remained in the southwest for four years. He returned to his home in the east, but his stay was brief. He went out to Nebraska and engaged in banking. He was manager of the concern that he organized and remained with it for a dozen years. While thus engaged he joined the First Nebraska regiment, composed of the most energetic young men in the state. While Dewey was waiting for troops to take possession of Manila the First Nebraska responded and was the first to arrive on the scene. In one of the attacks on the troops Colonel Colton led his regiment in person, and, although the enemy outnumbered the Nebraskans three to one, the Spaniards were driven back with a loss of 400.

Colonel Colton is the grandson of Chauncey S. Colton, a builder of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad. The railroad builder was noted for his firmness and strong characteristics, and the grandson resembles him in these traits.

Colonel Colton was home from the Philippines on leave of absence when he was tendered the appointment of governor of Porto Rico by President Taft. The president has great confidence in Colonel Colton and expressed the opinion that he had the necessary qualifications for governing the people and convincing them of an earnest desire for their welfare. When Colonel Colton was in Santo Domingo he gained the confidence of President Morales and his cabinet.

Uncle Sam's Treasurer

Lee McClung, Keeper of Yale Funds, Named by President Taft to Succeed Charles H. Treat.

Lee McClung, who has been appointed by President Taft to succeed C. H. Treat as treasurer of the United States, is not a politician. He will have the satisfaction of knowing that few who have held the job were selected because of their political influence. The exceptions possibly were James N. Huston in the first administration of Cleveland and John C. New, who was appointed in 1875. The position is a business office, and does not offer the opportunities for distinction that other government offices do. The requirements of the office are integrity and solidity and executive ability.

McClung is a business man. After his graduation from Yale, in 1892, he traveled in Europe, and when he returned he made a journey through California. He was paymaster of the St. Paul and Puget Sound Railroad company and later assistant traffic manager of the Southern railroad. His connection with the Southern covered the period between 1902 and 1904, during which time he was stationed at Louisville. He was appointed treasurer of Yale in 1904.

While treasurer of Yale he became a director in a New Haven bank and also a director in a leading life insurance company of Hartford. As a student at Yale he took a leading part in athletics, playing on both the basketball and football teams for several years, captaining the football team of 1892. He was chairman of the junior promenade committee, and in his senior year he received the largest vote as the most popular member of the class. He was considered the best halfback Yale ever had. Associated with him on the football team were such noted players as the Bliss brothers, Vance McCormick and the "mighty" Heffelfinger. He is a member of Yale corporation and of the leading Yale secret societies, including Skull and Bones. But his selection as treasurer of the United States is based upon his sterling business qualifications.

He is a rich bachelor and is thirty-three years old. He received the degree of M. A. in 1905. His brother, Robert Gardner McClung, is a prominent lawyer in Boston. The new treasurer was born in Knoxville, Tenn., where his father, Frank H. McClung, is a retired merchant. The family is related to Chief Justice Marshall of the United States supreme court and to General Albert Sidney Johnston of the Confederate cause and whose death occurred early in the civil war. Lee McClung received his education at Phillips Exeter academy and Yale. With all his qualifications as a business man the new appointee is what is termed a good mixer, and that means that he is popular. When he was a boy he was noted among his comrades for being "square" and always at hand to help the "fellow who was down." The department to which he is appointed is a branch of the United States treasury, controlling the national finances. It is the most extensive and complex of all the departments and in rank stands next to the department of state. It employs more than 5,000 people in Washington and has branches and offices throughout the United States.

As treasurer Mr. McClung will be charged with the duty of signing the paper currency and of receiving and keeping the money of the United States and with disbursing the same on warrants properly signed and countersigned. He enters upon these duties Nov. 1.

The first treasurer of the United States—known then as the United Colonies—was Michael Hillegas. He was a Philadelphia merchant. He was appointed by the Continental congress and held the office until after the introduction of Washington. When the colonies ran short of money he and several other rich merchants advanced the necessary funds to sustain the colonies from their private funds. His successor was Samuel Meredith, also a Philadelphia merchant, an influential friend of Washington and a brother-in-law of George Clymer, a signer of the Declaration. One of the stories of Meredith is that he advanced the government $120,000 and was never reimbursed. Thomas Tudor Tucker was appointed to the office in 1801 by Jefferson and held it until his death in 1823. He was succeeded by William Clark in the administration of John Quincy Adams. He held the place only a year, for Andrew Jackson came to the presidency then and made a clean sweep. Jackson's treasurer was John Campbell of Virginia, who held the place for ten years. All successors following were men little known in politics. The treasurer at the breaking out of the civil war was William J. Price of Missouri, an appointee of Buchanan.

The most widely known treasurer was Francis E. Spinner, whose signature was a puzzle to the country until it was finally deciphered. He was a New Yorker and was appointed at the suggestion of Chase, secretary of the treasury in the first administration of Lincoln. It was Spinner who first introduced women clerks into the treasury department. He served through the administrations of Lincoln, Johnson and Grant. He resigned in 1875 and was succeeded by John C. New.

Charles H. Treat, who steps aside for Lee McClung, was appointed treasurer in 1905. It was Treat who succeeded the nomination of Levi P. Morton for vice president in 1886. Mr. Treat was born in Maine and became interested in politics after he removed to Delaware. Later he removed to New York and took part in organizing the Republican club of New York city. He was collector of internal revenue for the second district of New York from 1897 to 1905.

PRESIDENT TAFT

Is on Last Leg of His Journey Around the Country

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 25.—President Taft left Texas yesterday afternoon after spending nine days in that state and was speeding last night towards St. Louis.

With a formal breakfast, a speech in the St. Louis Auditorium, a luncheon and the dedication of a government building in East St. Louis before him, the president will have every moment of his time occupied up to this evening. Then, on the steamer Oleander, he will lead a procession of boats containing governors, senators and representatives down the Mississippi river to New Orleans to attend the convention of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway association.

The river trip will mark one of the stages of Mr. Taft's travels. When he reaches St. Louis today he will have covered 9780 of the 12,000 miles of his trip. The river journey will consume 1165 more, and when the president leaves New Orleans on November 2, he will be within easy distance of home. He is scheduled to reach Washington the night of November 10.

In reality, however, the president's travels in 1909 will not end until November 21, for he has engagements at Middletown, Conn., on November 12; at New Haven on November 13; at Norfolk, Va., on November 19, and at Hampton, Va., on November 20.

Mr. Taft's voice yesterday morning showed no improvement and after he had made a few short addresses in Texas and Arkansas, it was almost gone.

The president's physician is at work on the executive's vocal chords in the hope of having them in some sort of shape for the auditorium speech in St. Louis today. There is little hope for permanent improvement, however, short of three or four days.

The president's train had a mystery yesterday. Railroad detectives, special policemen and secret service officers to the contrary, notwithstanding, somebody stole the president's opossum. It happened at Dallas, where there were scores of policemen, special officers, deputies and militiamen on guard.

A fat opossum was put aboard the train Saturday at Hempstead, Texas. It occupied half of an orange crate, while in the other half was a "mess" of sweet potatoes, intended to be served with the beast. The opossum and potatoes were safely stored away in the car. With memories of the opossum dinner in Atlanta last winter still fresh in mind, the president suggested this morning that the Hempstead gift should have the place of honor among the vials on the Mayflower last evening.

There came the news that the opossum had disappeared. The man in charge of the baggage car set the crate on the platform Saturday night at Dallas; and despite the fact that the train was surrounded by bluecoats throughout the darkness, the morning's light revealed that the opossum apparently had been taken, raising the president's desires and the useful loss at Dallas traveled ahead of the train and when it arrived at Long View, at noon yesterday, another opossum all dressed for cooking was put on board. Consequently the opossum dinner on the Mayflower was not postponed.

The president left Dallas at 8 o'clock yesterday morning and during the day stopped at Pomeroy, Terrell, Willis, Fort, Long View and Marshall before crossing the Texas line at Texarkana, where the train was halted, partly in Texas and partly in Arkansas. A delegation of sixty citizens of Arkansas, headed by Governor Donaghey, General at Fortwell Clayton, United States senator Clark and others, met the president at Texarkana and had their two cars attached to his train.

There was an immense crowd at Texarkana but the president's voice had so far failed that he could only say a word or two in appreciation of his welcome.

The train arrived in Little Rock shortly after 8 o'clock and left for St. Louis 10 minutes later. His voice had somewhat improved and he spoke briefly at Little Rock.

At Terrell, Texas, yesterday morning, the president spoke to a throng of eager Sunday school pupils, and delivered something like his usual Sunday sermon, in which he said that in four years he would "step down and out."

JUSTICE GAYNOR

Denounces the Attack on Women

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—William J. Gaynor, democratic nominee for mayor of New York, granted an interview at the request of several reporters of New York papers last night, in which he attacked the writer of an article in the current issue of McClure's Magazine, who charged that traffic in girls is fostered under Tammany rule. Characterizing the article as "miserable trash," Judge Gaynor said among other things:

"Now, none of your newspapers has my permission to use this without saying you asked for it. I am not volunteering it. You asked for it. This writer is a mere political and racial bigot. It sticks out in almost every line. He has the traits of ignorance, superficiality, recklessness and an irresistible propensity to falsify which are the characteristics of the Hearst writers and which people have got onto at last. What a grand article could be written on the subject instead of this miserable trash."

"It is just a vulgar, bigoted fellow, trying to make political capital. The fact is, as everyone knows, who has read or traveled, that the city of New York is the most decorous of the large cities of the world, with the lowest percentage of this vice of any of them. And yet there are impure minded political and race bigots whose delight is to lie about and slander New York in this respect and in others. They are a detestable lot, and I hope for an opportunity to make them shut up or get out."

"We all look with profound reverence upon the great body of our clergymen, Jewish, Protestant and Catholic, who are constantly working for the moral welfare and uplifting of our people, calling in the assistance of the civil government to aid them when necessary, and who gradually and steadily and constantly do so much good. But these few detestable sensationalists, notoriety seekers and political and racial bigots are deserving only of contempt. This writer shows the mean bigotry that fills his soul. He does not scruple to lay the evils he mentions to the Jews as a race. I believe that I am as familiar with the inbred and innate virtuous womanhood of the Jewish race here as is any man, and I say that this man is maliciously untruthful of Jewish womanhood and manhood."

He also casts the same reproach on the Irish race here. Nor does the purity of the women of the pure people need any defense against bigots. Nor do Irishmen anywhere in the world need to be defended from the charge of being in a traffic of women. Out with the scoundrels who make such a charge."

Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall, who dismissed the charges as ridiculous Saturday, came out with a statement last night in which he cites a few "historical facts," arguing in effect that if such conditions existed, responsible officials elected by the people should be held to account.

SAYS JIM WILL NEVER FIGHT AGAIN

CANONSBURG, Pa., Oct. 25.—That James J. Jeffries and Jack Johnson will never meet in the flat arena is indicated by an interview made public yesterday, between the Rev. J. M. Work, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of this city and Rev. J. P. Jeffries, father of the underdog heavyweight pugilist, who is visiting friends here.

Mr. Jeffries, who is a minister of the Presbyterian church and whose home is in Los Angeles, Calif., when asked whether his son would fight Johnson in the near future, is said to have replied:

"My son will never fight a negro and I don't think he will fight any other person again during his life."

"DR." WM. KEY

One of Richest Colored Men is Dead

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—"Doctor" William Key, one of the best known and one of the richest colored men in the United States, is dead, of heart disease at his home in Shelbyville, Tenn. The news was received in Boston yesterday.

The "doctor" was the original owner and trainer of the famous trained horse, Beautiful Jim Key, the children's pet, who toured the country giving remarkable exhibitions of sagacity in performing arithmetical problems, spelling, making change with a cash register, etc., and who was seen in Boston by thousands at the annual food and mechanicals fairs, until about five years ago. The horse is still living, though he is 23 years old.

William Key, who was 76 years old, was born a slave in Tennessee, on the estate of a family of Keys, said to have been related to the famous author of the "Star Spangled Banner," Philip Barton Key.

SHELTON, Conn., Oct. 25.—That the woman, whose partly nude body was found lying half submerged in a brook on White Hill Saturday by two men out hunting, was murdered, was brought out at an autopsy performed last night. Though no official finding was made, it is understood that the woman was strangled to death and probably the body placed in the brook to cover the crime. No identification has been made.

MUELLER'S STORY

May Reveal Tale of Wholesale Marriage and Murder

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Admissions made today under the severe cross-questioning of the police by Otto Mueller, the Astoria, L. Mueller was arraigned today under the name of Frederick Gebhardt on the formal charge of bigamy but the chain of circumstantial evidence is drawn so tightly about him that the police expect to lodge a more serious charge against him.

Mrs. Gebhardt, Mueller's present wife, has confided to the authorities that she has lived in her husband's house for years and that on one oc-

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Opening prices of stocks rose vigorously over the Saturday closing level on account of the Imperial bank of Germany having refrained from advancing its official discount rate as was feared on Saturday. American Cotton Oil 1 1/2 and the majority of the active speculative stocks from large fractions to a point. The dealings are quite animated and showed great variety.

Stocks were stretched to 2 1/2 in Amalgamated Copper, 2 in Union Pacific, 1 1/2 in Reading, 1 1/2 in U. S. Steel and 1 1/2 in Pacific Mail and American Smelting. From that level there was some recession of profit taking. Bonds were irregular.

A realizing movement started soon after business had got well under way which wiped out the opening advance in some stocks and reduced it to a small fraction in the rest before support was advanced. Subsequently the market rose briskly again. U. S. Steel and Union Pacific advanced slightly higher than before and the rest of the list rose to about the opening level.

Great Excitement

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—There was great excitement in the cotton market today, prices making new high records on account of big gains in Liverpool, a bullish crop estimate by a prominent English expert, a decrease in shorts and general buying. December cotton sold at 14.11 and May at 14.25.

casion her husband, while in his cups was overheard to declare that she was his eighth wife and that those who preceded her were all in their graves.

Another point upon which stress is laid by the police was the finding of four notes scribbled by Mueller in which the writer reveals his intention to disappear. All are dated October 23, the day of Mueller's arrest, and contain instructions for the disposal of his property.

One of the notes is addressed to the Long Island City bank and reads as follows:

"Please pay my account to my wife, Anna Gebhardt. I am legally dead."

Mueller admitted that he married Miss Lattier in February, 1908, but says that he deserted her three months later and does not know what became of her thereafter.

Mueller was given a grilling cross examination by the police and though he nearly collapsed several times he refused to answer any questions other than to admit that he had married Anna Lattier and the woman with whom he was at present living.

It is planned to turn the prisoner over to the Suffolk county authorities late today that he may be used as a witness in the inquest over Anna Lattier at Islip tomorrow.

SAID TO HAVE CONFESSED

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Inspector McCafferty, chief of the Central office, announced this afternoon that he had received word from Brooklyn headquarters that Frederick Gebhardt alias Mueller had confessed to the police authorities that he had murdered his wife, Anna Lattier, a year ago at Islip, L. I.

According to Inspector McCafferty, the prisoner said that he took the woman to the woods in Islip to show her some lots and then shot her.

REV. FR. CAMPEAU, O.M.I. MURDER CHARGED

Passed Away Last Night in a Montreal Hospital

"Prof." Frank Hill in Court in Fall River Today

THE LATE REV. JOSEPH CAMPEAU, O. M. I.

Had Been Ill for Several Months — He Accomplished Great Work as Superior of St. Joseph's Parish

A telegram was received in this city last night, announcing the death of Rev. Joseph Campeau, O. M. I., the beloved superior of St. Joseph's parish and pastor of St. Jean Baptiste church, at the Hotel Dieu, Montreal, last evening.

For over a year he had been in poor health, but worked indefatigably until six weeks ago, when he was forced by illness to give up his duties. He went to the springs at St. Clemons, Mich. in the hope of regaining his health, but after a short time there was advised by the physicians to return to Montreal and seek the advice of specialists. At Montreal he entered the hospital known as Hotel Dieu, where he died, a victim of Bright's disease. He bore his illness uncomplainingly and realizing the inevitable result he was thoroughly resigned. The remains will arrive in Lowell tomorrow evening and the funeral arrangements will be announced later.

The death of Fr. Campeau is a distinct loss to the community in which he had labored untriflingly since coming here in 1901. Under his wise administration the large French parish had made wonderful progress, and he was indeed a worthy successor of the late Fr. Garin.

Rev. Joseph Campeau was born in the little town of Veaudreville, P. Q., in the diocese of Valleyfield, in Nov. 1865, and hence was not quite 44 years of age. His father was a farmer and the family was humble but honest and highly respected. He received his early education at the little college of St. Theres in the town of that name and then entered the Oblate Novitiate at Lachine, where he remained one year, after which he went to the Scholasticate of the Order at Ottawa and there pursued his theological studies. He remained five years at Ottawa. In 1886 he took his perpetual vows as a member of the Oblate order and in 1890 was ordained a priest at Ottawa. Immediately after his ordination Fr. Campeau was assigned to Winnipeg, where he remained three years engaged in missionary work among the whites of that territory. In 1893 he came to Lowell and was appointed pastor of the novitiate in Tewksbury and shortly afterward appointed master of novices at the novitiate. It was during his time at Tewksbury that the old novitiate was burned down and he had a great part of the work of directing the construction of the present novitiate. He remained at Tewksbury until the death of the late Fr. Gagnon, O. M. I., in 1901, when he was appointed superior of St. Joseph's parish, which practically includes the entire French-Catholic community and retained the pastorate of St. Jean Baptiste church and this position he held until his death.

Many monuments to the fidelity and perseverance of the French Catholics of Lowell have been erected during the administration of Fr. Campeau, most notable among them being the new parishes of St. Mary's of South Lowell and Notre Dame de Lourdes, in connection with which parochial schools have been established and the new and beautiful orphanage in Pawtucket street which has no equal in New England. Fr. Campeau was instrumental in bringing all of these into existence and he worked early and late, selflessly and with the most perfect judgment he was a good and devoted priest. When not engaged with the temporal affairs of his flock he was to be found within the church or in the little chapel of the rectory or in the oratory in prayer. He was capable at all times and under all circumstances, a thorough gentleman, kind sympathetic and of most charitable instincts. He was the friend of the poor and the oppressed of spirit but was extremely modest, and hence many a charitable act of his doing went unrecorded in this world.

FRENCH TARIFF IMPORTS

PARIS, Oct. 25.—An official note issued by the government today announces the decision of the United States to impose its new tariff rates on French tariff imports after October 31 because October 31 falls on Sunday, and adds "that France with more liberal traditions will keep the French custom houses open throughout the entire day of October 31 for the admission of American goods under the old rates."

The many friends of Mr. Eugene Jordan, who was a graduate of the Fenwick Training School for Emigrants in New York City, in the June class, will be pleased to hear that he has passed an examination successfully before the state board of registration in embalming.

FALL RIVER, Oct. 25.—Calmly chewing a toothpick and from outward appearances not in the least disturbed, "Prof." Frank Hill sat in the district court today while a charge of murder brought against him in connection with the death of Amelia St. Jean of Woonsocket, R. I., was continued until Wednesday.

Hill was brought up from his cell after a confinement lasting ten days and was led to a seat in the crowded courtroom. He looked about and nodded a good morning here and there and then settled back in his chair to listen quietly to all that was going on in his case.

Acting City Marshal Fleet requested of Justice McDonough that the case be put over until Wednesday in order that the police might have a few days together. Thomas F. Higgins, counsel for the defendant, offered no objection and the postponement was so ordered.

As calmly as he had entered the courtroom Hill left it. His absolute composure created a good deal of comment among those who have been following the case closely. Apparently no search for the head of the Tiverton victim was made today. Inspector Medley, who has been actively at work on the case, went to Boston this forenoon, carrying with him several pieces of the partition taken from "Prof." Hill's berth shop. The inspector planned to visit Prof. Whitney at Harvard university and have him examine the wood to determine whether or not there were blood spots upon it as the inspector believed.

The remainder of the detective forces who have been at work upon the case spent the day in finishing up the details of the evidence already at hand.

When the case comes up for a preliminary hearing Wednesday it is anticipated that not more than two witnesses will be heard by the court and that it will then be formally turned over to the next grand jury of Bristol county for their examination.

THAT BEAM HOUSE

Is Likely to Bother the Board of Health

Just as soon as the American Hide and Leather company has perfected its plans for a new beam house the plans will be submitted to the board of health and a hearing on the question of location will be held. It will be remembered that Fourth Vice President C. F. Hall appeared before the board of health on Friday of last week and the board members are disposed to think Mr. Hall was very fair in the matter. He admitted that the old beam house in Howe street had been a menace to public health, but allowed that a new beam house with modern appliances for the elimination of obnoxious odors could be located in the southerly part of Perry street without giving offense.

Perry street and vicinity do not care to take it for granted that a modern beam house would not be offensive and dangerous, and they call attention to the fact that the expert whom the American Hide and Leather company had in testifying in its behalf at a comparatively recent hearing declared that the beam houses in Woburn smelled stronger than did the old Perry street beam house, yet he said that the Woburn houses were fitted with modern appliances for the elimination of odors.

The people in Perry street and others believe that some such place as South Lowell would be the proper location for a beam house, and whatever happens it is up to the board of health to see to it that the beam house will be located and so arranged as not to be a casual annoyance of the nuisance occupied by the old beam house in Howe street.

6 O'CLOCK A JAIL SENTENCE For Man Who Admitted Having Stolen Two Lanterns

John Couture appeared before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with illegally removing baggage from the house of Maxine Charland, while the latter had a lien on it for non-payment of board and room. Couture entered a plea of not guilty and after the testimony had been given the court found the defendant not guilty and ordered his discharge.

Charland testified that Couture owed him $4 for one week's board. He was unable to state, however, whether or not Couture had clothes other than those which he wore.

Couture said that he kept one suit of clothes in the bake shop where he worked and the only other clothing he had was the suit he wore.

He said that he works for a Mr. Mailloux who keeps a bake shop and that Charland owed Mailloux money and the latter had made an arrangement whereby he was to pay his board to Mr. Mailloux until the above mentioned bill had been settled.

The fact that there was nothing to show that the defendant had removed any baggage left nothing for the court to do but to discharge the man.

years of age Mr. Bancroft is one of the most promising violinists who ever left Lowell. When only a small boy he took lessons on the violin from Mrs. L. A. Derby of this city and took from Joseph O'Dwyer, also of Lowell. His next instructor was Prof. Emil Lavigne and while a pupil of Prof. Lavigne he frequently substituted for his tutor in orchestra work. For the past two years he has been a member of the Festival Orchestra of Boston, which toured the country giving concerts. At present he is studying with Carl Fischer of Boston. Special consideration will be given to the subject of training and experience. From the eligible list established by this examination, names will be certified to all the position. ## BIG ATTENDANCE Evening High School Breaks Record

The actual attendance at the evening sessions of the Lowell high school, reached 919 last week, against 650 when Principal Thomas Robbins took the position two years ago. This great gain is the result principally of the fact that the Lowell Evening High school is one of the leading institutions of its kind, if not the leader, in New England, and the gain must certainly reflect credit upon the principal, Mr. Robbins, especially when there was a controversy, confined to the republican side of the house, over his position a year ago.

In order to appreciate the success of the high school evening sessions, one must consider the fact that there is no law that compels anyone to attend the evening high school. Every pupil goes there of his or her own free will and they are all men and women who realize the necessity of an education. They co-operate with the teachers in every respect and hence the grand success of the school. Principal Robbins is most enthusiastic over the prospects this year and ventures the prediction that this will be the banner year of the institution up to date.

COL. ROOSEVELT Hunts in District Where Lions Killed 100 Natives

NAIROBI, British East Africa, Sept. 25.—Col. Roosevelt, accompanied by his son Kermit, Edmund Heller and R. J. Cunningham, left for Nyeri early in August to get a bull, a cow and a calf elephant. Although better elephants are obtainable in the Nile country of Uganda and its immediate neighborhood, Col. Roosevelt was particularly anxious to get an elephant in the Nyeri district, so that Heller could have a better chance in the cooler climate there of saving the skins in good condition.

Major Mearns and Loring were to come into Nairobi and send off their bird and mammal collections to New York and then to fit out their caravan for their expedition to the snow line of Mt. Kenia (15,000 feet). Their intention was to take their loads out to Fort Hall in ox wagons and then pick up their Kilikuyu porters there.

Maj. Mearns and Loring started on the 4th and 5th of September, respectively, and made their first camp at Kipitani, which belongs to Hugh H. Bentley, and is where the expedition camped when after buffalo. They were then to march by easy stages to Fort Hall (native name Maranga).

The march is about 64 miles and the road is good all the way.

Maj. Mearns and Loring will go to the foot of Mt. Kenia collecting birds, mammals and fauna, and will then climb the mountain as far as the snow line, if possible. This will be a light task. At the snow line lies the remains of an old bull buffalo, in a very good state of preservation, except that his horns have suffered from the contraction and expansion caused by the frequent changes in the temperature.

No doubt Maj. Mearns will have something to say about this after he has seen it.

Meanwhile, Col. Roosevelt, has not been idle and he has got a fine bull elephant, with tusks weighing about 80 pounds each, which is a very good sized one for the Kenia district.

After selling his elephant, Col. Roosevelt went toward Mweru where there is good game shooting. A sportsman recently came into Nyeri from Mweru, which is less than a day's march from Nyeri, who had encountered a charging man-eater lion, charging rhino and an elephant, all within 200 paces of each other. He shot the lion dead with his first shot, and then the rhino charged and fell dead to a good shot. Then, to his amazement, a bull elephant appeared and he shot it dead. As the three beasts lay dead there was not more than 20 paces between them. The sportsman's nerves suffered to such an extent that he left them as they lay and hastened to the government station at Nyeri, where he arrived in almost a state of collapse and told his story, which was treated as a fairy tale by the district commissioner. However, the sportsman asked the district commissioner to come out next day and verify his story. They started out and later came to the place where the official found the bodies of all three beasts lying as described.

On the Mweru to Nyeri road man-eating lions have been playing havoc with the government's safaris and traders' safaris, so that at last the government was forced to close the glass he chartered an engine and some hundred native men, women and children have lost their lives in these man-eaters, and if Col. Roosevelt kills them he will have done the community special service.

RICHARD CROKER WATER SCARCE

Not Coming Home to Aid Morse

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Richard Croker's unexpectedly early trip to the United States this fall is not in response to a call for aid from Charles W. Morse, according to Mr. Morse himself. The former banker, a relative but hopeful prisoner in the Tombs, today was asked if it were true that Mr. Croker, as had been stated, was hurrying to this country to aid him in his fight for release.

"Not a word of truth in it," was the note which Mr. Morse pencilled on the bottom of the written query. It has been asserted that Mr. Croker was largely instrumental in the securing of bail under which the banker was released from the Tombs while his former appeal was pending and that Croker's aid was again asked. Morse's counsel is now preparing an appeal to the United States supreme court pending the decision of which the banker hopes again to secure his liberty and resume the work of his financial rehabilitation.

WOMAN ESCAPED Residence Destroyed by a Fire

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 25.—Prevented from escaping down the stairway Mrs. N. K. Haskell, widow of a former deputy collector for the Portland district, tied together some bedclothes and lowered herself to the ground early today when her residence at Peaks Island, in which she was living alone, was burned to the ground. She escaped unhurt but the house was burned flat causing a loss estimated at $3000. The fire was caused by a lighted lamp dropped by Mrs. Haskell.

HEALTH REPORTS

DEAL WITH THE PROGRESS OF PELLAGRA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The widespread interest in the progress of pellagra in the various parts of the country, especially in the south, has led Surgeon-General Wyman of the public health and marine hospital service to give the subject prominence in the weekly health reports of the service. The latest reports deal entirely with the extent to which the disease prevails in the south. New Orleans reports two deaths from pellagra for July and one death for August. Two cases are reported from Camden, S. I. for the week ending Oct. 9. Up to Sept. 2, 21 cases are reported from Texas.

SUBMARINE VIPER FAST IN SAND AT DELAWARE BREAKWATER

DELAWARE BREAKWATER, Oct. 25.—The submarine viper, which came into this harbor last night with the Tarantula and Plunger and the gunboat Castine dragged around last night off the northeast end of the breakwater and is still fast in the sand. The lifesaving crew from Lewes is on board ready to render any assistance necessary.

The submarine is lying easy, and it is expected will be hauled at the next high tide with the assistance of the gunboat.

A high northwest wind prevailed last night, which caused the viper to draw her anchors. The submarines and the gunboat are bound from Brooklyn for Charleston.

UNIVERSALIST PROGRAM

DETROIT, Oct. 25.—Today's program of the biennial convention of the Universalist church, which is in session here at the Church of Our Father, was devoted to the work of the Universalist Historical society, the Michigan Universalist convention, a business session and morning and evening devotional services.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON Reached New York With Chal- lenge for America's Cup

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—I have come over this time red hot with another challenge for the New York Yacht club and will do my best to arrange matters with the club so that I can have another chance to lift the America's cup.

So spoke Sir Thomas Lipton today while the big White Star steamship Cadric which brought him from Europe was warping into dock. The Irish yachtsman was accompanied by Colonel Dinwiddie, T. D. Nell and he will be in New York for several days.

Sir Thomas beamed upon the host of reporters that pressed him for his plans to bring about another contest for the historic cup.

At the present moment I do not care to talk until I have seen the yacht club committee, who will have this matter in charge," was all that Sir Thomas would say.

It is believed that Sir Thomas has brought with him a challenge for the cup which he will present to the New York Yacht club if his mission is successful in securing a modification of the racing conditions which cover contests for the America cup. Sir Thomas desires the club to change the present rule so that he can bring over Shamrock IV, built under the rules which will permit the construction of a substantial racing craft. The present rule governing America's cup races provides only for a given water line length and under this condition fragile racing machines were developed.

Sir Thomas expects to meet members of the New York Yacht club within a day or so.

Sir Thomas later consented to talk about what he would like to see done in order to give challengers what he believes an equal chance with American yachts in cup races.

"What I desire," said Mr. Lipton, "is to race under the universal rule. If I can't win under that rule I can at least provide good sport and that is the primary reason for all racing—or at least it should be. Under the present rules there is not a man in Europe who can build a yacht, bring her across the ocean and lift that cup."

Sir Thomas said he wanted to race for the cup with a 50-footer and would be ready to race in 1911.

VALUABLE GEMS CHEAPER COFFINS

Were Thrown Away by Chilberg

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—J. E. Chilberg, president of the Alaska-Yukon exposition, is said to have accidentally thrown diamond rings worth several thousand dollars out of the car window while on his way from Seattle to the Portland festival last week.

The diamonds belonged to Mrs. Chilberg. She had placed them in a glass of water and placed the glass on the window sill. Then she and her husband went to breakfast. Mr. Chilberg returned to the room first and on closing the window he picked up the glass and threw the water out. When Mrs. Chilberg told him of the contents of the glass he chattered an engine and directed search along the roadway for the gems. They were not recovered.

MOWATT—The funeral of the late Mrs. Jennie A. Mowatt took place this morning at 8.30 o'clock from her home, 3 Edgar's court, and was largely attended. The cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Fr. O'Brien. The choir sang the Gregorian mass and during the service appropriate selections were rendered by members of the choir. Mrs. McKennedy presiding at the organ. Among the floral tributes were a magnificent pillow from employees of the Appleton street garage; standing cross from Mrs. O'Grady; and a large spray from Mrs. Stuck. The bearers were John O'Hare, Frank Powell, Daniel O'Day, William Shea and Thomas Hestwick. At the grave Rev. Fr. O'Brien read the committal prayers and the burial was in the Catholic cemetery. Undertakers J. F. O'Donnell & Sons had charge.

WM. E. MALONEY ADDRESSED TWO BIG MEETINGS YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

William E. Maloney, who is one of the democratic candidates for the nomination for mayor, held two rousing meetings in Bay State hall yesterday afternoon. He addressed about three hundred people at both meetings.

Mr. Maloney during the course of his remarks said that the people of the city should not be considered a gift to any favored son. He said that the only question that should be considered is that of a man's ability to render the required service in a proper and efficient manner.

He said that the fact that a man has served several years in the legislature did not necessarily fit him for the office of mayor.

Mr. Maloney told his listeners that he was in no way connected with any corporation and was in the fight alone. He said that the slogan against him might be "He was not born in this city; neither has he lived here long enough." The speaker said that his record was open to the inspection of the public.

MRS. SHORT TO BE OPERATED ON AND MAY RECOVER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Slowly recovering today from the wounds inflicted yesterday by her infuriated husband, whose body still lies unburied at the district morgue, Mrs. Evelyn L. Short will be operated upon today for the removal of the two bullets which lodged in her back. The operation, it is believed, will remove all danger of death. She was shot yesterday morning at the Union station because she refused to leave the stage and resume an unhappy life with William Short of New York, an ex-convict, whom she married in her teens.

At the hospital with the "show girl," now only 23 years old, is her mother, Mrs. Henry A. Lewis of New York.

No one has appeared at the morgue to claim the body of the husband who killed himself after firing three times at his wife. He was a native of Lexington, Mass.

MORNEAU-PAQUETTE

Mr. Arthur Morneau and Miss Vitalia Paquette, both of Peabody, N. H., were married yesterday afternoon at St. Joseph's rectory. Rev. Fr. Magnan, O. M. I., performed the ceremony. In the evening there was a reception at the home of the bride's parents in Peabody.

MATRIMONIAL

The following marriage intentions were registered at the city clerk's office today:

Frank E. Derothy, 47, insurance, Lynn, Mass., and Annie W. Fisher, 52, at home, Grove street, Peabody, N. H.

William F. Hunt, 23, foreman, 125 Stackpole street, and Mary T. Cunningham, 20, at home, 18 Ames street.

Modern Methods

of manufacturing "ready-to-wear" clothing have as yet failed to make mechanical means do the work of the trained eye and hand, and the skill of the artistic tailor has yet to be supplanted by other means—therefore the man who prides himself upon wearing perfect garments cannot depend upon the factory to furnish his attire. It is OUR BUSINESS to furnish you garments most becoming to your personality, and most satisfactory to your friends.

THE IRISH LEAGUE

Ready for Tomorrow Night's Event

The United Irish League held a business meeting in A. O. H. hall last evening and completed arrangements for the big meeting in Associate hall tomorrow evening. When Hon. T. P. O'Connor, M. P., Captain Edward O'Meara, Condon and John O'Callaghan, the latter of Boston, will deliver addresses on the Irish cause and the bright prospect of winning home rule in the coming general election.

President Rourke urges every member present to work for the success of the meeting, as the people of Lowell, he said, may never again have an opportunity to hear the great "Tay Pay," the man whose literary work charms every class of people in London. Capt. Condon, the man who offered his life for the old land in Fenian days, and who gave forth the prayer, "God Save Ireland," the dying cry of Allen, Larkin and O'Brien as they mounted the scaffold, stands on a par with Robert Emmet of imperishable glory in the annals of Ireland.

Rev. Dr. Flynn, O. M. I., made a brief address congratulating the league and the Irish people of Lowell upon the opportunity to hear such distinguished workers for the cause of liberty and humanity. Mr. O'Connor, he said, had endeavored himself to the people of England as well as his fellow countrymen.

His American citizenship alone saved him and made the number of the Manchester martyrs three instead of four. His prayer, "God Save Ireland," on being sentenced to death is an imperishable inspiration.

James McCready gave sketches of the Fenian days in Ireland and told of the bravery of Captain Condon as a young man, richly endowed by nature and full of patriotic fire.

Sub-committees were appointed to carry out the various details of the meeting. The reception committee is as follows: Humphrey O'Sullivan, Patrick Condon, Rev. John J. O'Brien, J. Gilbride, Edward Carway, Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., E. J. Gallagher and Michael Rourke.

So far as now known Messrs. O'Connor, Condon and O'Callaghan will arrive in Lowell on the 5 o'clock train from Boston, tomorrow afternoon.

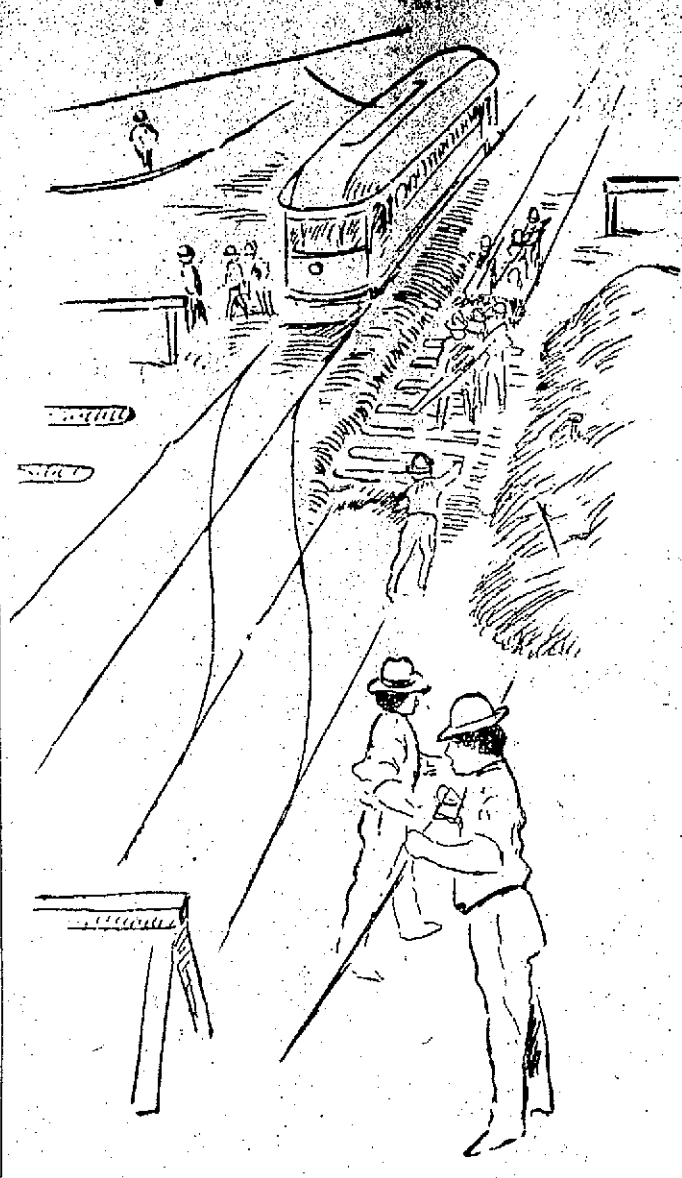

Tickets for the meeting are for sale at Carter & Sherburne's, Merrimack square.

STEPS ARE TAKEN

For the Safety of Emperor Nicholas

RACONIGL, Oct. 25.—Precautionary measures for the safety of Emperor Nicholas will be doubled as he makes the journey homeward, though no real fear of an attack upon the party exists. M. Iswolsky, the Russian foreign minister, accompanied by Foreign Minister Tittoni, visited the mayor of Racconigl this morning and expressing the satisfaction which he felt over the reception to the emperor, asked the mayor to communicate his expression to the people.

Dr. Lyman B. Sperry at Hathaway Theatre

Dr. Lyman B. Sperry lectured at Hathaway's theatre yesterday afternoon. He spoke on "Male and Female, or the Significance of Sex." The meeting was well attended by members and friends of the Young Men's Christian association.

Dr. Sperry talked for more than an hour and there was not a moment that he did not have the undivided attention of his audience. Dr. Sperry said he liked Lowell for many reasons, but especially because he served during the war under the late General Butler. There were brief remarks by Dr. Yarnold, the secretary, and S. H. Thompson, one of the active members of the association.

There was music by the association orchestra and Signor Omeria Castellucci of the Banda Roma of Boston, assisted by his brother, contributed to the musical program.

Dr. Sperry will speak tonight at the Y. M. C. A. building. He will talk on Hawaii, Australia and New Zealand.

Leaves Lowell to Reside in New Bedford

Elzear H. Choquette, for many years one of Lowell's best known business men, has purchased the Polsson Clothing Co. in Williams street, New Bedford, and will reside there henceforth. Mr. Choquette left yesterday, and his family will follow as soon as he has had time to select a suitable home.

ELZEAR H. CHOQUETTE.

Mr. Choquette severed his connection with Macartney's Apparel Shop Saturday night, and as he was leaving he was presented a beautiful meerschaum pipe by his fellow employees.

Mr. Choquette had been connected with the store, under its old name of Lowell One Price Clothing Co., for over thirty years. He entered the employ of the firm in 1877, became manager in 1887, and in 1902, part owner with Mr. Knowlton. A few months ago Messrs. Choquette and Knowlton sold out to Mr. Macartney, who gave the store its new name. Mr. Choquette remained as manager.

Mr. Choquette was one of Lowell's leading French-American citizens, and was prominent in all circles. He was for three years a member of the board of charities, giving the city as efficient and conscientious service as it ever received. He was identified as a leader with every large movement or organization tending to the progress of the French-American people, and in 1910 was chairman of the memorable St. John's day celebration of that year. He was the founder and first president of the French-American Federation which grew out of the co-operation of all the French-American societies in this celebration. He was one of the founders of L'Association Catholique, in whose progress he always took the deepest interest, and also of the French-American Democratic club of Massachusetts, of which he was the first president; also a trustee of the French-American orphanage and a member of all the leading French-American benevolent and social organizations of the city.

A BIG BALLOON

Mr. Flagg in the Boston Landed Safely

J. Walter Flagg of Worcester, a member of the Worcester Aero club and of the Aero club of New England, who made an ascension in the balloon "Boston" from the yard of the Lowell Gas Light company in School street on Saturday afternoon, landed safely in Andover, near the Reading line, at 4:27 o'clock, after having been in the air an hour.

The landing was an easy and safe one, the big gas bag dropping into a large field.

The air was unusually clear and the clouds fairly high, and Mr. Flagg had an excellent view of the country from Manchester, N. H., to the sea. He expected to make a landing in or near Newburyport, but did not realize until after he had risen to some height that the balloon was traveling in a southeasterly direction.

Mr. Charles J. Glidden and Victor Moulton, the latter of Hingham, who had charge of the filling of the balloon, followed the balloon in an automobile, but did not arrive at the landing place until about 20 minutes after Mr. Flagg had reached the ground. When Mr. Glidden arrived, Mr. Flagg, with the assistance of a number of the Andover students, was at work packing the gas bag.

One of the interesting features in connection with the ascension was the supper which followed the landing. The balloon landed in a field owned by Mrs. A. T. Holt and her sister, both ladies being about 50 years of age, but never before had a chance to see one close to.

Mrs. Holt was one of the first to greet Mr. Flagg and she immediately invited him to supper. Informing him that it would be a regular New England baked bean supper.

There will be three ascensions this week, providing the weather conditions are satisfactory. Jay P. Benton will go up on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons, shortly after 3 o'clock. This will make nine ascensions for him. On Saturday, with Mr. Flagg, he will make his tenth ascension.

The Boston man has offered his brother $1,000,000, which has been accepted. Dr. E. D. Morgan says he will retire from practice.

A GREAT VICTORY

Lowell High Defeated the Boston English High Eleven

Ralph Canney, the speedy and heady fullback of the Lowell high school football team, after a series of brilliant rushes, scored a touchdown on the Boston English high school team at Spaulding park Saturday afternoon, and subsequently kicked the goal which resulted in Lowell defeating the visitors by a score of 6 to 0. While the playing of the Lowell team during the present season has placed it in the same class as the teams of Greater Boston, Saturday's victory put it in an enviable position and the local enthusiasts now feel confident that when Lowell and Lawrence meet in the biggest struggle of the season the latter team will meet with defeat.

The attendance at the game was large owing to the fact that the weather was excellent, more so for the spectators than for the players. A large attendance and enthusiastic rooting for the home team has always been productive of good playing by Lowell, and from now on if the followers of the game will turn out in large numbers and give their encouragement, the players will do the rest.

Very little open work was displayed by Lowell. The visitors did not put up as good a game as was expected, and but for numerous fumbles by Lowell the score would have been much larger.

The Game

In the first half Canney kicked off to Boston; the ball going to English's five yard line. Two line plunges netted nothing and Boston was forced to punt. On the first play Donovan gained 15 yards through tackle. Lowell was penalized five yards for off-side work and Canney made up the distance. English High held for downs, and again attempted to plunge through the line. There was nothing doing, and when the ball went around the end on the next play good kicking by McMahon and Flanders forced English to punt once more.

McMahon caught the punt, but was downed in his tracks. English was penalized five yards for off-side play, and then started the line bucking which brought Canney into prominence.

Canney found the weak points in the opposing team and used unerring judgment throughout. The first play netted the team 20 yards. Canney making a pretty line buck through an opening made by Captain Rooney, and on the next play gained 10 yards. Two more plays brought the ball to within striking distance of Boston's goal. Canney walked through the line for touchdowns, after having made seven wonderful gains in succession for a distance of nearly half the field.

Canney kicked the goal and the score was Lowell 6, Boston English 0.

On the kickoff the ball went out of bounds, and Canney kicked again to Dacey who ran the ball back 15 yards. English tried the tackles again but was forced to punt after the second down, Canney bringing it back about kickoff, and by straight football carried the leather into Tech's territory. An occasional end run confused their opponents, and in eight minutes after play was started Lowell had scored its first touchdown. From then until the close of the half the ball went up and down the field, with Lowell having a slight advantage.

It was in the second half that Lowell outclassed its opponents. After securing the ball on downs the winners worked up the field, slowly but surely, and soon scored their 2d. touchdown. On the kickoff for a better position for a goal the ball was dropped. Technology's line showed some strength at this period of the game, and Lowell was obliged to punt twice, but the visitors in turn found Lowell's line too strong to penetrate and punted. Plunge after plunge through centre or between the tackles and guards brought the ball close to the goal posts and on a tackle over play Middleton was pushed over for a third touchdown, the last one of the game. Jefferson failed to kick a goal.

From then up to the time the timer's whistle denoted the close of play, both teams played about evenly. The summary:

BALLOON ASCENSION

From the Yard of the Lowell Gas Light Co.

The first of a series of balloon ascensions under the auspices of the Aero club of New England took place Saturday when J. Walter Flagg of Worcester, who is qualifying as an aerial pilot, made an ascension from the yard of the Lowell Gas Light company. The balloon, going straight upward, the wind was traveling at a rate of about 20 miles an hour and the course taken was almost directly east, bearing slightly to the south.

As soon as the balloon reached the wind current it rose rapidly and also traveled rapidly with the wind. As soon as Mr. Flagg had waved the red flag, signifying that everything was all right and he had dropped his three trail ropes—Mr. Glidden, accompanied by Mr. Moisan and a representative of The Sun—started to follow the balloon which landed in Andover.

At the time of going to press the balloon was in Tewksbury and traveling towards Andover.

It is necessary for aeronauts in order to qualify as pilots to make ten ascensions, two of which must be alone. The ascension made by Mr. Flagg was the ninth. He will make one more next week and then he will be given a certificate qualifying him as a pilot.

The balloon was filled about three o'clock, but it was 3.27 when the last bag of sand, necessary to give the balloon its buoyancy, was thrown out. The ascension was easy and graceful, the balloon going straight upward. The wind was traveling at a rate of about 20 miles an hour and the course taken was almost directly east, bearing slightly to the south.

As soon as Mr. Flagg had waved the red flag, signifying that everything was all right and he had dropped his three trail ropes—Mr. Glidden, accompanied by Mr. Moisan and a representative of The Sun—started to follow the balloon which landed in Andover.

At the time of going to press the balloon was in Tewksbury and traveling towards Andover.

It is necessary for aeronauts in order to qualify as pilots to make ten ascensions, two of which must be alone. The ascension made by Mr. Flagg was the ninth. He will make one more next week and then he will be given a certificate qualifying him as a pilot.

The balloon was filled about three o'clock, but it was 3.27 when the last bag of sand, necessary to give the balloon its buoyancy, was thrown out. The ascension was easy and graceful, the balloon going straight upward. The wind was traveling at a rate of about 20 miles an hour and the course taken was almost directly east, bearing slightly to the south.

As soon as the balloon reached the wind current it rose rapidly and also traveled rapidly with the wind. ## HUDSON BRIDGE

About to Bar Lowell Electric Car

It has been definitely reported among railroad men that notice may be received at any time to run no more Boston & Northern cars over Hudson bridge. This supposed to mean that cars from Lowell will stop in Hudson, and that passengers and probably crews walk across. For some time Manchester cars have stopped in Hudson and passengers came in with the crews on a Boston & Northern car running for the purpose. Under the new ruling Manchester passengers will also have to walk the 200 yards of bridge. Last winter Hudson installed a wind fender at the east end and tried to have the legislature compel Nashua to have a wind fender on the west end of the bridge. The walk is as cold on a windy day in winter as Dr. Cook ever took. There is an agitation for a new bridge, the present one having been declared unsafe for heavy cars.

A NEW RECORD

Was Made by Coast Defense Guns

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—A new record has been established by the new coast defense guns at Fort Hancock, N. J., a report of which has just reached the war department. With 10 inch disappearing rifles the battery there fired four shots a minute at a target 30 feet high and 60 feet long which was being towed by a tug and every shot told. Four shots fired in one minute all struck within a space on the material target exactly 24 feet by 54 feet. This record has never before been approached by the coast artillery.

No heavy gun battery above six inch in calibre has attained the speed in firing or the hits per minute made in this practice. The distance at which the record was made was more than 7000 yards or about four miles. The eighteenth company coast artillery corps is credited with this new mark in gunnery. The company is ordinarily stationed at Fort Schuyler, N. Y., and at the time of the shooting was under command of Captain Charles L. Fisher.

MABEL WILLIAMS

WHITE GIRL IS BRIDE OF CHINESE AMAN

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Yee Fat Wah, a prosperous young Chinese merchant, and Miss Mabel Williams, 21 years old, who has lived at 2 Union park street, South End, were married Saturday night. Last night in their apartments on the top floor of 10 Oxford place, the couple entertained their friends in true oriental style. The white wives of Chinamen and their husbands shuffled through the rooms and welcomed to the colony the young bride, who is a pretty blonde girl from New York. A joss, the particular shining god of the house of Yee, was surrounded by burning tapers and roasted meats and confections were spread on the tables in front of him. Mrs. Wah was born in New York city, the daughter of Frank W. and Hattie King Williams of Orange, N. J., both of whom are dead. Her husband was born in San Francisco 25 years ago. His parents are well-to-do in Hong Kong.

KING AND EMPEROR

Visited the Medieval Castle at Pollenzo

RACCONIGI, Oct. 25.—King Victor Emmanuel and his royal guest, the Emperor of Russia, spent most of Sunday together. The emperor, after his long journey and the triumphs of Saturday, retired early Saturday night, so that he might be on hand at a seasonable hour for a pheasant shoot, which had been arranged for Sunday morning. But fog caused a postponement of this sport until this afternoon. Instead of shooting, the king and the emperor took a motor trip, entirely unescorted, to the medieval castle at Pollenzo, seventeen miles distant, entering it through the ancient drawbridge guarded by towers.

In the meantime, Queen Helena, to whom the emperor presented his congratulations on the 13th anniversary of her marriage, attended mass at the chapel, which was celebrated by an archpriest, who wore a cope made out of her wedding dress of silver scales.

In the afternoon the two sovereigns joined the shooting party, which was accompanied by several hundred beaters. Pheasants and hares were abundant and the bag was excellent.

A state dinner in the evening was the principal event of the day. Besides the sovereigns, the guests include the Duke of the Abruzzi, the Duchess of Genoa, Princess Letitia, Prince Udine, other high Italian and Russian officials, King Victor Emmanuel, in toasting the emperor, extended his heartiest greetings to the Russian sovereign, saying that his visit confirmed the close friendship and harmony uniting the houses of the two countries. His majesty recalled the fine work of the Russian sailors at the time of the earthquake in southern Italy, which could not but contribute to the warmer friendship between the two peoples. He thanked the emperor for his visit and expressed great regret at the absence of the empress, for whose good health he offered a fervid wish. He ended by drinking to the imperial family and the greatness and prosperity of Russia.

Emperor Nicholas, in reply, said that he was touched by the cordiality of his reception. In his visit to the beautiful country he had realized a wish dear to his heart, and he only regretted that the condition of her health had prevented the empress from coming with him. The manner in which he had been received in Italy, he said, was characteristic of the Italian people, whose interest are in common with those of Russia, while the participation of Italy in her recent misfortune, and the gratitude shown in Italy for what the Russians had done, were eloquent proofs of the ever-growing regard between the two nations.

The emperor expressed confidence that the Italian and Russian governments would labor efficaciously to cultivate this sympathetic bond, which would not only lead to an agreement in their reciprocal interests, but also to a general peace. He said that it was especially agreeable to him to be in Italy on the anniversary of the wedding of the Italian sovereigns, and he ended by toasting the Italian royal family and the greatness of the beautiful country whose hospitality he enjoyed.

During the dinner the band played Russian and Italian airs, and after this the king and emperor were present at a concert conducted by Mascagni.

U. S. STEEL CO. TO HELP POOR

To Buy Up Breweries Teeth to be Filled for 10 Cents

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—The United States Steel Corporation has decided to make an effort to control the drink habit of 25,000 persons in Fayette county, Pa., interested in the manufacture of coke, and will invest $10,000,000 in the project to obtain possession of the nine breweries now running in the county.

While the effort being made to merge these breweries is being conducted in the name of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company, it is understood that the Steel Corporation is back of the whole move and will try to regulate the drinking of the foreigner, it being figured that at least 3 per cent. better returns can be gleaned on the millions invested there by regulating the drink of the coke worker, permitting him to drink, but stipulating where and when he shall drink.

The sale of beer by the keg or by the barrel to the coke worker is what the corporation objects to, and this it will try to remedy.

For more than a year figures have been gathered on drinking among the coke workers, and it is found that for 72 hours after each pay day the coke worker does not run more than two-thirds capacity, and there is scarcely a pay day when hundreds of tons of coke are not ruined by inability to get proper meals to care for it in the ovens.

MEETS HIS SON

Father Never Had Seen the Boy

DARBY, Pa., Oct. 22.—Through marked resemblance in feature and mannerisms two men, who had never seen each other before, learned that they are father and son. An affectionate greeting at a hotel in Darby followed the chance meeting.

Both men were in the cafe when they were struck by the similarity in their appearance.

"Where are you from?" said the older man, who is 50 years old.

"Roanoke, Virginia," said the other, who is 25 years old.

"I left there 25 years ago," said the older man. "What is your name?"

"Daniel Roberts,"

"Why, that's my name," also. Who was your mother?"

The latter told him, and the older man clasped him by the hand, saying he was his father. He left Roanoke before the boy was born, he said, and after writing home heard his wife was dead. He remained north, never thinking that a son was born.

PROMINENT MEN

To Make Trip on the Mississippi

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 25.—Governors, senators, congressmen and foreign diplomats arrived yesterday and last night to board steamboats to make the trip on the Mississippi river to New Orleans to attend the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways association's convention. The arrivals are guests of the Business Men's League of St. Louis. The first boats to depart for New Orleans, where the convention will open on Oct. 30, were four torpedo boats which have been here since Oct. 1. They got away early yesterday and will await the fleet carrying the deep waterway delegates at Memphis.

The Cleander, the government light house tender on which President Taft will travel, was made a floating White House yesterday. Everything the president will need after he embarks this evening for a four and a half days' trip was placed on board yesterday.

To avoid any possible friction, W. K. Kavanaugh, president of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways association, announced last night that the steamer St. Paul, carrying the governors, will have the place of honor next to the Cleander from St. Louis to Helena, Ark., while the Quincy, carrying senators and congressmen, will take the St. Paul's place in the column.

On the congressional boat a legislative hall was installed so that Speaker Cannon can hold mock sessions of congress. Speaker Cannon arrived at East St. Louis last night. He will remain there until he crosses the river with President Taft today. He and Vice President Sherman, who will arrive today, will be the guests of honor at the exercises dedicatory of the new federal building in East St. Louis.

Among the surprises arranged for the waterway delegates on the trip will be a daily paper printed on one of the newspaper boats. A fast launch will be used by the reporters in gathering the news from the fleet of 22 boats.

MRS. PANKHURST

Given Great Reception in New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A reception very like that given a distinguished general as he takes a moment's respite in a prolonged campaign, was given Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the little field marshal of the militant suffragettes of England at the headquarters of the national and state women's suffrage associations on Fifth avenue yesterday. Five hundred women and a sprinkling of men crowded the rooms, shook hands with her and heard her speak briefly in response to America's welcome afterward. She was introduced individually to all by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Association of Women Suffragists assisted by Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont and other leaders of the movement in America.

"Our English motto," said Mrs. Pankhurst, "is deeds not words. We are doers—I am a doer rather than a talker."

Mrs. Pankhurst denied a statement attributed to her that "American women are not ready for the franchise."

"I never said nor thought such a thing," she said, "and I am frank to say that I believe of all women, except the English and New Zealanders, American women are best prepared for suffrage. In fact, American women are just as fit to vote as American men."

Mrs. Pankhurst will speak tonight at Carnegie hall on "Militant Suffragette Methods."

RUFUS PECKHAM

Associate Justice of Court is Dead

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Rufus W. Peckham, associate justice of the United States supreme court, died at 6:15 last night at Coxsack, his summer home at Altamont, Albany county. Death was due to a complication of diseases, heart trouble, Bright's disease and hardening of the arteries contributing. Justice Peckham had been in ill health for some time, but his condition was not considered serious until recently. After adjournment of the May term of the court he came on from Washington with Mrs. Peckham to spend the summer at Altamont, expecting to return for the beginning of the October term. A few days ago his condition became critical.

Justice Peckham was born in Albany Nov. 8, 1838. At the completion of his education at the Albany academy and Philadelphia, he studied law in the office of his father, who had as his law partner at the time Lyman Tremaine, attorney general of the state. On the elevation of his father to the supreme court bench of New York state in 1859, the same year Justice Peckham was admitted to the bar, he formed a partnership with his father's former partner, under the firm name of Tremaine & Peckham, which continued until the death of Mr. Tremaine in 1878.

Justice Peckham had been district attorney of Albany county, corporation counsel for Albany, justice of the supreme court of the state and associate judge of the court of appeals, to which he was elected in 1886. In December, 1895, while still a judge of the court of appeals he was appointed by the late President Cleveland as an assistant justice of the supreme court of the United States.

Justice Peckham was married in 1866 to Harriette M. Arnold, daughter of Dr. H. Arnold, who was a well known New York merchant and president of the Mercantile bank of New York. Two sons, Rufus W. Jr. and Henry A., died some years ago. Justice Peckham is survived by a widow and three grandchildren, two sons and daughter of Henry A. Peckham.

Justice Peckham's father was a distinguished jurist and had been district attorney of Albany county, justice of the supreme court of New York, and was at that time judge of the court of appeals of New York, when he met death in the shipwreck of the Ville de Havre, Nov. 22, 1873.

FIVE MENTIONED

TO SUCCEED THE LATE JUSTICE PECKHAM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—While none of the officials now here would discuss last night the possible success or of Justice Peckham, each declaring that it would be a violation of the proprieties, the names of Frederick N. Judson of St. Louis, ex-Secretary of War Luke E. Wright, the present secretary, J. M. Dickinson, Henry M. Hoyt, counselor for the state department, and solicitor general, and Solicitor General Bowers, have been prominently mentioned.

Mr. Judson is known to command the respect and firm friendship of President Taft. He was appointed by President Roosevelt to investigate the question of rebates on the Alchil, son, Toledo and Santa Fe railroad, with the present governor of Ohio, Judson Harmond. The findings and recommendations of the two investigators did not meet with the complete approval of President Roosevelt and the two men resigned.

Shortly before the opening of the campaign last year, Mr. Judson wrote a magazine article explaining and applauding Mr. Taft's decisions in labor cases during the time the president was on the bench. Mr. Judson is a democrat.

Counselor Hoyt, ex-Secretary Wright, Secretary Dickinson and Solicitor General Bowers have been mentioned in connection with the report, arising from the probable retirement of certain of the justices who are entitled to honorable withdrawal from active duty.

Three of the men owe their entrance into public life to President Taft, who he has frequently voiced his admiration of Mr. Hoyt's legal acumen. Although there is no rule to govern the appointment, the vacancy on the bench

Said to Have Won Decisive Victory

BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, Oct. 25.—By wireless telegraph via Colon. "The tug Blanca, which has arrived here from Greytown, brings news of the first important battle of the revolution. General Chamorro's forces fought an engagement on Friday with 1000 of President Zelaya's troops, at a point below Boca San Carlos, on the San Juan river. The revolutionists won a decisive victory, one hundred of the government troops being killed and 300 wounded. General Chamorro's losses were slight. The insurgents captured two Krupp siege guns and four hundred rifles.

This defeat for President Zelaya will doubtless have a deterrent effect on recruiting for the government service at Managua and is likely also to bring additional reinforcements to the standards of the insurgents.

The steamer Yulu, belonging to the Enery Co., also has reached here with the details of the capture of the revolutionists of Capt. Gracias Diaz. This port was really taken, not more than five or six men being killed and a small number wounded. This gives the revolutionists control of the entire Atlantic coast.

Dr. Cook added that he had decided upon several other members of the expedition though he did not care to announce their names at present. There would be only five or six in the party, he said.

Dr. Cook said that the details of the expedition would not be worked out at once because it could not start until next spring.

INDIFFERENT CITIZENS TO BLAME

With the approach of the municipal primaries and in view of the number of candidates, good, bad and indifferent, for the mayoralty and other offices, it may be well even at this early day to warn the voters that unless they get out to the primaries they may not have an opportunity of voting for the men they want on election day.

One of the most pernicious things that we have to deal with in municipal politics is not graft or dishonesty, or political chicanery, but downright indifference on the part of those citizens who consider themselves the very conservators of all that is good and honest.

They actually consider themselves too good to attend the primaries. They think it is sufficient for them to cast their votes on election day. This is one of the years in which if they fail to attend the primaries they may as well stay at home on election day.

Some people say that there are too many candidates in the field, that things will be completely spoiled. It is true there is a great superfluity of candidates, but it is the duty of the voter to inquire into the character and the capability of each and every one of these candidates and to use good judgment in picking out the man who is best qualified and most likely to give a good business administration of our affairs at city hall.

It is time that citizens should exercise their judgment and not be swayed by political shouters who are probably paid for going about to laud one candidate and to decry the other candidates.

There is a good deal of house to house canvassing in this campaign for the mayoralty. The candidates are buttonholing the voters and getting them to make promises of support at the primaries. In this way voters may be imposed upon by making early promises and finding out later that they are pledged to support the wrong man.

If the voters would only turn out in full numbers at the primaries and exercise their best judgment in the selection of a candidate for every office to be filled, then we should have satisfactory results. We have full confidence in the ability and the honesty of the people if they only turn out at the primaries to register their votes according to their conviction of right and duty.

The great trouble is that not more than half the voters take an active interest in the primaries. The cause is evidently indifference on the part of a large portion of the most intelligent citizens. These are the men to be blamed for the nomination of weak candidates. The men who are buttonholed on the street, or who are promised jobs if they support this or that candidate, are the men who make the nominations, and the other citizens who consider themselves models of patriotism and integrity by their indifference make such a state of affairs possible. The question comes, will they stick to the old habit this year, or will they come out to the primaries and at least exercise their judgment in the selection of candidates for the offices of mayor, alderman, purchasing agent and other officials?

There seems to be greater need of vigilance this year than ever before. Our municipal politics need complete renovation, as it were. The citizens are responsible for every official elected. Unless they exercise vigilance and use their votes and their influence in the primaries in the interest of the right men they are likely to regret their negligence for the next year.

THE MOTOR TO SUPERSEDE THE FIRE HORSE.

The fire departments of the country are in a state of transition from the use of horse power to that of motor power for drawing the engines and trucks. There can be no doubt whatever that the fire automobile is very much more efficient than the old style engine drawn by two or three horses. The horses must be fed and men must be employed to take care of them continually.

When taken out in response to an alarm the horses cannot make nearly as good speed as would the fire auto. When this is considered in its relation to the importance of getting to the fire in the shortest possible time, the advantage of the fire auto will be apparent. Firemen and insurance men who have had experience in such matters will testify that even five minutes may give a fire such headway that it will develop into a conflagration in spite of all the subsequent efforts of the fire department. That shows the inestimable value of speed in getting to a fire, and it argues most forcibly in favor of the gradual change of the present apparatus for motor engines, hose and other wagons. Thus it appears that the fire auto has an advantage over the fire machines drawn by horses, not only in the increased speed but in the great prevention of loss that such speed can accomplish.

It is, therefore, a wise policy to have fire motor machines supplant the horse power apparatus as soon as possible or as soon as the city can afford the expense. With a sufficient number of motor engines and other motor apparatus there would be not only an increase in speed and a diminution of loss from fire but a great reduction in the expense of the department. Fewer stations would be needed and fewer men to take care of them. The fire autos are fifty per cent. more efficient than the horse apparatus and twenty-five per cent. less expensive. Under such conditions it is plainly the duty of the fire department to make the change as soon as practicable, so that we may have a fire department that will reach the scene of the fire in the shortest possible time and that will be conducted on the most economic lines which forbid the maintenance of horses except in rare cases. The time to make the change is at hand and we can safely act upon the experience of other cities that have fully tested the merits and the expense of both systems. Every new fire auto added to the equipment of the fire department would be a step towards economy and greater efficiency, the two chief considerations in every up-to-date fire department.

PEOPLE OF NOTE.

Thomas Jefferson, son of the late Joseph Jefferson, made his first appearance in vaudeville at the Majestic theatre in Chicago recently in a condensed version of "Trip Van Winkle."

The chief rabbi of the German Jews at Jerusalem, Samuel Salant, died recently at the age of 83. He had been blind since 1888, but his activity had not been diminished.

Charles L. Mitchell, who for forty-four years has been in the United States government's service, employed in the auditor's department at the Boston Custom House, has retired from service. The retirement was entirely voluntary on the part of Mr. Mitchell, who has now reached the age of four score years. He is a Civil War veteran, earning honors in the Rebellion in the Fifty-fifth Massachusetts Volunteers in which he enlisted. In the battle of Honey Hill a cannon ball so crushed Mr. Mitchell's foot as to make amputation necessary. Mr. Mitchell and his wife live in Sherwood street, Dorchester.

Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, well past 80 years of age, president of the Grand Trunk railway system, is to resign, and it is expected that C. M. Hays, formerly identified with railroads in the United States, will succeed him. Mr. Hays was made manager of the Grand Trunk when its future seemed doubtful. He conceived the idea of extending it to the Pacific coast at Prince Rupert and Vancouver, and his persistence has resulted in such construction. He became president of the Grand Trunk system and president of the Grand Trunk Pacific, as the coast extension is known.

"This story from Galicia," says the Paris Matin, "sounds like an echo from the Dark Ages." At Liezkowez, a village near Husiatyn, a peasant committed suicide by hanging. This occurred while the district was suffering because of a severe drought, and the relief rain, which had been prayed for, was withheld, the peasants thought, because of the suicide. In the presence of the village government the citizens resolved to exhume the body and to drown it and by that means bring about the much desired rain. The grave was then uncovered and the body, however, was found to be intact. The heathenish procedure, with the result that three-quarters of the village population will now have to answer to charges founded on the desecration of the grave.

The Shaker colony at Lebanon, O., has been reduced to a dozen survivors, all well advanced in years. In time the Lebanon family will pass away, but meanwhile all efforts to induce them to sell out have failed. Cincinnati capitalists stand ready to pay a million dollars for the property, and to assure the remaining inmates a home for the remainder of their lives.

Are You One of the Always Tired Kind?

Why are you more tired in the morning than when you retired? Why are you unequal to further exertion after your dinner? You are quite played out. The truth is you are habitually overloading your stomach. Your liver is congested and your bowels clogged with foul refuse. "What shall I do?" you say. Why, take Smith's Pineapple and Butternut Pills for just one week. Take one or two each night when you retire. They will make you feel better all day long and in a week's time your tired, despondent, blue condition will have vanished. As an after-dinner pill nothing can take the place of Smith's Pineapple and Butternut Pills, for they possess not only the antiseptic and resolvent properties of pineapple, but also the laxative and tonic properties of butternut. They improve digestion, assimilation and nutrition, and stimulate a torpid liver or a sluggish condition of the bowels. Physicians use and recommend. They form no habit. You should always keep them on hand. These Little Vegetable Pills will ward off many ills.

The lake of 1,000 acres of the Shaker colony in the state, with its own plant, a power house and a general building, was after the modern hotel in which the dwellers of the colony live. The land is rated at not less than $500,000, and the improvements and other accumulations of the Shakers bring the total assets of the colony up to $1,000,000.

There is now a school for waiters at the University of Chicago. Forty young men who combine a deep knowledge of psychology and ethics with a gift for breaking dishes and spilling soup on professors are being taught the gentle art of serving food in an unobtrusive manner. At Hutchinson Hall, the university's common, the laboratory method has been chosen to start the new college. Actual experience three times a day will fit the Midway youths for their new activities and prepare them for any exigency that may arise after the completion of their education. Thomas L. Barrell, manager of the common, is dean of the latest university department. Barrell's venture was launched not without considerable time and pains, and a booklet containing exhaustive instructions for the perfect waiter, even down to the left-over butter, has been issued.

EDUCATION.

If you keep your eyes wide open, as you wander on through life, You learn a little something every day.

If you are fortunately married to the right kind of a wife, You learn a little something every day.

If a dear friend borrows money and doesn't pay it back, If the horse you didn't bet on is a winner on the track, and you haven't got the knack, You learn a little something every day.

If you trust the casual stranger, and tell him all you know, You learn a little something every day.

If you think because you hear things that they surely must be so, You learn a little something every day.

If you try to tell a story with no thought of being brief, If you're sure your friend will help you, if you chance to come to grief, You learn a little something every day.

If you think they all will rush to be the first to bring relief, You learn a little something every day.

If you're just a bit conceited and you feel that you are it, You learn a little something every day.

If you try to be a leader, and you don't know when to quit, You learn a little something every day.

In short, your bumps may teach you, and they will, if you are wise, And if you'll pay attention when friendly folks advise, Or just try introspection, and learn to use your eyes, You'll learn a little something every day.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The dramatic intensity of the third act of "The House of a Thousand Candles" is almost without parallel in modern plays. Its tempestuous scenes occurring in the wildest of hurricanes sweep all before it and culminate with a climax that simply means curtain call after curtain call. "The House of a Thousand Candles" which will be given at the Opera House this evening is a drama that unfolds a story of rare stage characters in equally rare surroundings. There is a stamp of novelty on each scene and incident. Its weirdness simply compels attention, while its mystery lightened by laughter is of that kind that has served to carry the production to the topmost wave of success. Its presentation will be marked with every care to detail and each of the four acts will be mounted on fire. The company including William Webb and Hortense Clement is said to be fully capable of handling the exacting scenes in a most satisfactory manner.

"THE WHITE SQUAW" D. M. Clarke, in writing "The White Squaw," which will be presented at the Opera House on Friday and Saturday, has endeavored to give the public something new and worth while. The interest starts at the beginning and does not drop until the end, and the story is told in a way that is a part of it, not a lot of horse play just to fill in. Don't miss the chance of having a real hearty laugh, and just a little tear by way of variation.

Nearly everyone has read "St. Elmo," Mrs. August Evans Wilson's favorite novel, and beginning with Monday, Nov. 1st, two performances at the Opera House will be given Vaughan Glaser's production of this famous and very successful work. Nothing has been left undone to make this one of the real attractions of the season, which, together for opportunity for scenic display and histrionic ability, both of which opportunities have been taken the utmost advantage of, the probabilities are that "St. Elmo" will win new laurels here.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Miss Beatrice Ingram and an excellent company will appear as the headline feature at Hathaway's theatre this week. The vitally interesting one-act play called "The Duchess" is the offering of Miss Ingram and her associates, and it tells the engaging story of a girl cashier in a big department store, who is given a sum of money with which to pay a bill. As the place is closed, she carries the money home, and the next morning receives a letter stating that she has been left a million dollars. Her rejoicing is interrupted by the appearance of the store detective, who demands that she go to headquarters and account for the money given to her, part of which she has spent. She tells him that she is an heiress, but collapses in dismay when he informs her that it was only an April fool joke. But everything ends well, even after that.

Burt Sheppard, an Australian cowboy and whip manipulator, is scheduled to give one of his hair raising exhibitions. Picking hairpins from a woman's hair and snuffing out candles are two of his feats.

Gelger and Walters, Italian musicians, present the life of a street organ grinder and his wife. Mr. Gelger is an excellent violinist. The Portano brothers, comedy acrobats, are good athletes. Swan and O'Day are a gifted pair of blackface comedians. One of the team is a remarkably good dancer. Moore and Young, a duo of magnetic magicians, sing and dance agreeably. Miss Helen Pingree, who headed a stock company at Lakeview a year ago, will appear in the bright playlet, "The Girl and the Coach." The motion pictures are all new.

STAR THEATRE

Vaudeville of unusual excellence was presented today at the Star theatre in conjunction with the big regular show. The admission of five cents, which includes a seat, still prevails at the theatre. Pictures are changed every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. Now vaudeville any songs are the offerings every Thursday.

THEATRE VOYONS

There is perhaps no more popular type of picture shown the motion picture patrons than those dealing with western life, and the most attractive features are the sensational chases and riding of the cowboy and Indian actors. In "The Cowboy Millionaire" to be shown today at the Theatre Voyons this style of picture is shown at its best. There are other pictures on the bill, all good, and the usual new illustrated songs are well sung.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

When competition becomes strong then the man who spends the money gets the benefit. This is true of theatres as well as other lines of business, and the show that defies all competition is to be found at the Academy of Music. Heading the vaudeville for the first three days are "Beautin and Tison" in the musical farce, Kipp and Kippy present a comedy juggling act that is very amusing. New illustrated songs, Travellettes, and three reels of the latest moving pictures complete the program.

CREW RESCUED

Capt. Was Three Times Washed From Wreck

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—After having spent the entire night clinging to the bottom of the overturned schooner Scarborough, Capt. William H. Reynolds and the two members of his crew were brought into port today on board the steamer Admiral Dewey, from Port Antonio. Captain Reynolds three times during the night was washed from the wreck of his vessel, and it was only with the greatest difficulty that his companions succeeded in getting him back to her. When he was rescued yesterday morning he was badly bruised and almost frozen cold. He is now under the care of a physician aboard the Dewey.

The Scarborough was bound from Chincoteague, Va., for Philadelphia, in ballast. During the storm yesterday the main boom of the Scarborough broke and the vessel's head was thrown to the heavy seas.

She rapidly filled and afterward turned turtle. Considerable difficulty was experienced by the Dewey in launching a boat for the rescue of the imperilled men.

OF PAWTUCKETVILLE CHURCH YESTERDAY

Interesting Program Carried Out Last Night by Efficient Committee. Assisted by Pastor

The Pawtucket Congregational church was the scene of an anniversary service last night. It was about a quarter of a century ago that the Christian Endeavor society of the church was founded and the meeting last night was a very pleasant one.

REV. F. G. ALGER, Pastor Pawtucket Church.

The chapel was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and chrysanthemums.

The services opened with singing by the congregation of Endeavor hymns and there was an anthem by the choir. Mrs. C. G. Coburn read a paper giving the history of the society. A paper written by Mrs. Charles

Miles and read by Mr. Miles described the progress of the society during the pastorate of the Rev. Dr. Leland, Rev. W. G. Poor and Rev. E. R. Smith, and Secretary William Kinghorn told in an interesting manner of the activities of the present society.

A tribute to the members of the society who have passed into the higher life was read by Mr. Henry Newhall. One of the interesting features of the program was a letter from "Father" Clark, the founder of the C. E. society, full of congratulations for the past and encouragement for the future. There were letters from Rev. Mr. Wilcox and others who had been identified in the work, and remarks from the past presidents who were present. Rev. F. G. Alger told of the work of the Junior C. E., and spoke of its great importance to the church. President Spooner of the local C. E. union also spoke briefly.

To lend variety to the music, Miss Belle Hutchinson sang a solo, and Miss Florence Sturtevant and Miss Helen Bellamy a duet.

The committees in charge were as follows: Program, James Grant, Mrs. C. G. Coburn and the pastor; music, S. R. Froot, Misses Helen Bellamy, Florence Sturtevant and Cora Bartlett; invitation, Misses Louisa Blanchard, Elsie Cameron, Ida Cummings, Helen Mansfield; decorations, Miss Horatia Tabor, Cora Cummings, Elsie Cameron, Ida Silcox, Helene River, Messrs. J. R. V. Coburn, George Axon; ushers, Walter Ellis, George Dennis, Charles Miles and Leander Conley.

FIVE RETURNED

19 BOYS ESCAPED FROM STATE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

SHIRLEY, Oct. 25.—Nineteen inmates of the state industrial school for boys, which was opened here a few weeks ago, yesterday afternoon left the place and ran away.

Five of the boys came back early in the evening, but the balance are still at large, and it is believed by Supt. Taylor that they have jumped a freight and are on their way west.

The Gardner and Fitchburg police have been notified, and teachers from the school have gone to those towns in order to identify the boys should they appear.

When the school opened it had about 75 boys. The school was planned to care for boys too old to be sent to the Lyman school, and yet whom it was not considered advisable to send to the Concord reformatory.

PRESIDENT TAFT

Is on Last Leg of His Journey Around the Country

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 25.—President Taft left Texas yesterday afternoon after spending nine days in that state and was speeding last night toward St. Louis.

With a formal breakfast, a speech in the St. Louis Auditorium, a luncheon and the dedication of a government building in East St. Louis before him, the president will have every moment of his time occupied up to this evening. Then, on the steamer Ojander, he will lead a procession of boats containing governors, senators and representatives down the Mississippi river to New Orleans to attend the convention of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway association.

The river trip will mark one of the final stages of Mr. Taft's travels. When he reaches St. Louis today he will have covered 9760 of the 12,000 miles of his trip. The river journey will consume 1166 more, and when the president leaves New Orleans on November 1, he will be within easy distance of home. He is scheduled to reach Washington the night of November 10.

In reality, however, the president's travels in 1908 will not end until November 21, for he has engagements at Middletown, Conn., on November 12; at Haven, on November 15; at Norfolk, Va., on November 18, and at Hampton, Va., on November 20.

Mr. Taft's voice yesterday morning showed no improvement and after he had made a few short addresses in Texas and Arkansas, it was almost gone.

The president's physician is at work on the executive's vocal chords in the hope of having them in some sort of shape for the auditorium speech in St. Louis today. There is little hope for permanent improvement, however, short of three or four days.

The president's train had a mystery yesterday. Railroad detectives, special policemen and secret service officers to the contrary, notwithstanding, somebody stole the president's opossum. It happened at Dallas, where there were scores of policemen, special officers, deputies and militiamen on guard. A fat opossum was put aboard the train Saturday at Hempstead, Texas. It occupied half of an orange crate, while in the other half was a "mess" of sweet potatoes. Intended to be served with the beast. The opossum and potatoes were safely stowed away in the car. With memories of the opossum dinner in Atlanta last winter still fresh in mind, the president suggested this morning that the Hempstead gift should have the place of honor among the vanda on the Mayflower last evening.

Then came the news that the opossum had disappeared. The man in charge of the baggage car set the crate on the platform Saturday night at Dallas, and despite the fact that the train was surrounded by bluecoats throughout the darkness, the morning men's news revealed that the opossum apparently arrived and was taking the sweet potatoes with it. News of the president's desires and the world's love at Dallas traveled ahead of the train and when it arrived at Long View at noon yesterday, another opossum all dressed for cooking was put on board. Consequently, the opossum dinner on the Mayflower was not postponed.

The president left Dallas at 8 o'clock yesterday morning and during the day stopped at Forney, Terrell, Wills Point, Long View and Marshall before crossing the Texas line at Texarkana, where the train was halted, partly in Texas and partly in Arkansas. A delegation of sixty citizens of Arkansas, headed by Governor Donaghey, General Powell Clayton, United States Senator Clark and others, met the president at Texarkana and had their two cars attached to his train.

There was an immense crowd at Texarkana but the president's voice had so far failed that he could only say a word or two in appreciation of his welcome.

The train arrived in Little Rock shortly after 8 o'clock and left for St. Louis 10 minutes later. His voice had somewhat improved and he spoke briefly at Little Rock.

At Terrell, Texas, yesterday morning, the president spoke to a throng of eager Sunday school pupils and delivered something like his usual Sunday sermon, in which he said that in four years he would "step down and out."

REV. MR. JEFFRIES SAYS JIM WILL NEVER FIGHT AGAIN

CANONSBURG, Pa., Oct. 25.—That James J. Jeffries and Jack Johnson will never meet in the fist arena is indicated by an interview made public yesterday, between the Rev. J. M. Work, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church of this city and Pres. J. P. Jeffries, father of the undefeated heavyweight pugilist, who is visiting friends here.

Mr. Jeffries, who is a minister of the Presbyterian church and whose home is in Los Angeles, Calif., when asked whether his son would fight Johnson in the near future, is said to have replied:

"My son will never fight a negro and I don't think he will fight any other person again during his life."

JUSTICE GAYNOR Denounces the Attack on Women

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—William J. Gaynor, democratic nominee for mayor of New York, granted an interview at the request of several reporters of New York papers last night, in which he attacked the writer of an article in the current issue of McClure's Magazine, who charged that traffic in girls is fostered under Tammany rule. Characterizing the article as "miserable trash," Judge Gaynor said among other things:

"Now, none of your newspapers has my permission to use this without saying you asked for it. I am not volunteering it. You asked for it. This writer is a mere political and racial bigot. It sticks out in almost every line. He has the traits of ignorance, superficiality, recklessness and an irresistible propensity to falsify which are the characteristics of the Hearst writers and which people have got onto at last. What a grand article could be written on the subject instead of this miserable trash."

"He is just a vulgar, bigoted fellow, trying to make political capital. The fact is, as everyone knows who has read or traveled, that the city of New York is the most corrupt of the large cities of the world, with the lowest percentage of this vice of any of them. And yet there are impure minded, political and race bigots whose delight is to lie about and slander New York in this respect and in others. They are a detestable lot, and I hope for an opportunity to make them shut up or get out."

"We all look with profound reverence upon the great body of our citizens, Jewish, Protestant and Catholic, who are constantly working for the moral welfare and uplifting of our people, calling in the assistance of the civil government to aid them when necessary, and who gradually and steadily and constantly do so much good. But these few detestable sensationalists, notoriously sneakers and political and racial bigots are deserving only of contempt. This writer shows the mean bigotry that fills his soul. He does not scruple to lay the evils he mentions to the Jews as a race. I believe that I am as familiar with the inbred and innate virtuous womanhood of the Jewish race here as is any man, and I say that this man is maliciously untruthful of Jewish womanhood and manhood."

"He also casts the same reproach on the Irish race here. Nor does the purity of the women of the pure people need any defense against bigots. Nor do Irishmen anywhere in the world need to be defended from the charge of being in a traffic of women. Out with the scoundrels who make such a charge."

Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall, who dismissed the charges as ridiculous Saturday, came with a statement last night in which he cites a few "historical facts," arguing in effect that if such conditions existed, responsible officials elected by the people should be held to account.

"DR." WM. KEY One of Richest Colored Men is Dead

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—"Doctor" William Key, one of the best known and one of the richest colored men in the United States, is dead, of heart disease at his home in Shelbyville, Tenn. The news was received in Boston yesterday.

The "doctor" was the original owner and trainer of the famous trained horse, Beautiful Jim Key, the children's pet, who toured the country giving remarkable exhibitions of sagacity in performing arithmetical problems, spelling, making change with a cash register, etc., and who was seen in Boston by thousands at the annual food and mechanics' fairs, until about five years ago. The horse is still living, though he is 22 years old.

William Key, who was 75 years old, was born a slave in Tennessee, on the estate of a family of Keys, said to have been related to the famous author of the "Star Spangled Banner," Philip Barton Key.

WAS MURDERED Autopsy on Body of Woman

SHELTON, Conn., Oct. 25.—That the woman, whose partly nude body was found lying half submerged in a brook on White Hill Saturday by two men out hunting, was murdered, was brought out at an autopsy performed last night. Though no official finding was made, it is understood that the woman was strangled to death and probably the body placed in the brook to cover the crime. No identification has been made.

UNION CLERKS To Vote on Question of Strike

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—The 3000 union clerks at 600 stations and mechanical shops of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad Co. will vote this week as to whether or not they will strike because of the alleged flat refusal of the management of the road to grant remissions which have been submitted by the Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks.

The clerks demand in general a nine hour work day; 10 per cent. increase in wages, with a minimum of $2 wage per day; pay for overtime work; right of appeal in case of unjust discharge; proper classification of clerks; seniority promotion and discharge of obligation to pay premiums on bonds.

EXTRA DARING BREAKS

Offices of Three Local Dentists Were Entered

Three of the most daring breaks ever attempted in this city were made yesterday afternoon in broad daylight in the heart of the city. In two of the places entered the burglar made small hauls, while in the third he got nothing, evidently having been frightened away before he was able to take a tray full of gold which was directly in front of him. In his hurry he left an umbrella behind him.

All of the places entered were dentists' offices. Snyder Brothers at 118 Merrimack street, Dr. John T. Donohue at the Runels building and that of Dr. George H. Jennison at 128 Merrimack street.

A few weeks ago similar breaks were made in Springfield, but the burglar managed to get out of the city before the police got hold of him.

Whether there was one or more men is not known, for the breaks in the offices of the Drs. Snyder and Jennison were not discovered until this morning. In the case of the entrance to Dr. Donohue's office the burglar was seen by Dr. A. E. Bertrand, who occupies an office on the same floor, but the latter did not pay any attention to the man as he thought he was one of Dr. Donohue's patients.

Police Notified

The local police were notified and are now working on the case and are in hopes that they will have the burglar or burglars in the toils within a short time.

Daylight Breaks

All three of the breaks were made in the afternoon and while it is not known which office was entered first it is said that the last break was made at Dr. Donohue's place.

Forced the Door

The Drs. Snyder occupy offices on the second floor of the building numbered 118 Merrimack street, almost opposite John street. There are two entrances, one door leading into the waiting room, while the other leads into a private office.

The burglar used a chisel or other sharp instrument to pry over a strip of board on the door casing, which covers the lock. It is evident that he found it a difficult job to get at the lock and the door leading into the private office and then turned his attention to the lock on the door leading into the main room, for he succeeded in making an entrance that way.

He ransacked the place, but as far as Dr. Snyder now knows, the man got nothing but a number of postage stamps and about $2 in change which was in a desk.

Break at Dr. Jennison's

It is not known how the burglar got into Dr. Jennison's office. He occupies rooms on the second floor of the Massene building in Merrimack street, and when he arrived at the office found that the door leading into his private office was open and the key on the inside. He claims that when he left the place the door was locked. There is nothing that would indicate that a chisel or other sharp instrument had been used to pry open the door. It may be that a wife or long, narrow pliers might have been used to turn the key in the lock.

In this office the burglar broke open the desk and pulled out drawers here and there and took all the gold that he could find. When a representative of The Sun called on the doctor the latter said that he was unable to state just how much had been taken, but at that time it that he found missing was his gold.

The Burglar Loses

It was about 4.30 o'clock in the afternoon that the burglar entered Dr. Donohue's office, which is located on the second floor of the Runels building.

The chasing on the side of the door frame was forced open and then a thin, flat piece of steel was used to press back the lock. Evidently fearful that a person passing through the hall might be attracted by the casing it having sprung out after he opened the door he pressed the casing back into place.

Flinding the key to the doctor's desk on top of the desk he opened it and if he had not been frightened away would have made a rich haul, for in a tray in the desk was a collection of gold crowns, pieces of gold and other valuables.

While the man was in the office Dr. Bertrand came through the hall and tried the door. He found it locked and had no sooner turned away to go back to his office, however, than the door opened and a man came through the door and went down the rear stairs leading into Bridge street.

Dr. Bertrand then entered Dr. Donohue's office and finding that the latter was not there became suspicious and called him on the telephone.

Dr. Donohue hurried down to his office, but an examination of the place showed that nothing had been taken.

Left His Umbrella

An amusing incident in connection with the break at Dr. Donohue's office is the fact that the burglar left in such a hurry that he forgot to take his umbrella and the doctor feels that even if the umbrella is a cheap one he got more out of the break than did the burglar.

A Meagre Description

Inasmuch as Dr. Bertrand did not pay particular attention to the man whom he saw coming out of the office, he was able to give but a meagre description of the thief. He says that he was a medium sized man, about 5 feet 6 inches, rather stout and wore a dark coat and hat.

Preached at Dedication Service Yesterday

At the dedication of St. Patrick's church in Cambridge yesterday Rev. John O'Brien of St. Peter's church, Boston, preached the sermon at the Mass, while His Grace Archbishop O'Connell spoke at the services in the afternoon. Rev. Fr. O'Brien preached an eloquent sermon in which he compared the Catholic church to the Catholic family, the Christian temple, as he said, being the house of the Christian family. The dedication of a Christian family is virtue, industry, honesty, a deep religious spirit and true love of God and neighbor. Justice, he said, is the foundation of kingdom and states as well as families. Labor is enjoined by God and is a blessing to all. In all beautiful churches the chaste prevails and so the home luxury and dissipation are the ruinous influences.

MUELLER'S STORY

May Reveal Tale of Wholesale Marriage and Murder

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Admissions made today under the severe cross-questioning of the police by Otto Mueller, the Astoria, L. I. piano maker, arrested last night on the belief that he may know something of the strange circumstances surrounding the death of Anna Lattier, the young German woman whose skeleton was recently found at Islip, are expected by the police to bring to light a tale of wholesale marriage and murder, such as only finds a parallel in the famous story of Bluebeard.

Mueller was arraigned today under the name of Frederick Gebhardt on the formal charge of bigamy but the chain of circumstantial evidence is drawn so tightly about him that the police expect to lodge a more serious charge against him.

One of the notes is addressed to the Long Island City bank and reads as follows: "Please pay my account to my wife, Anna Gebhardt. I am legally dead."

Mueller admitted that he married Miss Lattier in February, 1908, but said that he deserted her three months later and does not know what became of her thereafter.

Anneller was given a grilling cross examination by the police and though he nearly collapsed several times he refused to answer any questions other than to admit that he had married Anna Lattier and the woman with whom he was at present living.

It is planned to turn the prisoner over to the Suffolk county authorities late today that he may be used as a witness in the inquest over Anna Lattier at Islip tomorrow.

THAT BEAM HOUSE

Is Likely to Bother the Board of Health

Just as soon as the American Hide and Leather company has perfected its plans for a new beam house the plans will be submitted to the board of health and a hearing on the question of location will be held. It will be remembered that Fourth Vice President C. P. Hall appeared before the board of health on Friday of last week and the board members are disposed to think Mr. Hall was very fair in the matter. He admitted that the old beam house in Howe street had been a menace to public health, but allowed that a new beam house with modern appliances for the elimination of obnoxious odors could be located in the southerly part of Perry street without giving offense.

Persons owning property and living in Perry street or vicinity do not care to take it for granted that a modern beam house would not be offensive and dangerous, and they call attention to the fact that the expert whom the American Hide and Leather company has in testing in its behalf declared that the beam houses in Woburn smelled stronger than did the old Howe street beam house, yet he said that the Woburn houses were fitted with modern appliances for the elimination of odors.

The people in Perry street and others believe that some such place as South Lowell would be the proper location for a beam house, and whatever happens it is up to the board of health to see to it that the beam house will be located and so arranged as not to occasion any fraction of the nuisance occasioned by the old beam house in Howe street.

BIG BOND ISSUE

Does Not Mean Opening of "Pork Barrel", Says Pres. Taft

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—On the eve of beginning his journey down the Mississippi river to New Orleans as a part of the exploitation for a system of deep inland waterways, President Taft declared in an address at the Coliseum here today that his stand in favor of the issue of bonds for carrying out approved waterway improvement projects does not mean the opening of a "pork barrel" to send back any particular member of congress or to make any particular section of the country prosperous during the expenditure of the money.

Mr. Taft said he opposed any such general bond issue of 500,000,000 of dollars or a billion dollars for waterways improvement, the money to be put up and parcelled out to different sections. His idea of a bond issue is to secure sufficient money to carry out quickly such projects as may be approved after careful investigation and which can prove their worth to the entire country.

The president arrived here at 7.21 a. m. and was the guest of the Commercial club at breakfast. He made his principal speech at the Coliseum where he spoke during the campaign of last fall before the big building had a roof. The president met Postmaster General Hitchcock and Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel here today and they will accompany him down the river when he starts at 5 p. m.

President Taft received a telegram from Mrs. Peckham today announcing the death of her husband, Justice Peckham of the supreme court, and he sent a message of condolence in reply. Mr. Taft has given no thought to a successor.

The president was introduced at the Coliseum by Governor Bradley. His voice was very husky but with the close attention given to him by the great audience managed to make himself heard throughout the structure. The president found a quick response from his audience when he began by saying:

"We are on the eve of a great journey down the Mississippi and cursed be he who calls it a 'pork barrel'."

The journey as Gov. Bradley has said, has reference to the problem of transportation and railroads and waterways. It is expected, however, only a few more days will elapse before the government of Theodore Roosevelt and properly called by him the conservation of national resources."

Mr. Roosevelt's name called out long cheering.

Mr. Taft briefly discussed the subject of conservation and said the people of the Mississippi valley were particularly interested in the improvement of inland waterways and the preservation of the forests as a means of putting an end to the floods which were carrying so many of the farms in Missouri, Iowa and other states down to the delta of the Mississippi.

The president said that the government of the United States had been exceedingly generous in parting with its lands in the past and that the time had come for the adoption of a new policy in that regard. He spoke of the necessity for new legislation regarding water power sites to prevent monopolies from gaining control. Ending to the subject of waterways, Mr. Taft declared that while he did not wish to criticize there was no denying the fact that the improvement of waterways had been carried forward in a haphazard fashion and that a new method should be adopted.

"And right here," added the president, "I want to clear away a supposition which I am afraid has lodged in many minds. The projects for irrigation and for the improvement of waterways in the future are to be for the purpose of distributing 'pork' to every part of the country. Every measure is to be adopted on the ground that it will be useful to the whole country. They are not to be adopted for sending certain congressmen back to Washington or for making certain parts of the country profitable during the expenditure of the money."

"We should take up every comprehensive project on its merits and determine whether the country where the project is to be carried out has so far developed as to justify the enormous expenditure of money and if it will be useful when done. When he decides in favor of a project I believe in issuing bonds to carry it to completion as rapidly as possible. It has been proposed that we issue bonds for $500,000,000 or $1,000,000,000 and cut it up and parcel the money out in this and that section of the country. I am opposed to such a proposition because it not only smells of the 'pork barrel', but would be a 'pork barrel'."

Speaker Cannon of the house of representatives, who some time ago declared he was opposed to any issue of bonds to improve the waterways, sat just beside the president while he was speaking.

A $75,000 OFFER

For the Jeffries-Johnson Bout

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Bids for the proposed heavyweight championship battle between Jim Jeffries and Jack Johnson are beginning to loom up in large numbers. An offer of a $75,000 cash purse was made today by a representative of Joseph Miller, head of the 101 ranch at Bliss, Okla.

Mr. Miller stands ready to meet competitors for the fight and has already placed the matter before Gov. Charles N. Haskell of Oklahoma with a view of obtaining his consent for the battle. Besides the $75,000 offer of Sid Heister, manager of the Mission A. C. of San Francisco, which was received last night, bids from Jack Gleason and other well known Pacific coast promoters have been received.

Jim Coffroth, the San Francisco fight promoter, is expected here today with a big bid for the fight. Jeff's manager said today that any offers for the fight were too premature at this time to be considered seriously.

"What Jeff wants first is to get the articles signed with Johnson," said Barker.

"It is up to Johnson to make good and we are ready and willing to meet him and sign articles. Jeff won't stop on any conventionalities and means business."

Sum said no word has been received so far directly from Johnson or his representatives.

SOLICITOR EAST

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—"Even if I am never on time again I shall be back in my office in New York practicing my profession at 9 o'clock sharp next Monday morning," said Acting Sec'y of Commerce and Labor McHarg today. Mr. McHarg has been trying to get away from the assistant secretaryship for some weeks but has postponed his retirement because of the delay in the selection of his successor. His resignation was finally submitted to take effect the last of this month. Sec. Nagel is with the presidential party and was expected to confer with the president regarding the appointment of an assistant secretary. Pending such appointment and qualification for office, Solicitor East of the department will be acting secretary.

CHARGES FILED

AGAINST THE H. C. ROE OYSTER COMPANY

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 25.—The Pawtuxet Free Fishermen's Association in charges filed today against the H. C. Roe Oyster Co. of New Haven, Conn., claim that Bogardus Hyde, one of their members nearly lost his life last week when he was intentionally run down by one of the steamboats of the Roe fleet in Greenwich bay. The free fishermen also charge that the Roe company violate the law by monopolizing the shell fish industry about the Warwick shore.

Both complaints were filed by Harry W. Kimball of Pawtuxet, secretary of the Free Fishermen's Association. The first one was lodged with the United States steamboat inspectors. Bogardus Hyde says that he was seated alone in his little dory inside the first line provided by the law, quietly eating his dinner when one of the large rowboats approached and ordered him away. He yelled back his refusal, he says, and then the captain of the other craft ordered full steam ahead in an attempt to run him down. Hyde claims he leaped to his feet just in time to grasp the bow of the big boat and shoved his own frail craft to one side.

The other charge was filed with the shellfish commissioners at the state house. In it the free fishermen claim that section 12 of chapter 533 of the Rhode Island general laws, which reads from Warwick neck light to the back point in Potowomut neck inside of which the free fishermen are allowed to fish. The Pawtuxet fishermen say that the Roe fleet has been violating this law by planting stakes west of the line. They ask that the inspectors ordered off the free fishermen grounds at once.

The details of the case will be given out until the charges are begun, say the fishermen.

WOMEN IN RIOT

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Oct. 25.—Several hundred women took part in rioting today outside the cigar factory of Hirsch, Horn & Co., where a strike is in progress, and three women were knocked down and roughly handled before the police could quell the disturbance. Nearly 500 young women, mostly foreigners, quit work Saturday when their demand for an increase was refused.

A number of American girls declined to join the strikers and when these girls attempted to enter the factory today they were attacked by the strikers who outnumbered them 3 to 1. The women injured were taken to their homes.

A JAIL SENTENCE

For Man Who Admitted Having Stolen Two Lanterns

John Couture appeared before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on a complaint charging him with illegally removing baggage from the house of Maxine Charland, while the latter had a lien on it for non-payment of board and room. Couture entered a plea of not guilty and after the testimony had been given the court found the defendant not guilty and ordered his discharge.

Charland testified that Couture owed him $4 for one week's board. He was unable to state, however, whether or not Couture had clothes other than those which he wore.

Couture said that he kept one suit of clothes in the back shop where he worked and the only other clothing he had was the suit he wore.

He said that he works for a Mr. Maltoux who keeps a bake shop and that Charland owed Maltoux money and the latter had made an arrangement whereby he was to pay his board to Mr. Maltoux until the above mentioned bill had been settled.

The fact that there was nothing to show that the defendant had removed any baggage left nothing for the court to do but to discharge the man.

Larceny Case

Victor Michel pleaded not guilty to a complaint charging him with the larceny of $10 in money from Calixte Provencier, of Tewksbury. Inasmuch as one of the witnesses for the government was not present the case was continued till tomorrow.

Stole Lanterns

John McLaughlin pleaded guilty to the larceny of two lanterns, the property of Royal W. Dix. He pleaded to be fined instead of sentenced to jail, stating that he had a family dependent upon him and would be able to pay the fine.

IRVING BANCROFT

To Join Boston Opera Company Orchestra

The many friends of Mr. Irving J. Bancroft, of Lowell and Dracut, will be pleased to learn that he has secured a position as second violin with the celebrated Boston Opera company orchestra, about to open in Boston in connection with the new opera company. Mr. Bancroft was one of a large number who applied for the position and passed with flying colors a rigid examination as to his ability as a performer on the violin; and his knowledge of music generally. He is now rehearsing and has signed a contract for the season. Although only 24 years of age Mr. Bancroft is one of the most promising violinists who ever left Lowell. When only a small boy he took lessons on the violin from Mrs. L. A. Derby of this city and took from Joseph O'Dwyer, also of Lowell. His next instructor was Prof. Emile Lavigne and while a pupil of Prof. Lavigne he frequently substituted for his tutor in orchestra work. For the past two years he has been a member of the Festival Orchestra of Boston, which toured the country giving concerts. At present he is studying with Carl Fischer of Boston. Mr. Bancroft is the son of Edward G. Bancroft, the well-known conductor on the Varnum avenue-High street line.

MR. IRVING J. BANCROFT.

C. S. EXAMINATION

FOR INSPECTORS OF MEATS AND PROVISIONS

If you want to try for the position of inspector of meats and provisions in Lowell prepare yourself for an examination to be held Nov. 1.

A requisition has been received by the civil service commission to fill one vacancy in the position of inspector of meats and provisions under the board of health, at a salary of $3 a day.

The examination will embrace the following subjects: Letter writing, spelling, training and experience, handwriting, copying printed matter, arithmetic and knowledge of meats and provisions.

Special consideration will be given to the subject of training and experience. From the eligible list established by this examination, names will be certified to fill the position. Only citizens of the United States who have been residents of Massachusetts for the past year, and of Lowell for the six months last past have a right to apply.

BIG ATTENDANCE

Evening High School Breaks Record

The actual attendance at the evening sessions of the Lowell high school, reached 919 last week, against 650 when Principal Thomas Robbins took the position two years ago. This great gain is the result principally of the fact that the Lowell Evening High school is one of the leading institutions of its kind, if not the leader, in New England, and the gain must certainly reflect credit upon the principal, Mr. Robbins, especially when there was a controversy, confined to the republican side of the house, over his position a year ago.

In order to appreciate the success of the high school evening sessions, one must consider the fact that there is no law that compels anyone to attend the evening high school. Every pupil goes there of his or her own free will and they are all men and women who realize the necessity of an education. They co-operate with the teachers in every respect and hence the great success of the school. Principal Robbins is most enthusiastic over the prospects this year and ventures the prediction that this will be the banner year of the institution up to date.

HAND INJURED

MAN WAS TREATED AT ST. JOHN'S HOSPITAL

Melton had not seen his brother for 35 years and knew nothing of his position as a divine here.

COL. ROOSEVELT SIR THOMAS LIPTON

Hunts in District Where Lions Killed 100 Natives

NAIROBI, British East Africa, Sept. 25.—Col. Roosevelt, accompanied by his son Kermit, Edmund Heller and Lt. J. Cunningham, left for Nyeri early in August to get a bull, a cow and a calf elephant. Although better elephants are obtainable in the Nile country of Uganda and its immediate neighborhood, Col. Roosevelt was particularly anxious to get an elephant in the Kenya district, so that Heller could have a better chance in the cooler climate there of saving the skins in good condition.

Major Mearns and Loring were to come into Nairobi and send off their bird and mammal collections to New York and then to fit out their caravan for their expedition to the snow line of Mt. Kenya (19,200 feet). Their intention was to take their loads out to Fort Hall in ox wagons and then pick up their Kikuyu porters there.

Major Mearns and Loring started on the 4th and 5th of September, respectively, and made their first camp at Kumbi ranch which belongs to Hugh H. Heatley, and is where the expedition camped when after buffalo. They were then to march by easy stages to Fort Hall (native name Marakani).

The march is about 64 miles and the road is good all the way.

Major Mearns and Loring will go to the foot of Mt. Kenya collecting birds, mammals and fauna, and will then climb the mountain as far as the snow line is possible. This will be a light task. At the snow line lies the remains of an old bull buffalo, in a very good state of preservation, except that his horns have suffered from the contraction and expansion caused by the frequent changes in the temperature. No doubt Major Mearns will have something to say about this after he has seen it.

Meanwhile, Col. Roosevelt has not been idle and he has got a fine bull elephant, with tusks weighing about 80 pounds each, which is a very good sized one for the Kenya district.

After getting his elephant, Col. Roosevelt went toward Mweru, where there is good game shooting. A sportsman recently came into Nyeri from Mweru, which is less than a day's march from Nyeri, who had encountered a charging man-eater lion, charging rhino and an elephant, all within 200 paces of each other. He shot the lion dead with his first shot, and then the rhino charged and fell dead, to a good shot. Then, to his amazement, a bull elephant appeared and he shot it dead. As the three beasts lay dead there was not more than 20 paces between them. The sportsman's nerves suffered to such an extent that he left them as they lay and hastened to the government station at Nyeri, where he arrived in almost a state of collapse and told his story, which was treated as a fairy tale by the district commissioner. However, the sportsman asked the district commissioner to come out next day and verify his story. They started out and later came to the place where the official found the bodies of all three beasts lying as described.

On the Mweru to Nyeri road man-eating lions have been playing havoc with the government's safaris and traders' safaris, so that at last the government was forced to close the road to traffic. It is estimated that some hundred native men, women and children have lost their lives to these man-eaters, and if Col. Roosevelt kills them he will have done the community special service.

RICHARD CROKER WATER SCARCE

Not Coming Home to Aid Morse Supply Not Sufficient to Meet Demand

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Richard Croker's unexpectedly early trip to the United States this fall is not in response to a call for aid from Charles W. Morse, according to Mr. Morse himself. The former banker, a relative but hopeful prisoner in the Tombs, today was asked if it were true that Mr. Croker, as had been stated, was hurrying to this country to aid him in his fight for release.

"Not a word of truth in it," was the note which Mr. Morse penciled on the bottom of the written query. It has been asserted that Mr. Croker was largely instrumental in the securing of bail under which the banker was released from the Tombs while his former appeal was pending and that Croker's aid was again asked. Morse's counsel is now preparing an appeal to the United States supreme court pending the decision of which the banker hopes again to secure his liberty and resume the work of his financial rehabilitation.

WOMAN ESCAPED

Residence Destroyed by a Fire

PORTLAND, Me., Oct. 25.—Prevented from escaping down the stairway Mrs. N. K. Haskell, widow of a former deputy collector for the Portland district, tied together some bedclothes and lowered herself to the ground early today when her residence at Peaks Island, in which she was living alone, was burned to the ground. She escaped unhurt but the house was burned flat causing a loss estimated at $3500. The fire was caused by a lighted lamp dropped by Mrs. Haskell.

HEALTH REPORTS

DEAL WITH THE PROGRESS OF PELLAGRA

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The widespread interest in the progress of pellagra in the various parts of the country, especially in the south, has led Surgeon-General Wyman, of the public health and marine hospital service to give the subject prominence in the weekly health reports of the service. The latest reports deal entirely with the extent to which the disease prevails in the south. New Orleans reports two deaths from pellagra for July and one for August. Two cases are reported from Camden, S. I. for the week ending Oct. 9, up to Sept. 21 cases are reported from Texas.

SUBMARINE VIPER

FAST IN SAND AT DELAWARE BREAKWATER

DELAWARE BREAKWATER, Oct. 25.—The submarine viper, which came into this harbor last night with the Tarantula and Plunger and the gunboat Castine dragged around last night off the northeast end of the breakwater and is still fast in the sand. The lifesaving crew from Lewes is on board ready to render any assistance necessary.

The submarine is lying easy, and it is expected will be floated at the next high tide with the assistance of the gunboat.

A high northwest wind prevailed last night, which caused the viper to draw her anchors. The submarines and the gunboat are bound from Brooklyn for Charleston.

UNIVERSALIST PROGRAM

DETROIT, Oct. 25.—Today's program of the biennial convention of the Universalist church, which is in session here at the Church of Our Father, was devoted to the work of the Universalist historical society, the Michigan Universalist convention, a mission session and morning and evening devotional services.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON

Reached New York With Challenge for America's Cup

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—"I have come over this time red hot with another challenge for the New York Yacht club and will do my best to arrange matters with the club so that I can have another chance to lift the America's cup."

So spoke Sir Thomas Lipton today while the big White Star steamship Cedric which brought him from Europe was warping into dock. The Irish yachtman was accompanied by Colonel Duncan, P. D. Neill and he will be in New York for several days.

Sir Thomas beamed upon the host of reporters that pressed him for his plans to bring about another contest for the historic cup.

"At the present moment I do not care to talk much," he said, "but the yacht club committee who will have this matter in charge," was all that Sir Thomas would say.

It is believed that Sir Thomas has brought with him a challenge for the cup which he will present to the New York Yacht club if his mission is successful in securing a modification of the racing conditions which cover contests for the America cup. Sir Thomas desires the club to change the present rule so that he can bring over Shamrock IV, built under the rules which will permit the construction of a substantial racing craft. The present rule governing America's cup races provides only for a given water line length and under this condition fragile racing machine was developed.

Sir Thomas expects to meet members of the New York Yacht club within a day or so.

Sir Thomas later consented to talk about what he would like to see done in order to give challengers what he believes an equal chance with American yachts in cup races.

"What I desire," said Mr. Lipton, "is to race under the universal rule. If I can't win under that rule I can at least provide good sport and that is the primary reason for all racing—at least it should be. Under the present rules there is not a man in Europe who can build a yacht, bring her across the ocean and lift that cup."

Sir Thomas said he wanted to race for the cup with a 90-footer and would be ready to race in 1911.

VALUABLE GEMS CHEAPER COFFINS

Were Thrown Away by Chilberg Wanted by Supt. Mayberry at City Farm

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—J. E. Chilberg, president of the Alaska-Yukon exposition, is said to have accidentally thrown diamond rings worth several thousand dollars out of the car window while on his way from Seattle to the Portland festival last week.

The diamonds belonged to Mrs. Chilberg. She had placed them in a glass of water and placed the glass on the window sill. Then she and her husband went to breakfast. Mr. Chilberg returned to the room first and on closing the window he picked up the glass and threw the water out. When Mrs. Chilberg told him of the contents of the glass he chartered an engine and directed search along the roadway for the gems. They were not recovered.

ALDERMEN TO MEET THIS EVENING

For the Purpose of Drawing Traverse Jurors—Common Council Tomorrow—The List of Marriage Licenses, Issued Today

Requisitions for coffins for the city farm were received at the office of the purchasing agent a few days ago and the purchasing agent will call for bids. Heretofore the lands and building department has supplied the coffins for the farm, but Supt. Mayberry of the city farm seems to be of the opinion that the coffins can be purchased cheaper than the lands and building department has supplied them. This is on the dead.

Meetings Scheduled

The committee on street lighting will meet at 8 o'clock this evening and a special meeting of the aldermen for the purpose of drawing traverse jurors will be held at the same hour. Tomorrow evening the common council will meet in regular session and there will be a regular meeting of the school board.

Marriage Intentions

The following marriage intentions were registered at the city clerk's office today:

Frank E. Dorrothy, 47, insurance, Lynn, Mass., and Annie W. Fisher, 53, at William P. Hunt, 35, foreman, 126 Stockpole street, and Mary T. Cunningham, 39, at home, 18 Ames street.

WM. E. MALONEY

ADDRESSED TWO BIG MEETINGS YESTERDAY AFTERNOON

William E. Maloney, who is one of the democratic candidates for the nomination for mayor, held two very interesting meetings in Bay State hall yesterday afternoon. He addressed about three hundred people at both meetings.

Mr. Maloney during the course of his remarks said that the position of mayor should not be considered a gift but a question that should be considered is that of a man's ability to render the required service in a proper and efficient manner.

He said that the fact that a man had served several years in the legislature did not necessarily fit him for the office of mayor.

Mr. Maloney told his listeners that he was in no way connected with any corporation and was in the fight alone. He said that the slogan against him might be "He was not born in this city; neither has he lived here long enough." The speaker said that the record was open to the inspection of the public.

MRS. SHORT

TO BE OPERATED ON AND MAY RECOVER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Slowly recovering today from the wounds inflicted yesterday by her infuriated husband, whose body still lies unclaimed at the district morgue, Mrs. Evelyn L. Short will be operated upon today for the removal of the two bullets which lodged in her back. The operation is believed will remove all danger of death. She was shot yesterday morning at the Union station because she refused to leave the stage and resume an unhappy life with William Short of New York, an ex-convict, whom she married in her teens.

At the hospital with the "show girl," now only 23 years old, is her mother, Mrs. Henry A. Lewis of New York.

No one has appeared at the morgue to claim the body of the husband who killed himself after firing three times at his wife. He was a native of Lexington, Mass.

THE IRISH LEAGUE

Ready for Tomorrow Night's Event

The United Irish League held a business meeting in A. O. H. hall last evening and completed arrangements for the big meeting in Associate Hall tomorrow evening. When Hon. T. P. O'Connor, M. P., Captain Edward O'Meara, Condon and John O'Callaghan, the latter of Boston, will deliver addresses on the Irish cause and the bright prospect of winning home rule in the coming general election.

President Rourke urges every member present to work for the success of the meeting, as the people of Lowell, he said, may never again have an opportunity to hear the great "Tax Pay," the man whose literary work charms every class of people in London. Capt. Condon, the man who offered his life for the old land in Fenian days, and who gave forth the prayer, "God Save Ireland," the dying cry of Allen, Larkin and O'Brien, as they mounted the scaffold, stands on a par with Robert Emmet of imperishable glory in the annals of Ireland.

Rev. Fr. Flynn, O. M. I., made a brief address congratulating the league and the Irish people of Lowell upon the opportunity to hear such distinguished workers for the cause of liberty and humanity. Mr. O'Connor, he said, had endeavored himself to the people of England as well as his fellow countrymen.

His American citizenship alone saved him and made the number of the Manchester martyrs three instead of four. His prayer, "God Save Ireland," on being sentenced to death is an imperishable inspiration.

James McCready gave sketches of the Fenian days in Ireland and told of the bravery of Captain Condon as a young man, richly endowed by Nature and full of patriotic fire.

Sub-committees were appointed to carry out the various details of the meeting. The reception committee is as follows: Humphrey O'Sullivan, Patrick Conlon, Rev. John T. O'Brien, J. Gilbride, Edward Cawley, Rev. John P. Flynn, O. M. I., E. J. Gallagher and Michael Rourke.

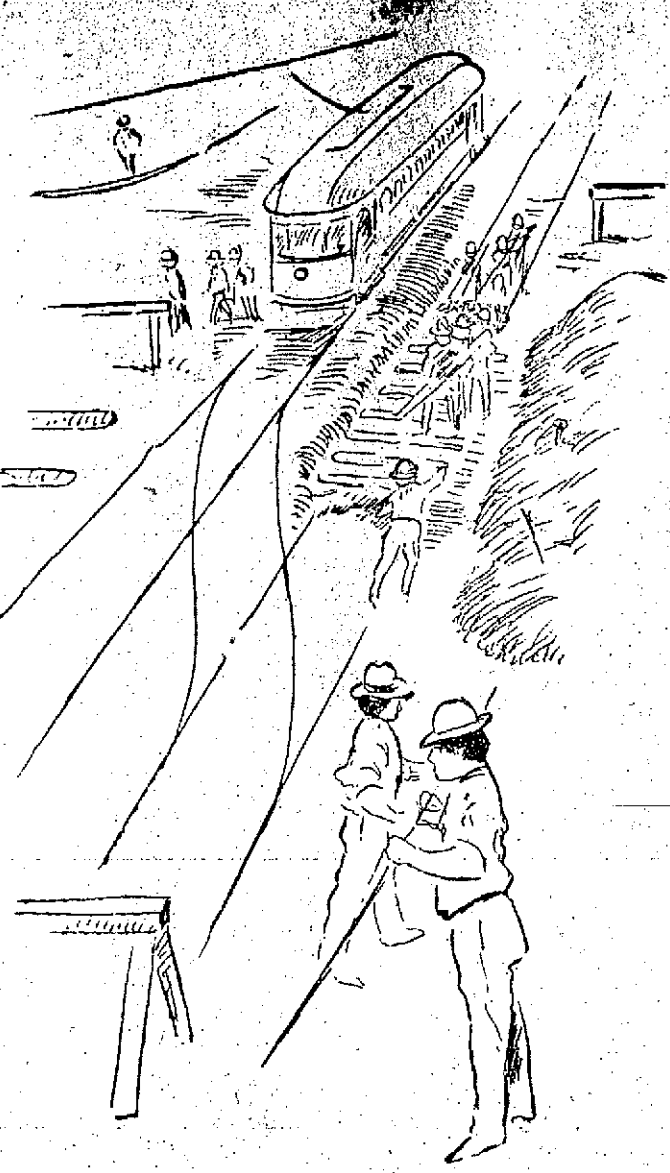

So far as now known Messrs. O'Connor, Condon and O'Callaghan will arrive in Lowell on the 5 o'clock train from Boston, tomorrow afternoon.

Tickets for the meeting are for sale at Carter & Sherburne's, Merrimack square.

Dr. Lyman B. Sperry at Hathaway Theatre

Leaves Lowell to Reside in New Bedford

Dr. Lyman B. Sperry lectured at Hathaway's theatre yesterday afternoon. He spoke on "Male and Female, or the Significance of Sex." The meeting was well attended by members and friends of the Young Men's Christian association.

Dr. Sperry talked for more than an hour and there was not a moment that he did not have the undivided attention of his audience. Dr. Sperry said he liked Lowell for many reasons, but especially because he served during the war under the late General Butler. There were brief remarks by Dr. Yarnold, the secretary, and S. H. Thompson, one of the active members of the association.

There was music by the association orchestra and Signor Omer Castellucci of the Banda Roma of Boston, assisted by his brother, contributed to the musical program.

Dr. Sperry will speak tonight at the Y. M. C. A. building. He will talk on Hawaii, Australia and New Zealand.

Elzear H. Choquette, for many years one of Lowell's best known business men, has purchased the Poisson Clothing Co. in Williams street, New Bedford, and will reside there henceforth. Mr. Choquette left yesterday, and his family will follow as soon as he has had time to select a suitable home.

ELZEAR H. CHOQUETTE.

Mr. Choquette severed his connection with Macartney's Apparel Shop Saturday night, and as he was leaving he was presented a beautiful meerschaum pipe by his fellow employees.

Mr. Choquette had been connected with the store, under its old name of Lowell One Price Clothing Co., for over thirty years. He entered the employ of the firm in 1877, became manager in 1887, and in 1903 part owner with Mr. Knowlton. A few months ago Messrs. Choquette and Knowlton sold out to Mr. Macartney, who gave the store its new name. Mr. Choquette remained as manager.

Mr. Choquette was one of Lowell's leading French-American citizens, and was prominent in all circles. He was for three years a member of the board of charities, giving the city as efficient and conscientious service as it ever received. He was identified as a leader with every large movement or organization tending to the progress of the French-American people, and in 1906 was chairman of the memorable St. John's day celebration of that year. He was the founder and first president of the French-American Federation which grew out of the co-operation of all the French-American societies in this celebration. He was one of the founders of L'Association Catholique, in whose progress he always took the liveliest interest, and also of the French-American Democratic club of Massachusetts, of which he was the first president; also a trustee of the French-American orphanage and a member of all the leading French-American benevolent and social organizations of the city.

A BIG BALLOON

Mr. Flagg in the Boston Landed Safely

J. Walter Flagg of Worcester, a member of the Worcester Aero club and of the Aero club of New England, who made an ascension in the balloon "Boston" from the yard of the Lowell Gas Light company in School street on Saturday afternoon, landed safely in Andover, near the Reading line, at 4:27 o'clock, after having been in the air an hour.

The landing was an easy and safe one, the big gas bag dropping into a large field.

The air was unusually clear and the clouds fairly high, and Mr. Flagg had an excellent view of the country from Manchester, N. H., to the sea. He expected to make a landing in or near Newburyport, but did not realize until after he had risen to some height that the balloon was travelling in a southeasterly direction.

Mr. Charles J. Glidden and Victor Melson, the latter of Fitchburg, who had charge of the filling of the balloon, followed the balloon in an automobile, but did not arrive at the landing place until about 20 minutes after Mr. Flagg had reached the ground. When Mr. Glidden arrived, Mr. Flagg, with the assistance of a number of the Andover students, was at work packing the gas bag.

One of the interesting features in connection with the ascension was the supper which followed the landing. The balloon landed in a field owned by Mrs. A. T. Hall and her sister, both ladies being about 80 years of age. They had read a great deal about balloons, but never before had a chance to see one close to.

Mrs. Hall was one of the first to greet Mr. Flagg and she immediately invited him to supper, informing him that it would be a regular New England baked bean supper.

There will be three ascensions this week, providing the weather conditions are satisfactory. Jay P. Benton will go up on Tuesday and Thursday afternoon, shortly after 3 o'clock. This will make nine ascensions for him. On Saturday, with Mr. Flagg, he will make his tenth ascension.

"Prof." Frank Hill in Court in Fall River Today

The remainder of the detective forces who have been at work upon the case spent the day in finishing up the details of the evidence already at hand.

When the case comes up for a preliminary hearing Wednesday it is anticipated that not more than a few witnesses will be heard by the court and that it will then be formally turned over to the next grand jury of Bristol county for their examination.

Passed Away Last Night in a Montreal Hospital

A telegram was received in this city last night, announcing the death of Rev. Joseph Campeau, O. M. I., the beloved superior of St. Joseph's parish and pastor of St. Jean Baptiste church, at the Hotel Dieu, Montreal, last evening. He was a man of most sympathetic and most charitable instincts. He was the friend of the poor and the oppressed of spirit but was extremely modest, and hence many a charitable act of his had gone unrecorded in this world.

The death of Fr. Campeau is a distinct loss to the community in which he had labored untiringly since coming here in 1861. Under his wise administration the St. Joseph parish has made wonderful progress. The $40,000 of the accounts reached here at noon and spent the rest of the day in familiarizing themselves with Lombard's methods in keeping the books. Up to 2 p. m. had no additional work presented at the town and authorities, leaving the amount of questionable paper which had been presented at $210,000, although it was still maintained by the new book as $220,000. The outstanding amount was $20,000.

late order and in 1890 was ordained a priest at Ottawa. Immediately after his ordination Fr. Campana was missioned to Winnipeg, where he remained three years engaged in missionary work among the whites of that territory. In 1893 he came to Lowell and was appointed curate of the novitiate in Tremblay, but was shortly afterward appointed master of novices at the novitiate. It was during his time at Tewksbury that the Campana, most notable among them being the new parishes of St. Mary's of South Lowell and Notre Dame du Lourdes, in connection with which parochial schools have been established and the new and beautiful orphanage in Pawtucket street which has been acquired in all New England. # KING AND EMPEROR

Visited the Medieval Castle at Pollenzo

RACCONIGI, Oct. 25.—King Victor Emmanuel and his royal guest, the Emperor of Russia, spent most of Sunday together. The emperor, after his long journey and the triumphs of Saturday, retired early Saturday night, so that he might be on hand at a seasonable hour for a pheasant shoot, which had been arranged for Sunday morning. But fog caused a postponement of this sport until this afternoon. Instead of shooting, the king and the emperor took a motor trip, entirely unaccompanied, to the medieval castle at Pollenzo, seventeen miles distant, entering it through the ancient drawbridge guarded by towers.

In the meantime, Queen Helena, to whom the emperor presented his congratulations on the 13th anniversary of her marriage, attended mass at the chapel, which was celebrated by an archpriest, who wore a cope made out of her wedding dress of silver scales.

In the afternoon the two sovereigns joined the shooting party, which was accompanied by several hundred beaters. Pheasants and hares were abundant and the bag was excellent.

A state dinner in the evening was the principal event of the day. Besides the sovereigns, the guests included the Duke of the Abruzzi, the Duchess of Genoa, Princess Letitia, Prince Udine, the members of the Italian cabinet and other high Italian and Russian officials. King Victor Emmanuel, in toasting the emperor, extended his heartfelt greetings to the Russian sovereign, saying that his visit confirmed the close friendship and harmony uniting the

To Buy Up Breweries is Report

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 25.—The United States Steel Corporation has decided to make an effort to control the drink habit of 25,000 persons in Fayette county, Pa., interested in the manufacture of coke, and will invest $10,000,000 in the project to obtain possession of the nine breweries now running in the county.

While the effort being made to merge these breweries is being conducted in the name of the Pittsburgh Brewing Company, it is understood that the Steel Corporation is back of the whole move and will try to regulate the drinking of the foreigner, it being figured that at least 3 per cent. better returns can be gleaned on the millions invested there by regulating the drink of the coke worker, permitting him to drink, but stipulating where and when he shall drink.

The sale of beer by the keg or by the barrel to the coke worker is what the corporation objects to, and this it will try to remedy.

For more than a year figures have been gathered on drinking among the coke workers, and it is found that for 72 hours after each pay day the coke ovens do not run more than two-thirds capacity, and there is scarcely a pay day when hundreds of tons of coke are not ruined by inability to get proper men to care for it in the ovens.

YOUR BACKACHE WILL YIELD

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rockland, Maine.—"I was troubled for a long time with pains in my back and side, and was miserable in every way. I doctored until I was discouraged, and thought I should never get well. I read a testimonial about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and thought I would try it. After taking three bottles I was cured, and never felt so well in all my life. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to all my friends." Mrs. WILL YOUNG, 6 Columbia Avenue, Rockland, Me.

Backache is a symptom of female weakness or derangement. If you have backache, do not neglect it. To get permanent relief you must reach the root of the trouble. Nothing we know of will do this so safely and surely as Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Cures the cause of these distressing aches and pains and you will become well and strong.

The great volume of unsolicited testimony constantly pouring in proves conclusively that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has restored health to thousands of women.

We never publish a testimonial without the special permission of the writer, and then only when we are sure it is genuine. Such testimony should create confidence in all suffering women.

MEETS HIS SON

Father Never Had Seen the Boy

DARBY, Pa., Oct. 22.—Through marked resemblance in feature and mannerisms two men, who had never seen each other before, learned that they are father and son. An affectionate greeting at a hotel in Darby followed the chance meeting.

Both men were in the cafe when they were struck by the similarity in their appearance.

"Where are you from?" said the older man, who is 50 years old.

"Roanoke, Virginia," said the other, who is 25 years old.

"I'm I left there 25 years ago," said the older man. "What is your name?"

"Daniel Roberts."

"Why, that's my name, also. Who was your mother?"

The latter told him, and the older man clasped him by the hand, saying he was his father.

Before the boy was born, he said, and after writing home heard his wife was dead. He remained north, never thinking that a son was born.

To Make Trip on the Mississippi

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 25.—Governors, senators, congressmen and foreign diplomats arrived yesterday and last night to board steamboats to make the trip on the Mississippi river to New Orleans to attend the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways association's convention. The arrivals are guests of the Business Men's league of St. Louis. The first boats to depart for New Orleans, where the convention will open on Oct. 30, were four torpedo boats which have been here since Oct. 1. They got away early yesterday and will await the fleet carrying the deep waterway delegates at Memphis.

The Oleander, the government light house tender on which President Taft will travel, was made a floating White House yesterday. Everything the president will need after he embarks this evening for a four and a half days' trip was placed on board yesterday.

To avoid any possible friction, W. K. Kavanaugh, president of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterways association, announced last night that the steamer St. Paul, carrying the governors, will have the place of honor next to the Oleander from St. Louis to Helena, Ark., while the Quincy, carrying senators and congressmen, will take the St. Paul's place in the column.

On the congressional boat a legislative hall was installed so that Speaker Cannon can hold mock sessions of congress. Speaker Cannon arrived at East St. Louis last night. He will remain there until he crosses the river with President Taft today. He and Vice President Sherman, who will accompany him, will be the guests of honor at the building in East St. Louis.

Among the surprises arranged for the waterway delegates on the trip will be a daily paper printed on one of the newspaper boats. A fast launch will be used by the reporters in gathering the news from the fleet of 22 boats.

MRS. PANKHURST

Given Great Reception in New York

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—A reception very like that given a distinguished general as he takes a moment's respite in a prolonged campaign, was given Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the little field marshal of the militant suffragettes of England at the headquarters of the national and state women's suffrage associations on Fifth avenue yesterday. Five hundred women and a sprinkling of men crowded the rooms, shook hands with her and heard her speak briefly in response to America's welcome afterward. She was introduced individually to all by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the National Association of Women Suffragists assisted by Mrs. Oliver H. P. Belmont and other leaders of the movement in America.

"Our English motto," said Mrs. Pankhurst, "is deeds not words. We are doing—I am a doer rather than a talker."

Mrs. Pankhurst denied a statement attributed to her that "American women are not ready for the franchise."

"I never said nor thought such a thing," she said, "and I am frank to say that I believe of all women, except the English and New Zealanders, American women are best prepared for suffrage. In fact American women are just as fit to vote as American men."

Mrs. Pankhurst will speak tonight at Carnegie hall on "Militant Suffragette Methods."

RUFUS PECKHAM

Associate Justice of Court is Dead

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 25.—Rufus W. Peckham, associate justice of the United States supreme court, died at 8:15 last night at Coolmore, his summer home at Altamont, Albany county. Death was due to a complication of diseases, heart trouble, Bright's disease and hardening of the arteries, contributing. Justice Peckham had been in ill health for some time, but his condition was not considered serious until recently. After adjournment of the May term of the court he came on from Washington with Mrs. Peckham to spend the summer at Altamont, expecting to return for the beginning of the October term. A few days ago his condition became critical.

Justice Peckham was born in Albany Nov. 8, 1838. At the completion of his education at the Albany academy and Philadelphia, he studied law in the office of his father, who had as his law partner at the time Lyman Tremaine, attorney general of the state. On the elevation of his father to the supreme court bench of New York state in 1889, the same year Justice Peckham was admitted to the bar, he formed a partnership with his father's former partner, under the firm name of Tremaine & Peckham, which continued until the death of Mr. Tremaine in 1878.

Justice Peckham had been district attorney of Albany county, corporation counsel for Albany, justice of the supreme court of the state and associate judge of the court of appeals, to which he was elected in 1886. In December, 1895, while still a judge of the court of appeals he was appointed by the late President Cleveland as an assistant justice of the supreme court of the United States.

Justice Peckham was married in 1866 to Harriette M. Arnold, daughter of L. H. Arnold, who was a well known New York merchant and president of the Mercantile bank of New York. Two sons, Rufus W. Jr., and Henry A., died some years ago. Justice Peckham is survived by a widow and three grandchildren, two sons and a daughter of Henry A. Peckham.

Justice Peckham's father was a distinguished jurist and had been district attorney of Albany county, justice of the supreme court of the state and associate judge of the court of appeals of New York, when he met death in the shipwreck of the Ville de Havre, Nov. 22, 1873.

FIVE MENTIONED

TO SUCCEED THE LATE JUSTICE PECKHAM

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—While none of the officials now here would discuss last night the possible successors of Justice Peckham, each declaring that it would be a violation of the proprieties, the names of Frederick N. Judson, of St. Louis, ex-Secretary of War Luke E. Wright, the present secretary, J. M. Dickinson, Henry M. Hoyt, counselor for the state department, and solicitor general in the Roosevelt administration, and Solicitor General Bowers, have been prominently mentioned.

Mr. Judson is known to command the respect and firm friendship of President Taft. He was appointed by President Roosevelt to investigate the question of rebates on the Atchafalaya, Tonawanda and Erie railroad, with the honor of chief justice of Ohio, Judson Harmon, the findings and recommendations of the two investigators did not meet with the complete approval of President Roosevelt and the two men resigned.

Shortly before the opening of the campaign last year, Mr. Judson wrote a magazine article explaining and applauding Mr. Taft's decisions in labor cases during the time the president was on the bench. Mr. Judson is a democrat.

Counselor Hoyt, ex-Secretary Wright, Secretary Dickinson and Solicitor General Bowers have been mentioned whenever the report has arisen concerning the probable retirement of certain of the justices who are entitled to honorable withdrawal from active duty.

Three of the men owe their entrance into public life to President Taft, while he has frequently voiced his admiration of Mr. Hoyt's legal acumen. Although there is no rule to govern the appointment, the vacancy on the bench

Said to Have Won Decisive Victory

BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, Oct. 25, by wireless telegraph via Colon.—The tug Blanca, which has arrived here from Greytown, brings news of the first important battle of the revolution. General Chamorro's forces fought an engagement on Friday with 1000 of President Zelaya's troops, at a point below Boca San Carlos, on the San Juan river. The revolutionists won a decisive victory, one hundred of the government troops being killed and 200 wounded. General Chamorro's losses were slight. The insurgents captured two Krupp siege guns and four hundred rifles.

This defeat for President Zelaya will doubtless have a deterrent effect on recruiting for the government service at Managua and is likely also to bring additional reinforcements to the standards of the insurgents.

The steamer Yula, belonging to the Emery Co., also has reached here with the details of the capture of the revolutionists of Cape Gracias Dios. This port was easily taken, not more than five or six men being killed and a small number wounded. This gives the revolutionists control of the entire Atlantic coast.

DYCHE ACCEPTS

Will Go on Mt. McKinley Expedition

ST. PAUL, Oct. 25.—Dr. Frederick A. Cook announced last night that Prof. L. L. Dyche, of the University of Kansas, has been definitely decided upon as one of the members of his forthcoming Mount McKinley expedition, having accepted the offer Saturday.

Dr. Cook added that he had decided upon several other members of the expedition though he did not care to announce their names at present. There would be only five or six in the party, he said.

Dr. Cook said that the details of the expedition would not be worked out at once because it could not start until next spring.

Dr. Cook was entertained yesterday by the officers at Fort Snelling and by Dr. J. C. Nelson, Danish consul at St. Paul, and a large number of Danish Americans. He lectured in St. Paul last night.

INDIFFERENT CITIZENS TO BLAME

With the approach of the municipal primaries and in view of the number of candidates, good, bad and indifferent, for the mayoralty and other offices, it may be well even at this early day to warn the voters that unless they get out to the primaries they may not have an opportunity of voting for the men they want on election day.

One of the most pernicious things that we have to deal with in municipal politics is not graft or dishonesty, or political chicanery, but downright indifference on the part of those citizens who consider themselves the very conservators of all that is good and honest.

They actually consider themselves too good to attend the primaries. They think it is sufficient for them to cast their votes on election day. This is one of the years in which if they fail to attend the primaries they may as well stay at home on election day.

Some people say that there are too many candidates in the field, that things will be completely spoiled. It is true there is a great superfluity of candidates, but it is the duty of the voter to inquire into the character and the capability of each and every one of these candidates and to use good judgment in picking out the man who is best qualified and most likely to give a good business administration of our affairs at city hall.

It is time that citizens should exercise their judgment and not be swayed by political shouters who are probably paid for going about to laud one candidate and to decry the other candidates.

There is a good deal of house to house canvassing in this campaign for the mayoralty. The candidates are buttonholing the voters and getting them to make promises of support at the primaries. In this way voters may be imposed upon by making early promises and finding out later that they are pledged to support the wrong man.

If the voters would only turn out in full numbers at the primaries and exercise their best judgment in the selection of a candidate for every office to be filled, then we should have satisfactory results. We have full confidence in the ability and the honesty of the people if they only turn out at the primaries to register their votes according to their conviction of right and duty.

The great trouble is that not more than half the voters take an active interest in the primaries. The cause is evidently indifference on the part of a large portion of the most intelligent citizens. These are the men to be blamed for the nomination of weak candidates. The men who are buttonholed on the street, or who are promised jobs if they support this or that candidate, are the men who make the nominations, and the other citizens who consider themselves models of patriotism and integrity by their indifference make such a state of affairs possible. The question comes, will they stick to the old habit this year, or will they come out to the primaries and at least exercise their judgment in the selection of candidates for the offices of mayor, alderman, purchasing agent and other officials?

There seems to be greater need of vigilance this year than ever before. Our municipal politics need complete renovation, as it were. The citizens are responsible for every official elected. Unless they exercise vigilance and use their votes and their influence in the primaries in the interest of the right men they are likely to regret their negligence for the next year.

THE MOTOR TO SUPERSEDE THE FIRE HORSE.

The fire departments of the country are in a state of transition from the use of horse power to that of motor power for drawing the engines and trucks. There can be no doubt whatever that the fire automobile is very much more efficient than the old style engine drawn by two or three horses. The horses must be fed and men must be employed to take care of them continually.

When taken out in response to an alarm the horses cannot make nearly as good speed as would the fire auto. When this is considered in its relation to the importance of getting to the fire in the shortest possible time, the advantage of the fire auto will be apparent. Firemen and insurance men who have had experience in such matters will testify that even five minutes may give a fire such headway that it will develop into a conflagration in spite of all the subsequent efforts of the fire department. That shows the inestimable value of speed in getting to a fire, and it argues most forcibly in favor of the gradual change of the present apparatus for motor engines, hose and other wagons. Thus it appears that the fire auto has an advantage over the fire machines drawn by horses, not only in the increased speed but in the great prevention of loss that such speed can accomplish.

It is, therefore, a wise policy to have fire motor machines supplant the horse power apparatus as soon as possible or as soon as the city can afford the expense. With a sufficient number of motor engines and other motor apparatus there would be not only an increase in speed and a diminution of loss from fire but a great reduction in the expense of the department. Fewer stations would be needed and fewer men to take care of them. The fire autos are fifty per cent. more efficient than the horse apparatus and twenty-five per cent. less expensive. Under such conditions it is plainly the duty of the fire department to make the change as soon as practicable, so that we may have a fire department that will reach the scene of the fire in the shortest possible time and that will be conducted on the most economic lines which forbid the maintenance of horses except in rare cases. The time to make the change is at hand and we can safely act upon the experience of other cities that have fully tested the merits and the expense of both systems. Every new fire auto added to the equipment of the fire department would be a step towards economy and greater efficiency, the two chief considerations in every up-to-date fire department.

PEOPLE OF NOTE

Thomas Jefferson, son of the late Joseph Jefferson, made his first appearance in the city at the Metropolitan theatre in Chicago recently in a condensed version of "Tip-Top Winkie".

The chief rabbi of the German Jews at Jerusalem, Samuel Salant, died recently at the age of 93. He had been blind since 1839, but his activity had not been diminished.

Charles L. Mitchell, who for forty-four years has been in the United States government's service, employed in the auditor's department at the Boston Custom House, has retired from service. The retirement was entirely voluntary on the part of Mr. Mitchell, who has now reached the age of four score years. He is a Civil war veteran, earning honors in the Rebellion in the Fifty-fifth Massachusetts Volunteers in which he enlisted. In the battle of Honey Hill a cannon ball so crushed Mr. Mitchell's foot as to make amputation necessary. Mr. Mitchell and his wife live in Sherwood street, Dorchester.

Sir Charles Rivers Wilson, well past 50 years of age, president of the Grand Trunk railway system, is to resign, and it is expected that C. M. Hays, formerly identified with railroads in the United States, will succeed him. Mr. Hays was made manager of the Grand Trunk when its future seemed doubtful. He conceived the idea of extending it to the Pacific coast at Prince Rupert and Vancouver, and his persistence has resulted in such construction. He became vice president of the Grand Trunk system and president of the Grand Trunk Pacific, as the coast extension is known.

"This story from Gallea," says the Paris Matin, "sounds like an echo from the Dark Ages: At Leekowere, a village near Hasting, a peasant committed suicide by hanging. This occurred while the district was suffering because of a severe drought, and the relief rain, which had been prayed for, was withheld, the peasants thought, because of the suicide. In the presence of the village government the citizens resolved to exhume the body and to drown it and by that means bring about the much desired rain. The grave was then uncovered and flooded. Higher authorities, however, were informed of the heathenish procedure, with the result that three-quarters of the village population will now have to answer to charges founded on the desecration of the grave."

The Shaker colony at Lebanon, O., has been reduced to a dozen survivors, all well advanced in years. In time the Lebanon family will pass away, but meanwhile all efforts to induce them to sell out have failed. Cincinnati capitalists stand ready to pay a million dollars for the property, and to assure the remaining inmates a home for the remainder of their lives.

Take one or two each night when you retire. They will make you feel better all day long and in a week's time your tired, despondent, blue condition will have vanished. The land is rated at not less than $100,000 and the improvements and other accumulations of the Shakers bring the total assets of the colony up to $1,000,000.

There is now a school for waiters at the University of Chicago. Forty young men who combine a deep knowledge of psychology and ethics with a gift for breaking dishes and spilling soup on professors are being taught the gentle art of serving food in an ultra-cultured manner at Hutchinson Hall, the university's canteen. The laboratory method has been chosen to start the new college. Actual experience three times a day will fit the Midway youths for their new activities and prepare them for any exigency that may arise after the completion of their education. Thomas L. Barrell, manager of the canteen, is in charge of the latest university department. Barrell's venture was launched not without considerable time and pains, and a booklet containing exhaustive instructions for the perfect waiter, even down to the left-over butter, has been issued.

EDUCATION.

If you keep your eyes wide open, as you wander on through life, You learn a little something every day. If you're fortunately married to the right kind of a wife, You learn a little something every day. If a dear friend borrows money and doesn't pay it back, If the horse you didn't bet on is a winner, If you try to get rich quickly, and you haven't got the knack, You learn a little something every day.

If you trust the casual stranger, and tell him all you know, You learn a little something every day. If you think because you hear things that they surely must be so, You learn a little something every day.

If you try to tell a story with no thought of being brief, If you're sure your friend will help you, If you chance to come to grief, If you think they all will rush to be the first to bring relief, You learn a little something every day.

If you're just a bit conceited and you feel that you are it, You learn a little something every day. If you try to be a leader, and you don't know when to quit, You learn a little something every day. In short, your bumps may teach you, and they will, if you are wise, And if you'll pay attention when friendly folks advise, Or just try introspection, and learn to use your eyes, You'll learn a little something every day.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The dramatic intensity of the third act of "The House of a Thousand Candles" is almost without parallel in modern plays. Its tempestuous scenes occurring in the wildest of hurricanes sweep all before it and culminate with a climax that simply means curtain call after curtain call. "The House of a Thousand Candles" which will be given at the Opera House this evening is a drama that unfolds a story of rare stage characters in equally rare surroundings. There is a stamp of reality on each scene and incident. Its weirdness simply compels attention, while its mystery lightened by laughter is of that kind that has served to carry the production to the topmost wave of success. Its presentation will be marked with every care to detail as each of the four acts will be mounted entire. The company including William Webb and Horace Clement is said to be fully capable of handling the exacting scenes in a most satisfactory manner.

"THE WHITE SQUAW". D. M. Clarke, in writing "The White Squaw" which was presented at the Opera House on Friday and Saturday, has endeavored to give the public something new and worth while. The interest starts at the beginning and does not drop until the end. The comedy is woven through the play and is a part of it, not a lot of horse play just to fill in. Don't miss the chance of having a real hearty laugh, and just a little tear by way of variation.

"ST. ELMO". Nearly everyone has read "St. Elmo," Mrs. Augusta Evans Wilson's favorite novel, and beginning with Monday, Nov. 1st, two performances at the Opera House will be given. Vaughan Glaser's production of this famous and very successful work. Nothing has been left undone to make this one of the real attractions of the season, which, together for opportunity for scenic display and histrionic ability, both of which opportunities have been taken to the utmost advantage of the probabilities are that "St. Elmo" will win new laurels here.

HATHAWAY THEATRE

Miss Beatrice Ingram and an excellent company will appear as the headline feature at Hathaway's theatre, this week. The vitally interesting one-act play called "The Duchess" is the offering of Miss Ingram and her associates, and it tells the interesting story of a girl castler in a big department store who is given a sum of money with which to pay a bill. As the place is closed, she carries the money home, and the next morning receives a letter stating that she has been left a million dollars. Her rejoicing is interrupted by the appearance of the store detective, who demands that she go to headquarters and account for the money given to her, part of which she has spent. She tells him that she is an heiress, but collapses in dismay when he informs her that it was only an April fool joke. But everything ends well, even after that.

Bert Sheppard, an Australian cowboy and whip manipulator, is scheduled to give one of his hair raising exhibitions. Picking humpkins from a woman's hair and snuffing out candles are two of his feats.

Geiger and Walters, Italian musicians, present the life of a street organ grinder and his wife. Mr. Geiger an excellent violinist. The Fortune brothers, comedy acrobats, are good athletes. Swan and O'Day are a gifted pair of blackface comedians. One of the team is a remarkably good dancer. Moore and Young, a duo of magnetic mists, sing and dance agreeably. Miss Helena Phipps, who headed a stock company at Lakeview a year ago, will appear in the bright playlet, "The Girl and the Coach." The motion pictures are all new.

STAR THEATRE

Vaudeville of unusual excellence was presented today at the Star theatre in conjunction with the big regular show. The admission of five cents, which includes a seat, still prevails at the theatre. Pictures are changed every Monday, Wednesday and Friday. New vaudeville any songs are, the offerings every Thursday.

THEATRE VOYONS

There is perhaps no more popular type of picture shown the motion picture patrons than those dealing with western life, and the most attractive features are the sensational chases and riding of the cowboy and Indian actors. In "The Cowboy Millionaire," to be shown today at the Theatre Voyons this style of picture is shown at its best. There are other pictures on the bill, all good, and the usual new illustrated songs are well sung.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC

When competition becomes strong then the man who spends the money gets the benefit. This is true of theatres as well as other lines of business, and the show that defies all competition is to be found at the Academy of Music. Heading the vaudeville for the first three days are "Beautin and Tison" in the musical farmyard. Kipp and Kippy present a comedy juggling act that is very amusing. New illustrated songs, Travellings and three reels of the latest moving pictures complete the program.

CREW RESCUED

Capt. Was Three Times Washed From Wreck

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—After having spent the entire night clinging to the bottom of the overturned schooner Scarborough, Capt. William H. Reynolds and the two members of his crew were brought into this port today on board the steamer Admiral Dewey, from Port Antonio. Captain Reynolds three times during the night was washed from the wreck of his vessel, and it was only with the greatest difficulty that his companions succeeded in getting him back to her. When he was rescued yesterday morning he was badly bruised and almost dead from cold. He is now under the care of a physician aboard the Dewey.

The Scarborough was bound from Chincoteague, Va., for Philadelphia, in ballast. During the storm yesterday the main boom of the Scarborough broke and the vessel's head was thrown to the heavy seas.

She rapidly filled and afterward turned turtle. Considerable difficulty was experienced by the Dewey in launching a boat for the rescue of the imperilled men.

OF PAWTUCKETVILLE CHURCH YESTERDAY

Interesting Program Carried Out Last Night by Efficient Committee Assisted by Pastor

The Pawtucket Congregational church was the scene of an anniversary service last night. It was about a quarter of a century ago that the Christian Endeavor society of the church was founded and the meeting last night was a very pleasant one.

REV. F. G. ALGER, Pastor Pawtucket Church.

The chapel was prettily decorated with autumn leaves and chrysanthemums.

The services opened with singing by the congregation of Endeavor hymns and there was an anthem by the choir.

At the close of the service a paper giving the history of the society.

A paper written by Mrs. Charles

Miles and read by Mr. Miles described the progress of the society during the pastures of the Rev. Dr. Leland, Rev. W. G. Poor and Rev. E. R. Smith, and Secretary William Kinghorn told in an interesting manner of the activities of the present society.

A tribute to the members of the society who have passed into the higher life was read by Mr. Henry Newhall.

One of the interesting features of the program was a letter from "Father" Clark, the founder of the C. E. society, full of congratulations for the past and encouragement for the future. There were letters from Rev. Mr. Wilcox and others who had been identified in the work, and remarks from the past presidents who were present. Rev. F. G. Alger told of the work of the Junior C. E. and spoke of its great importance to the church. President Spooner of the local C. E. union also spoke briefly.

To lend variety to the music, Miss Belle Hutchinson sang a solo, and Miss Florence Sturtevant and Miss Helen Bellamy a duet.

The committees in charge were as follows: Program, James Grant, Mrs. C. G. Coburn and the pastor; music, S. R. Fleet, Misses Helen Bellamy, Florence Sturtevant and Cora Bartlett; invitation, Misses Louisa Blanchard, Elsie Cameron, Ida Cummings, Helen Mansfield; decorations, Miss Hortense Taber, Cora Cummings, Elsie Cameron, Ida Silcox, Helene Rivet, Messrs. J. R. V. Coburn, George Axon; ushers, Walter Ellis, George Dennis, Charles Miles and Leander Conley.

FIVE RETURNED

19 BOYS ESCAPED FROM STATE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

SHIRLEY, Oct. 25.—Nineteen inmates of the state industrial school for boys, which was opened here a few weeks ago, yesterday afternoon left the place and ran away.

Five of the boys came back early in the evening, but the balance are still at large, and it is believed by Supt. Taylor that they have jumped a freight and are on their way west.

The Gardner and Fitchburg police have been notified, and teachers from the school have gone to those towns in order to identify the boys should they appear.

When the school opened it had about 75 boys. The school was planned to care for boys too old to be sent to the Lyman school, and yet whom it was not considered advisable to send to the Concord reformatory.

A BIG LIFEBOAT

Sent for First Time This Year to Aid Schooner

CHATHAM, Oct. 25.—The big power lifeboat of the Monomoy point lifesaving station and one of the few lifeboats of that type in the service was launched today for the first time this year to go to the assistance of a three-masted lumber-laden schooner in distress in Follock rip slue.

The schooner, was discovered at dawn with distress signals flying but the sea was too rough to permit the launching of the small station boat.

The Monomoy Point's lifeboat was installed about two years ago and went out once last year. She is 34 feet long with a 25 horse power engine. Her model is that of the English type with a high bow, turtle-backed and a cockpit aft for the engine and crew. The big boat is housed in a small shed at the end of Monomoy Point, but well up from the water, so that she can only go overboard at high tide. Fortunately such conditions prevailed within an hour after the schooner had been sighted today.

Acting Keeper Eldridge mustered down with distress signals flying but the sea was too rough to permit the launching of the small station boat.

The schooner could just be seen at anchor about a mile north of Follock rip lightship, with the colors in the rigging Union down. Every few minutes she would roll up on top of a big wave and then it could be seen that she had a deckload of lumber on board.

It is some months since there has been a vessel in distress on the shoals in such strong conditions.

But the Monomoy point crew with perfect confidence in their new boat started up the engine and were soon surging down the calmer waters on the inside of the point and preparing for the ducking which they knew awaited them on the other side.

REVENUE CUTTER ACUSHNET.

WOODS HOLE, Oct. 25.—The revenue cutter Acushnet, received orders from Boston this forenoon despatching the cutter to the assistance of the lumber laden schooner in distress. The Acushnet will probably reach the schooner about 12.30 p. m.

N. Y. Mayorality Candidates Kept Busy

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—New York's stirring municipal campaign entered today the definitely prophetic stage and already the managers of the various canvasses for mayorality honors are making predictions in figures.

Starting with the prediction of Republican County Chairman Parsons that Otto T. Bannard, the republican fusion candidate for mayor will be elected by a plurality of at least 42,000, the mathematical purists will be forthcoming for both William J. Gaynor, the democratic candidate and William R. Hearst, candidate of the civic alliance.

The confidence thus manifested, however, will not result in any cessation of hard work by any of the parties.

Indeed, this, practically the last week of the campaign, will witness activity almost unprecedented in the history of New York's municipal campaigns, fast and furious as some of them have been.

This candidates for mayor, themselves will take the leading parts in the wind-up of the battle. Mr. Gaynor during the next six days, is scheduled to make no fewer than seventeen speeches, while some fourteen speaking dates have been arranged for Mr. Hearst. Mr. Bannard, however, probably will be the busiest of the trio. His program calls for eight or ten speeches each evening of the week.

Discussion of the charges in a recent magazine article, that Tammany has been protecting a "white" machine with headquarters in this city is expected to play a considerable part in the closing canvass while the former lines of assault upon and defence of that organization's relations to city government will naturally be followed up to the bitter end.

The women's suffrage question has been worked into the campaign although in a way likely to result more in the making of propaganda for the suffragist cause than to work to the advantage of any particular candidate.

Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the militant English suffragette, speaks here tonight.

Sold in London for $800,000

LONDON, Oct. 25.—Another great masterpiece of art is about to leave Great Britain for the United States. Lieut. Col. George L. Holford, equerry-in-waiting to the king and owner of the Dorchester house picture gallery, recently sold to the Duveen Bros. the famous Velasquez portraits of Count-Duke Olivares, Philip IV's minister, which had long been among the treasures of Dorchester. It is a full length portrait above life size. The Duveens have now sold it to Mrs. Huntington, who, it is rumored, paid about $800,000 for it.

The sum of $800,000 is the price paid by Duveen Bros. of New York, Paris, and London for the painting by Francis Hals of himself, his wife and two children.

The picture is from the collection of Col. Warde, in whose family it had been for 150 years. It is generally held to be superior to the work by the same master recently acquired by the British National gallery.

The present purchase constitutes the high water mark of the Duveen for Hals pictures which began a decade ago. It is believed to be more than likely that this portrait will soon find its way to the United States.

CAVALIER'S HAIR

Mme. Lina Cavalieri, the grand opera soprano, whom some people call the most beautiful beauty in the world, had a long article in the New York Sunday American January 17, 1909, in which she says: "With a lifeless condition of the hair I have always found two corresponding conditions of the scalp. The scalp is not dry and washed, not once but often. I resolve upon washing it every day for a week." Here Cavalieri shows she has learned what most women never learn. She washes her hair and scalp often, while women generally do not do so more than once a month. There is just one way to have beautiful hair, and that is to have a healthy scalp, and there is just one way to have a healthy scalp, and that is to keep it clean, soft and supple. Common soaps and shampoos won't do, because they contain too much alkali, and make the hair harsh and dry, and the scalp hot and scaly. The hair and the scalp have to be kept clean and soft, and invigorated without washing it every day for a week. Here Cavalieri shows she has learned what most women never learn. ## ANNIVERSARY SALE

SHOWING WONDERFUL GROWTH OF NELSON'S STORE

They are observing their anniversary this week, celebrating the end of their second year of business in Lowell. The growth of this great business has been rapid. Without doubt it has been the most wonderful case of business growth in Lowell's mercantile history.

Starting with a five and ten cent department on the main floor, also using the basement for five and ten cent goods and kitchen furnishings, the departments have been added and the business has so increased until the whole of the immense Colonial building is now used by Nelson. The day-light basement was devoted to groceries, kitchen goods, crockery, hardware, toys, etc. The main floor is still used as a five and ten cent department. There is an up-to-date fur department also on this floor.

On the second floor is the new dry goods department and it is proving very popular. Only four prices are shown viz: 25c, 45c, 75c and 95c. It is surprising how many hundreds of articles are shown at these prices. The millinery is found in the second floor annex.

The third floor is crowded with popular priced furniture at cash prices. This new department quickly found favor with the public. It is one of the best appearing floors in the building. The furniture is clean and shining, making a fine appearance. The china and pleasure departments also occupy a part of this floor.

The 4th floor is used for rugs, draperies, oil cloths and linoleums. Everything in these lines is carried, such as lace curtains, portieres and drapery materials. This makes one of the most attractive floors to visit as it is light and airy. Every visitor is pleased with this floor, as it is spacious and commodious and exceedingly well stocked with goods. Wall papers have just been added to this stock. To celebrate this marvelous growth, Nelson's is offering great bargains from all their departments, making it a veritable anniversary sale.

PURE FOOD STANDARDS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—To obtain the views of manufacturers and dealers in this and foreign countries regarding the use of the terms "cocoa" and "chocolate" as defined by a circular issued by the department of agriculture entitled "Standards of Purity for Food Products," a hearing will be had upon the subject by the board of food and drug inspection here on November 23 next. The proposed hearing is the result of representations having been made to the board by manufacturers and dealers concerning the applications of the two terms mentioned. Information is desired upon these two points.

What is the proper significance of the term "chocolate" and its co-relative terms "plain or bitter chocolate," "sweet chocolate," etc.

JIMMY GARDNER TWO ACCIDENTS

Lost Training Camp by Fire Last Evening

A 1 1-2 story wooden cottage, occupied by Jimmy Gardner, the pugilist, as training quarters, about an eighth of a mile from the Fenwick Inn, Middle-dieton, was destroyed by fire last evening. The house is owned by Walter L. Harris. The loss on the building was $2000.

Gardner left the house about 6.30 to go to the inn for supper, leaving two logs burning in the fireplace. The building caught fire shortly after he left. Harry L. Mansfield, proprietor of the Fenwick Inn, had several pieces of furniture stored in the building. He places his loss at $1500; uninsured. Gardner lost about $500 of personal property, including the paraphernalia used in training.

BOXING GOSSIP

The fact that his training quarters were burned out will not interfere with Jimmy Gardner's match with Bill McKinnon at the Armory Athletic club tomorrow evening when a big crowd will be on hand to see the local boy. For the accommodation of local members, Messrs. John J. Donnelly of Middlesex street, Fred Tishig of the Lowell Inn, and S. T. Cushing of the membership committee of the Armory club will receive assessments. Gardner is in fine condition, while McKinnon is said to be in better shape and more confident than ever. The preliminaries are particularly good and include an eight round bout between young Matt of South Boston, who made such a hit against Freddie Maguire at the Gladstone club recently and Angus Macdonnell of South Boston. Maguire will be present to challenge the winner.

MEEHAN MEETING

HELD AT HIS HEADQUARTERS WITH GOOD ATTENDANCE

There was an enthusiastic and rousing meeting of the friends and supporters of John F. Meehan at his headquarters on Central street yesterday afternoon.

About 600 of the voters of ward two assembled there and listened to eloquent remarks from the candidate.

A ward organization was formed with Thomas J. Ryan as president and Joseph H. Dwyer as secretary to canvass the ward.

PRESIDENT TAFT

Is on Last Leg of His Journey Around the Country

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 25.—President Taft left Texas yesterday afternoon after spending nine days in that state and was speeding last night towards St. Louis.

With a formal breakfast, a speech in the St. Louis Auditorium, a luncheon and the dedication of a government building in East St. Louis before him, the president will have every moment of his time occupied up to this evening. Then, on the steamer Alexander, he will lead a procession of boats containing governors, senators and representatives down the Mississippi river to New Orleans to attend the convention of the Lakes-to-the-Gulf Deep Waterway association.

The river trip will mark one of the final stages of Mr. Taft's travels. When he reaches St. Louis today he will have covered 9700 of the 15,000 miles of his trip. The river journey will consume 1165 more, and when the president leaves New Orleans on November 1, he will be within easy distance of home. He is scheduled to reach Washington the night of November 16.

In reality, however, the president's travels in 1909 will not end until November 21, for he has engagements at Middletown, Conn., on November 12; at New Haven on November 15; at Norfolk, Va., on November 19, and at Hampton, on November 20.

Mr. Taft's voice yesterday morning showed no improvement and after he had made a few short addresses in Texas and Arkansas, it was almost gone.

The president's physician is at work on the executive's vocal chords in the hope of having them in some sort of shape for the auditorium speech in St. Louis today. There is little hope for permanent improvement, however, short of three or four days.

The president's train had a mystery yesterday. Railroad detectives, special policemen and secret service officers to the contrary, notwithstanding, somebody stole the president's opossum. It happened at Dallas, where there were scores of policemen, special officers, deputies and militiamen on guard.

A fat opossum was put aboard the train Saturday at Hempstead, Texas. It occupied half of an orange crate, while in the other half was a "mess" of sweet potatoes. "Intended" to be served with the beast. The opossum and potatoes were safely stowed away in the car. With memories of the opossum dinner in Atlanta last winter still fresh in mind, the president suggested this morning that the Hempstead gift should have the place of honor among the viands on the Mayflower last evening.

Then came the news that the opossum had disappeared. The man in charge of the baggage car set the crate on the platform Saturday night at Dallas; and despite the fact that the train was surrounded by bluecoats throughout the darkness, the morning

Denounces the Attack on Women

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—William J. Gaynor, democratic nominee for mayor of New York, granted an interview at the request of several reporters of New York papers last night, in which he attacked the writer of an article in the current issue of McClure's Magazine, who charged that traffic in girls is fostered under Tammany rule. Characterizing the article as "miserable trash," Judge Gaynor said among other things:

"Now, none of your newspapers has my permission to use this without saying you asked for it. I am not volunteering it. You asked for it. This writer is a mere political and racial bigot. It sticks out in almost every line. He has the traits of ignorance, superficiality, recklessness and an irresistible propensity to falsify which are the characteristics of the Hearst writers and which people have got onto at last. What a grand article could be written on the subject instead of this miserable trash.

"He is just a vulgar, bigoted fellow, trying to make political capital. The fact is, as everyone knows, who has read or traveled, that the city of New York is the most decorous of the large cities of the world, with the lowest percentage of this vice of any of them. And yet there are impure minded political and race bigots whose delight it is to lie about and slander New York in this respect and in others. They are a detestable lot, and I hope for an opportunity to make them shut up or get out.

"We all look with profound reverence upon the great body of our clergymen, Jewish, Protestant and Catholic, who are constantly working for the moral welfare and uplifting of our people, calling in the assistance of the civil government to aid them when necessary, and who gradually and steadily and constantly do so much good. But these few detestable sensationalists, notoriety seekers and political and racial bigots are deserving only of contempt. This writer shows the mean bigotry that fills his gut. He does not scruple to lay the evils he mentions to the Jews as a race. I believe that I am as familiar with the inbred and innate virtuous womanhood of the Jewish race here as is any man, and I say that this man is maliciously untruthful of Jewish womanhood and manhood.

"He also casts the same reproach on the Irish race here. Nor does the purity of the women of the pure people need any defence against bigots. Nor do Irishmen anywhere in the world need to be defended from the charge of being in a traffic of women. Out with the scoundrels who make such a charge.

"Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall, who dismissed the charges as ridiculous Saturday, came out with a statement last night in which he cites a few 'historical facts,' arguing in effect that if such conditions existed, responsible officials elected by the people should be held to account.

"DR." WM. KEY

One of Richest Colored Men is Dead

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—"Doctor" William Key, one of the best known and one of the richest colored men in the United States, is dead, of heart disease at his home in Sheshyville, Tenn. The news was received in Boston yesterday.

The "doctor" was the original owner and trainer of the famous trained horse, Beautiful Jim Key, the children's pet, who toured the country giving remarkable exhibitions of sagacity in performing arithmetical problems, spelling, making change with a cash register, etc., and who was seen in Boston by thousands at the annual food and mechanics' fairs, until about five years ago. The horse is still living, though he is 23 years old.

William Key, who was 76 years old, was born a slave in Tennessee, on the estate of a family of Keys, said to have been related to the famous author of the "Star Spangled Banner," Philip Barton Key.

WAS MURDERED

Autopsy on Body of Woman

SHELTON, Conn., Oct. 25.—That the woman, whose partly nude body was found lying half submerged in a brook on White Hill Saturday by two men out hunting, was murdered, was brought out at an autopsy performed last night. Though no official finding was made, it is understood that the woman was strangled to death and probably the body placed in the brook to cover the crime. No identification has been made.

WIFE TOOK TO STAGE

Husband Shot Her and Then Took His Own Life

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Enraged because his chorus girl wife preferred life on the stage to his companionship, William H. Short of New York shot and perhaps fatally wounded her in the west parlor of the Union station here yesterday and sent a bullet into his own head. He died an hour later at the Casualty hospital.

The tragedy, which followed a series of quarrels between the Shorts, caused a sensation in the large crowds at the station. Mrs. Short had just alighted from a cab, which had been also occupied by her husband and a girl friend, and was hurrying to catch a train for Pittsburgh, when Short, without warning, whipped a revolver from his pocket and fired three bullets into her back.

The woman, who now lies near death in the Casualty hospital, is known to the stage as Evelyn Howard and played in Washington last week with "The Motor Girl" company. She was formerly Evelyn Lewis of Jacksonville, Fla., and married Short, who is a native of Livingston, Ala., about seven years ago.

They lived in New York, where he was employed as a bookkeeper in a bank. After their marriage, the bank was into the clutches of the law through alleged misappropriation of funds, Mrs. Short told the police when she regained consciousness at the hospital, and served a term in Sing Sing.

Through sheer necessity Mrs. Short said, she drifted to the stage as a means of support.

Recently, Mrs. Short was paroled from prison, Mrs. Short said, and began life anew. He importuned his wife to return to him, but she declined and he followed her here.

Reaching this city yesterday, Short registered under an assumed name at the hotel where his wife was stopping. He endeavored to persuade her to quit the stage and return to New York with him. Mrs. Short persisted that she had won her right to her own independence and again refused.

Accompanied by Miss Maude Caldwell, another member of the company, she left the hotel yesterday morning for the station. She vainly tried to elude her husband, but the latter followed and told her he would plead with her again to turn from the stage. When they reached the station Short made his final attempt, and when he was again rebuffed the shooting followed.

SMALL CHURCHES

Are Favored by Archbishop O'Connell And Then She Was Asphyxiated

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—At the dedication of St. Patrick's Catholic church in Cambridge yesterday Archbishop William H. O'Connell emphasized his policy of smaller churches and smaller church communities, in order the better to combat the violent propaganda that has convulsed Europe and to safeguard the homes of the faithful.

He declared that Americans have been living in a fool's paradise to imagine that America is to be immune to it; that the enemy is already at the gates and the time to steadily guard the church and what it stands for is at hand.

BOSTON, Oct. 25.—Mrs. Mary A. Leahy, 40 years old, was found dead on the kitchen floor of her home at 3 Quincy terrace, Roxbury, about 7.30 Saturday night. Death was due to accidental asphyxiation.

About 7.30 o'clock Mrs. John Mooney, who lives on the second floor, smelled gas and traced it to the Leahy apartment. She notified Patrolman Leonard of station 9. He and the owner of the house, P. A. Kearns, forced the door of the Leahy suite and found the woman dead upon the floor. She had probably been dead some time.

The room was filled with gas, which was escaping from one of the jets. A rubber hose, which had evidently been knocked from the gas jet, was suspended from a temporary gas stove upon the kitchen range. It is surmised that the woman, who is subject to fainting spells, was seized with one, and in trying to break her fall, caught hold of the hose leading from the gas stove to the gas jet and pulled it out of place.

MAY FIGHT DUEL

Cabinet Ministers Issue Challenge

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 25.—A duel between two members of the Cuban cabinet and the retirement from public life of one or both of the combatants is likely to result from a sharp difference of opinion which recently arose between Justo Garcia Velez, secretary of state and Dr. Matias Duque, secretary of sanitation. Both of these gentlemen decline to discuss the matter, but it appears on good authority that when the strike of the garbage collectors and street sweepers began, Secretary Velez, in a friendly advice, Dr. Duque that he had better take instant action for the sanitary protection of the city. Otherwise, in event of any outbreak of disease, he added, there would probably result a movement in the direction of a new American intervention.

NATIONAL BANKS

Are Asked to Limit Loans

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—Every national bank which is loaning money in excess of the amount permitted by law is being asked to reduce the loans to the required limit, and to abstain from any such excess in the future.

This effort to have all the national banks observe the legal limitation is being made in a conservative way, and it is believed by officials here that none of the banks will defy the official "request." A bank may loan to any one corporation, person or firm 10 per cent of the unimpaired capital and surplus, but the loan must not in any event exceed 30 per cent of the capital of the bank. More than 6000 banks are now, and have been, strictly complying with the law, but the others have been chronic offenders.

H. S. & M. "Varsity"
A popular young men's model.

It's an indication of better times, it's also an indication of the growing popularity of this most popular make. You may wonder why we make so prominent a feature in our advertising and talk so much about H. S. & M. clothes. There's only one reason—it's because they are the best clothes we know about; if we knew of a better line we would surely have it. In all the years we have sold H. S. & M. clothes we have yet to hear of a man who was not perfectly satisfied with his purchase.

You may do all the looking around you like, you'll find nothing to compare with them. Here's a big stock to choose from, all the new colors and smart patterns, Tweeds, Worsteds and Blue Serges—finest clothes made—all wool always—perfectly tailored.
